Canada Post honours the country's firefighters with stamp

Submitted

Stonewall's Canada Post staff Judy, Brenda, Crystal, Matthew, Shailee, Lisa and Marilou thanked local firefighters and paramedics for their service and presented each with a commemorative stamp.

Canada Post unveiled a stamp in 2018 that honours the country's firefighters for saving lives and protecting property and the environment with their skills and courage.

Few emergencies trigger such an immediate sense of threat as a fire breaking out in our homes or communities, or being injured and trapped in a vehicle after a serious collision. In situations that might make most people panic, firefighters arrive well equipped and trained to intervene as a cohesive team.

Able to respond to emergencies at a moment's notice, firefighters do much more than fight fires and rescue victims from burning buildings. They also provide emergency medical services and perform difficult technical rescues and extractions. They respond to vehicle collisions, overdoses, hazardous-material emergencies and other life-threatening events. As well, they make Canada safer by educating people about fire prevention, investigating fires and enforcing fire codes.

The stamp was unveiled in Halifax with the participation of Halifax Regional Fire & Emergency, Canada's oldest firefighting department, established in 1754.

Canada Post and the stamp designers consulted with the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs, whose members represent roughly 3,500 fire departments across Canada, to ensure the stamp accurately represents firefighters.

The five emergency responders stamps

The other emergency responders stamps pay tribute to paramedics, the Canadian Armed Forces, search and rescue experts and police. All five stamps reflect Canadians' respect and gratitude for the skills, service and sacrifices of those who protect Canadians, sometimes by risking their own lives.

The paramedics stamp was unveiled at the Ambulance New Brunswick headquarters in Fredericton, N.B., and a stamp honouring members of the Canadian Armed Forces was unveiled at Base Valcartier in Quebec. A stamp honouring search and rescue experts was unveiled in Banff, Alta., and a stamp paying tribute to police officers was unveiled in Ottawa.

The stamps are available for purchase on canadapost.ca and at postal outlets across Canada.

Inwood marks seventh annual Remembrance Day service

Staff

The community of Inwood paused to pay tribute to those who served in the wars through a Remembrance Day service.

Remembrance Day services have been held in Inwood for the past six years. For the first two years, the service was held outdoors at the cenotaph. In 2015, the hall offered free indoor space for a Remembrance Day service. Since then, attendance has continued to grow year after year.

This year set a record with 62 people in attendance. Special guests included Selkirk-Interlake-Eastman MP James Bezan, Susan Smerchanski, three cadets and two service military members.

Ron Findlay officiated the service with Bernie Unrau, Pam Findlay and James Bezan as speakers. Jen Etter and Carol Moroz lit the candles, and Mrs. S. Unrau played the organ. At the event, 14 wreaths were laid out.

Special thanks goes to members who helped to prepare and run the event, including Rod and Jen Etter, Steve and Carol Moroz, Mr. and Mrs. Unrau, and Ron and Pam Findlay.

For Jen Etter, the connection is a personal one.

Wreaths were laid at the cenotaph.

"My great-grandfather William Musclow fought in First World War. He was one of the frontline fighters. He, in the end, had his foot blown off and multiple gunshot wounds but he fought like a mad man till the end and lived to tell about it. He received many medals," she said by email.

"My other grandfather Leonard Litt fought in the Second World War but never spoke about it. He wouldn't talk about it. He too got medals. My third grandfather Mike Kaszuba was a mechanic and private in the war as well. Last but not least, in recent years, my cousin Kyle served, but his whole team was caught in crossfire, an explosion happened and all were killed but him."

Other people from the Inwood area who served in the First World War include Gunner Backland, Allan Collie, Albert Emms, Edwin John Simms and Richard Carpenter.

Local efforts aim to reduce plastic bags

By Jennifer McFee

When it comes to reducing reliance on single-use plastic bags, the local community has seen some success — but there's still much more that could be done.

REACT (Rockwood Environmental Action Community Taskforce) encourages consumers to reduce the use of single-use plastic bags and to recycle them at Family Foods.

"Single-use plastic bags have been a priority for REACT lately," said Heather McDermid on behalf of the non-profit organization.

REACT and SYGG (Stonewall Youth Going Green) have been working on raising awareness on this issue in the past few months in the hopes that the town would initiate a plastic bag ban.

Earlier this month, the RM of Alexander approved a motion to ban all single-use plastics within the next year. McDermid notes that other Manitoba municipalities have also enacted bans, including Thompson, Leaf Rapids, The Pas and Snow Lake.

"The Town of Niverville has joined the Rural Municipality of Tache in lobbying for the elimination of single-use plastic bags in Manitoba," she said.

"Hopefully the municipalities will join the lobbying at the upcoming AMM (Association of Manitoba Municipalities) meeting."

In addition, McDermid points out that the premier recently announced a 100-day action plan that includes consulting with the private sector to eliminate the use of plastic bags in Manitoba.

"At our last meeting, we were wondering if we could find a way to propose a 'reduce plastic bags challenge' to the community, maybe even just one week," she said. "We have a Facebook page, too, and were thinking of posting a poll or survey about what residents think about a ban."

Dave Kalnuk, owner of Stonewall Family Foods, notes that plastic bag consumption is down by 44 per cent at the local business and paper bag use is on the rise.

"We've been chipping away at this for quite some time now. I'd say it's probably been at least a year or longer that we've made a concerted effort to try to come up with some solutions. In some cases, there were very obvious ones and others were a bit more creative to come up with ways to reduce our reliance on single-use plastics," he said.

"Most of the initiatives have produced some results, some better than others. All combined they are certainly a step in the right direction."

The store also has signs reminding customers to not forget their reus-

New Stonewall-Rockwood fire truck rolls into town

Safety is a hot topic for the Stonewall-Rockwood Fire Department, which celebrated the addition of a new fire truck on Nov. 12.

Manufactured in Florida, the 2019 E-ONE costs $600,000. The RM of Rockwood and the Town of Stonewall are splitting the cost.

Fire Chief Curtis McClintock said the only additional training needed is for familiarization with the new vehicle.

The Town of Stonewall purchased the previous fire truck, which the new truck will replace. The older fire truck is now 25 years old, so it has been decommissioned for firefighting since a national standard calls for replacement when the vehicle is between 20 and 25 years old.

"The truck that it is replacing was only a three-seater," McClintock said, "and, for safety reasons, you need four to six members for your initial interior fire attack to a working fire."

It's good news for both municipalities, since the fire department will be better equipped to deal with emergencies.

"The new truck assures the fire department we have full support from the RM of Rockwood and the Town of Stonewall," McClintock said, "by providing us some of the best equipment to help protect the citizens and their property."

Rosser council news in brief

By Jennifer McFee

- At the Nov. 12 meeting, Rosser council approved a motion that Howie Dear be given a Rockwood Rosser lagoon wastewater disposal licence and a gate key for the rest of 2019 and 2020.

- Council approved two culvert crossings on Durum Drive and on one on Road 64N, with the applicants to be responsible for the cost of supplies and installation.

- Council also approved culvert crossings for Manitoba Hydro on Road 65N and Road 1E, with the costs to be covered by the applicant.

- Rosser council carried a motion to oppose Quebec's Bill 21 and support a constitutional challenge to Bill 21, as well as to "continue to support building a welcoming municipality where everyone has access to opportunity and prosperity." Bill 21, entitled An Act Respecting the Laicity of the State, prohibits public servants from wearing religious symbols including turbans, hijabs, kippahs, the cross and many others.

- Council passed first reading of a bylaw to establish water and wastewater rates within the Grosse Isle Utility.

- The Nov. 26 council meeting has been rescheduled for Nov. 19 at 9 a.m. able bags in the car. For those who do forget, reusable bags are available for purchase. At the checkout, employees promote the use of paper bags.

"There was no silver bullet that created the improvement. It was a combination of making people aware that we have the paper option available. We were able to source the paper bags that have handles," Kalnuk said.

"One of the reasons that people love plastic bags and are reluctant to turn their back on them is how easy it is to carry them. It's a convenience issue. So having a paper bag with handles was a big deal for a lot of folks. You can carry three or four bags at a time instead of making multiple trips or trying to cradle them awkwardly."

As another eco-friendly initiative, Stonewall Family Foods' bakery and produce departments offer a number of alternatives to non-recyclable plastic packaging.

The Cherry on top

By Evan Matthews

The conversation about political correctness and society's sensitivity seems to keep coming up. This time in relation to one Canadian icon, Don Cherry.

There is no doubt, the man is controversial. As has always been the case.

On Saturday, Nov. 9, Cherry made yet another blunder when he made, what most generously can be described as, a very poor attempt to educate new Canadians on the poppy tradition in this country.

"You people ... love our way of life, love our milk and honey. At least you could pay a couple of bucks for poppies or something like that," said Cherry. "These guys paid for your way of life that you enjoy in Canada."

The reality is, regardless of his intent, Cherry isolated a large portion of Canadians, many of whom are immigrants.

What Cherry said, plain and simple, is not OK. Isolating people is not what Canada is about. This country is about bringing people together.

Cherry has since been fired, which in many people's eyes has been a long time coming. By today's political and social standard, firing him was probably the right thing to do.

Especially because this isn't the first time he's been careless with his words.

He's called people "left-wing kooks," he's called people from Quebec "whiners," and at one point even referred to a former Jets assistant coach's (Alpo Suhonen, 1989) first name as dog food.

He said female reporters don't belong in male NHL dressing rooms.

He's had a vendetta against Russian hockey players for years.

To question if Don Cherry is politically correct or socially conscious at this point would be, well, ridiculous.

For a lot of Canadians, that's why they tuned in to Coach's Corner.

Aside from the fact that a much younger Don Cherry knew the game of hockey extremely well, he always had something to say, and people wanted to hear what he had to say.

His opinions are, and always have been, polarizing. Sometimes they are down right offensive.

There is no agreeing with or defending what Cherry said most recently. To isolate new Canadians like that was wrong, which is why his firing speaks volumes.

He's done, and Coach's Corner is done, too. But, the conversation doesn't end there.

In spite of Cherry losing his job, many online conversations have centred around the fact that Cherry is "racist," or "senile," or even a "ignorant degenerate."

It is unfortunate how divisive and volatile the conversation around the topic has become.

Many in our society are ready to throw an 85-year-old man, a man who's dedicated his life to Canadian hockey, completely and fully under the bus.

Not many know this man on a personal level, just that he was a Canadian hockey legend.

Some hockey players who know Cherry personally have even come out and said while they don't agree with what he said, they also fully understand Don Cherry is not the monster he's being made out to be.

But for some reason our society doesn't understand nuance. Everything is black and white. Everyone is so ready to be correct, to be right.

Our society is so willing to tear people down.

Yet, most people are good, even if they're rough around the edges.

It's important to acknowledge society's volatile political and social climate. It is possible for a person to say something completely unacceptable, stupid even, and still not be a racist human being.

The silver lining to come from Cherry's blunder, hopefully, is the mass conversation about how this type of behaviour and rhetoric is not OK.

Inclusivity, that's what Canada is all about.

"YOU PEOPLE ... LOVE OUR WAY OF LIFE, LOVE OUR MILK AND HONEY. AT LEAST YOU COULD PAY A COUPLE OF BUCKS FOR POPPIES."

Get to know the candidates before going to the polls in December

Over the past year I have watched, listened and been personally present to witness how our town has become so divided. To better understand the situation and become more informed, I started reading council minutes, by-laws, as well as the Municipal Act. It started me asking questions and helped me to become better informed about all the decisions and items to deal with when it comes to running a town. While you never please 100 per cent of the people 100 per cent of the time, councils in the past 100 years were able to work together and take our community from a village to a town and kept a unified front, regardless of personal opinions.

With the upcoming election, we have the opportunity to help our town get back to a cohesive and effective council. Before you go to cast your vote this time, I'm asking you to do some homework first. I've heard many people, over the past number of months, bemoan the fact that, "it's too bad nothing can be done because it's always a 3-2 vote." I encourage all of you to go to the town website and read some of the past council minutes. There were many motions passed — even some of the recorded votes indicate all five in favour. Please remember, we live in a democratic society. When committees discuss ideas and vote, whether it be town councils, school boards, volunteer organizations, etc., the majority rules. When one person promises to do something during an election campaign, they still need to have the approval of a majority of council. Teu-lon is not governed by a dictatorship.

Come out to the forum, listen to what the candidates are saying, ask your questions and listen to their answers. Get to know the candidates — what local boards or committees have they served on, and if so, what is their track record, and do they put the group before themselves? Also, please remember what jurisdictional authority the town has. The town does not dictate to the Regional Health Authority or the RCMP. It is council's job to keep the conversations going, voicing concerns and working with them (which previous councils had done very well). We have learned in the last year that a co-operative approach will go further than a bullying approach.

We need council members who are not self-serving and who are dedicated to helping our town flourish. Again, if you do your homework, it doesn't matter what level of government or committee or volunteer organization you look at; if there are not enough members to have a quorum, there can be no voting on ideas, and therefore, no moving forward.

Before we go to vote again in December, get to know the people you're voting for. We have a chance to choose five people who will work together for the best interests of Teulon and help our town move forward for another 100 years! Let's not waste it. Seriously consider all of our candidates. Listen to what they have to say, what "promises" they make, and how feasible these "promises" really are.

I am proud to have grown up and live in this community. I want to see our town thrive and grow, and be "a great place to come home to" again.

Province expands financial supports for vulnerable youth

Submitted by Manitoba government

The Manitoba government is investing more than $4.9 million over three years to help at-risk or sexually exploited youth by improving access to mental health and addictions treatment that includes Indigenous-led supports, Families Minister Heather Stefanson announced Tuesday.

"There is nothing more important than protecting Manitoba's children and youth," said Stefanson. "This funding will go toward new partnerships between community organizations and Winnipeg StreetReach to provide co-ordinated care for vulnerable young people."

To help address the growing need for integrated access to mental health, substance use and addictions services among youth with complex, multi-system needs, the province will invest $751,000 over three years for the Manitoba Adolescent Treatment Centre (MATC) to work in collaboration with StreetReach.

Addiction rehabilitation counsellors and community mental health workers from MATC will be embedded into existing StreetReach outreach teams. The two organizations' combined strengths in delivering mental health and substance abuse services and intervening in crises will help protect children and youth, Stefanson said.

Further funding totalling $370,000 over three years will support new partnerships with Indigenous organizations. Together with StreetReach, these partners will integrate the traditional approaches of spiritual care workers and elders into a multi-disciplinary and mobile method of addressing complex social issues.

"MATC is pleased to partner with StreetReach to provide clinical mental health services to vulnerable children and youth," said Darcy Cormack, board chair, MATC. "The addition of mental health services to StreetReach will support youth in recovery and pursuing future opportunities."

In addition to enhancing services available through StreetReach, the Manitoba government is investing more than $3.8 million over three years to enable Neecheewam Inc. to expand its Winnipeg facility and improve access to Indigenous-led healing, care and treatment services to sexually exploited youth.

Neecheewam operates the Strong Hearted Buffalo Women Crisis Stabilization Unit, a four-bed crisis intervention program for female and transgendered youth who are at high risk of sexual exploitation.

With new provincial funding, Neecheewam Inc. will undergo renovations to pilot a new, longer-term four-bed addition to its treatment facility. The integrated team at StreetReach will be able to turn to Neecheewam for Indigenous-led treatment programming with a focus on individualized plans to meet the unique needs of each youth through traditional healing and cultural connection.

"Neecheewam has quietly been doing the best we can to offer best-practice, quality services to help children of all nations overcome barriers and this program expansion certainly fits within that mandate," said Cory Campbell, executive director of Neecheewam. "The new funding means we are able to provide a multi-pronged approach with both short-term and longer-term treatment because the young people we help have varying needs."

Campbell added the new longer-term treatment will enable contact that is more consistent, role modeling and relationship building that helps young people express their voices and overcome their individual challenges.

A flexible admission process will accommodate youth who may need repeated short stays to build relationships and trust before they are able to commit to longer-term treatment. This individualized program will also help address mental health and addiction needs including those caused by increased methamphetamine use.

Funding for this year is $800,000, with $1.5 million allocated for each of the following two years of the program. The minister said this funding for StreetReach fulfils recommendations made by the Manitoba Advocate for Children and Youth recommending the expansion of StreetReach services in Winnipeg. It also addresses recommendation in the VIRGO report including those to increase capacity through expanded community outreach services, significantly enhance the capacity of mental health and addictions services for children and youth, and priority funding for the expansion of services for children and youth. The investment also aligns with key findings in the research report released under the Tracia's Trust Strategy.

She also noted the funding for Neecheewam fulfils another recommendation made in the VIRGO report, which was to establish culturally relevant treatment for youth with mental health and substance use issues.

Funding for these initiatives is being provided under the Canada-Manitoba Home and Community Care and Mental Health and Addictions Services Funding Agreement.

Dynacare Diabetes Canada bring back Manitoba's largest-ever diabetes wellness initiative

submitted

Dynacare and Diabetes Canada are bringing back #Dynacare4Diabetes, Manitoba's largest-ever diabetes wellness initiative, for a second consecutive year. Dynacare is aiming to get 55,000 Manitobans — particularly those most at risk — to take the A1C (blood sugar) test.

The organization will also be making a 50-cent donation to Diabetes Canada for every test completed at a Dynacare location in Manitoba between Oct. 21 and Nov. 30, up to a total of $25,000.

Coinciding with Diabetes Awareness Month in November, the initiative is meant to encourage Manitobans to assess their risk for the disease by getting tested at any Dynacare location throughout the campaign period. This initiative comes at no cost to Manitoba Health, Seniors and Active Living as it is fully funded by Dynacare, including the cost of all additional A1C tests ordered.

Diabetes is a serious public health issue, with over 27 per cent of Manitoba's population having undiagnosed or diagnosed diabetes or prediabetes, according to data from Diabetes Canada. Recognizing the significance of this issue, last November Dynacare and Diabetes Canada launched this campaign for the first time to spread awareness of the risk factors for diabetes and encourage Manitobans to get tested.

"Early detection is critical to change or reverse the course of Type 2 diabetes," says Andrea Kwasnicki, Diabetes Canada's regional director for Manitoba and Nunavut. "Presently, we estimate that there are approximately 386,000 Manitobans living with diabetes, and many of them don't even know it."

Dynacare and Diabetes Canada encourage Manitobans that have never been tested for diabetes to start the process by assessing their risk factors. If they have one or more risk factors, or are experiencing symptoms, they are encouraged to consult with their doctor and request a requisition for an A1C test. The test can be taken free of charge during the campaign at any Dynacare location in Manitoba. Doctors who receive test results with blood sugar levels above the normal range typically contact their patients directly to arrange a consultation and discuss a treatment plan.

This year, Dynacare is also reinforcing its commitment to Manitoba's at-risk communities living in rural and remote areas by organizing mobile clinic locations throughout the province. The goal is to provide access to testing for those most at-risk for this all-too-common disease, so they can be better informed about their health and, if necessary, get on a pathway to care. The mobile clinic schedule will be published on Dynacare.ca.

"We take our role in the Manitoba health care system very seriously and strive to support healthy living," says Dr. Jenisa Naidoo, chief scientific officer and Winnipeg-based medical director for Dynacare. "Dynacare is committed to serving our community, and our goal with this initiative is to make it easier for Manitobans who are at-risk to get tested."

Stonewall's Rexall Drugs at 1-330 3rd Ave. S. is one of the partnering locations. Contact number 204-467-8137.

Did you know you can catch fish with snowballs?

Hello friends.

How many of us each year are surprised how quickly freezing fall weather transforms our turbulent waters to motionless flat white-grey ice plains? The safe thicknesses of first ice that I talked about last week isn't the only hazard that comes into play as we stand on our favourite fishing shore line spots looking longingly across the ice where only days before we were open water fishing. Every year we dread a flood or big storm that might turn first ice into a mangled spiked mess. Well, this fall it happened!

The ice surfaces on the Red, like many other waterways, are billowing mats of bunched up ice. One exception is Netley Creek, where last week I saw a chap sitting comfortably in the middle of the creek on an overturned five-gallon pail jiggling his fishing line down in an ice hole. I left Old Red on the end of the road and walked out to him, calling, "How's it going pal?"

Reaching him, a nice eating-sized jack and walleye lay on the ice beside a sleigh and a specially made high-legged pan shaped bonfire holder that gave good heat but didn't melt the ice. It was quiet and peaceful on the creek.

"Hi, I'm Arnie Weidl. I write the fishing column in the Selkirk Record, the Express and the Stonewall Teulon Tribune," I said opening up a conversation with our angling brother. "Yes I know you," he said. "I'm Bill Lakota."

We passed the time trading fishing stories for a bit as we noticed guys in trucks driving up to the creek bank, then turning around and leaving seemingly unsure of the ice condition.

Bill pointed to the creek bank saying, "You can tell how high the water was here when the ice formed. Last year there was a 15-foot embankment you had to walk down to get on the ice. Now it's only a few feet. Also, some of the holes I've drilled here lately have air voids between layers of ice. It's a different fall this year!"

He paused for a moment, pulling up his line and checking his baited hook.

"I'm having good luck with a butterfly spoon and a minnow for good measure," he chuckled.

Again, more trucks idled up to the creeks edge and parked. Hopeful anglers spilled out and walked onto the ice towards us carefully sliding one foot in front of the other testing the ice. I said goodbye to Bill, and as I walked to my truck passing the newcomers, I called out, "There sure isn't many places to fish right now is there?"

"There sure isn't," they shouted back.

There are times when a joke you play on someone may make you feel a little foolish, especially if you do it to a kid. A few weeks ago downstream of Selkirk on the Red River bank, I met Gerald Klassen, a tall, thin fellow who had a big mischievous smile to go with his happy nature. He gave us an unusual story of when his dad, Peter, a teacher in the Pas, took his young nephew fall shore fishing on the Saskatchewan River. The water was still open and there was wet snow along the riverbank. Peter set the boy up with a red devil spoon. The excited lad, sure he was going to catch the biggest fish ever, cast out with great energy. Over and over, he cast out without so much as a bite.

In time, his energy faded and Peter, given to pranking, told the boy to make a snowball over the red devil spoon so when it hit the water a fish might snap at it. The poor innocent lad believed him! Time after time, he made small snowballs around his spoon then cast out. Naturally the snowball fell apart as the lure hit the water.

Undeterred, he continued until Peter could stand his unkind joke no longer and told the boy it was time to go home for supper. The boy begged for one more try. Peter agreed smiling and began packing up their fishing gear as the lad hunched over squeezing the hardest snowball he could around his spoon. He cast out but as the line speed from the reel, it snagged and the snowball-spoon plopped into the water only a few feet from him. Instantly there was a splashing of the water at the spoon. The snowball flew apart as a two-foot jackfish sprang up taking the lure! Gawking at the scene, Peter's emotions swung from disbelief to wonder. Realizing the tricked lad had actually caught a fish and unwilling to admit his prank, he found himself saying, "See, jackfish do like snowballs!"

Till next week fellow fishers. Bye for now.

We are here to make a difficult time easier for your family.

Eichler delivers funds to Argyle Museum

By Evan Matthews

With Phase 3 well underway, The Argyle's Settlers, Rails and Trails museum was gifted some added funding.

Ralph Eichler, Member of Legislative Assembly for Lakeside and the Minister of Economic Development and Training, presented a matching grant of $22,925 to Shayne Campbell and members of the museum's board last Friday.

"I'd like to have the Premier visit," said Eichler. "This is pretty special, the effort being put in here."

The funds will be used to offset the cost incurred by the museum associated with Phase 3 of the its transitional project.

To date, Phase 3 of the museum's project has included financially securing its new property, moving two of museum's three buildings to the new property, constructing foundations for each building, and a installing a new farm fence.

"I had lived in the country my whole life and had never put up a farm fence," said Campbell. "It was interesting, getting to figure out what that was all about. Lots of fun."

The third building would have been moved already, too, but Campbell said due to a rainy fall the building was best left in place.

However, the last building was finally scheduled to be moved over on Saturday, Nov. 16, though Campbell said the museum will not be moving its artifacts and exhibits just yet.

The museum officially took possession of its 12-acre parcel of land on July 15, with the land located directly north of the cemetery. The museum's board is aiming to create a "park-like" environment, according to Campbell, with native tall grasses being both historical and beautiful.

Still left to do as part of Phase 3, according to Campbell, is installation of a gate with the museum's logo on the new fence, and installation of a 1930s truck on the front of the property.

The project's third phase took roughly 322 volunteer hours to complete over the 2019 summer, Campbell said.

Once the museum fully transitions to its new property, Campbell said the organization will get to add emphasis to art and culture. Its current space in the basement of the Argyle Community Centre will then be used to house seasonal art and culture exhibits.

"It'll change three times a year. Painters, sculptors, photography and woodcarving," said Campbell.

"We'll be featuring local, rural, Interlake artists. We're going to host Ukrainian dancers upstairs, and host book readings by poets, and people playing piano and guitar."

Shared Heritage Fund update

The Argyle museum continues to make headway in its fundraising efforts, as Campbell said the organization is now just shy of $30,000 raised since the fund was announced in February.

"It's our first year, and we really weren't sure how that would go," said Campbell. "Our community has been great and so supportive."

The Shared Heritage Fund is the museum's endowment fund, a capital funding campaign, spread over three years. An endowment fund is typically established by an organization that makes consistent withdrawals from its invested capital.

In February, Campbell said the museum's goal is to raise $150,000 for the endowment fund over the next three years.

The capital put into an endowment fund, often used by universities, non-profit organizations, churches and/or hospitals, is generally used in a company's operating process.

Campbell says by generating more capital funding now, and putting it away in an endowment fund, the museum won't have to rely on community funding in the future and will be totally self-sufficient.

"After the first two years, we'll receive four per cent interest each year. ... The nice thing about (the fund) is we won't have to keep coming back to our community and asking for money," Campbell said in February.

Background

Currently, the museum operates from Argyle Community Centre's basement, as the organization rents out a 700-square-foot space. The current facility allows the museum to showcase a mere one per cent of its holdings.

The museum's collection is made up of over 1,700 cultural artifacts from around the region, over 1,400 items in the museum's Canadian Flag Collection, and over 15,000 digital and paper archival documents, according to Campbell.

A big part of the museum's desire to expand, according to Campbell, comes from the size of the exhibits, which boasts the second largest flag collection in Canada.

That flag collection will be on display in the Manitoba's Legislative Building's rotunda three separate occasions during 2020.

By the year 2027, the Settlers, Rails and Trails museum hopes to have switched its designation from a local to a regional museum, according to Campbell.

By making the new facility a diverse and multipurpose — similar to an arts, culture and heritage centre — Campbell says he hopes the museum will become a heritage organization.

The organization has the local history component covered, according to Campbell, but it's also looking at incorporating more culture by hosting art, theatre, dance, photography, crafting and more.

Woodlands council puts a hold on cold storage building

By Evan Matthews

The RM of Woodlands has put the freeze on its plans for a new cold storage building.

Reeve Lori Schellekens said the RM will wait until spring to start construction, as current conditions are contributing to too many variables.

"The reason we've decided to hold off for now is because the ground around Woodlands has silt pockets," said Schellekens.

"Without properly surveying for that silt, it creates a bit of unknown when (the contractors) are drilling to place the building's footing," she said, adding that a "footing" is essentially a concrete pad, which will act as the foundation.

"We want a sturdy foundation."

To date, Schellekens and the RM have been unwilling to divulge financial details, for reasons she described as two-fold. First, the contractor (Olympic Buildings) may raise the price heading into the spring. Second, the RM has not yet received a quote for installation of its electrical and wants to include that cost in the final price tag.

Regardless, Schellekens said waiting for the new building will not affect the RM's operations.

"We'll just use the old (storage) building for another year," said Schellekens.

"We'll have to delay the tender, for the old building's sale. We want the other building up before we tear the old one down."

The new building will be located on the same property as the old one. The new building, however, will be located on the north side of the property.

The old facility, located on the south side of the property, has been heaving and buckling due to weather but also in part because the original support poles were not placed deep enough into the ground, according to Schellekens.

With the old building always having done the job, Schellekens said one more season should be just fine.

The new facility will be a "seasonal building," according to Schellekens, in which summer equipment goes in and winter equipment comes out or the winter equipment goes in and the summer equipment comes out.

"With a new, secure foundation, we won't worry about heaving anymore," said Schellekens.

Once the new building is constructed, the demolition of the old building on the south side of the property line will be put up for tender.

Once both projects are completed, Schellekens said the RM intends to fence the property's perimeter, as a way to proactively avoid property crime.

At some point down the line, Schellekens said the construction of a new RM office on the same property is on the wish list.

Full house gathers for annual Palliative Care gala

By Jennifer McFee

Good food, good music and good company — all for a good cause.

A well-dressed crowd of approximately 240 people gathered on Saturday, Nov. 16 at the Stonewall Legion for the South West District Palliative Care 14th annual gala fundraising Blue Mystique Evening.

Preliminary totals indicate that the event generated between $15,500 and $16,000 for South West District Palliative Care.

Treasurer Chuck McClure said the silent auction was extremely successful thanks to generous sponsors and equally generous ticket purchasers.

“A huge thank you to our whole community and area — to all our sponsors, all who supported the auction with prizes and donations, and to all our patrons,” he said.

The entertaining event featured a delicious meal catered by the Stonewall Legion and served by members of the Stonewall United Church, followed by greetings and speeches from dignitaries with board chair Doris Hunter as the master of ceremonies. The impressive silent and progressive auctions drew a steady stream of interest from attendees, and the toe-tapping tunes of The Marvells kept the dance floor packed all night.

Guests had the chance to pick up a dragonfly magnet on the way out the door as part of a new initiative.

“Hospitals in the IERHA will have dragonflies on the doors of palliative patients to remind staff of their needs,” Hunter explained.

“There was concern that sometimes when staff was going in, they may not recognize that those people are at end-of-life stage.”

Since 2012, the registered charity has donated $107,795 to the region to buy high-priority equipment such as lifts, IV pumps, pressure relief mattresses, recliners, sleep chairs, a double electric bed and Stryker power ambulance stretchers.

Camp Stepping Stones, the Interlake-Regional Health Authority's yearly children's grief camp, also receives support. The organization continues to provide funding for comfort kits to provide a sense of solace to families during end-of-life situations.

The first South West District Palliative Care board formed in 1997 when 11 community members gathered together to support palliative care in Stonewall, Teulon, Rockwood, Rosser and Woodlands. Today, the organization continues to fundraise for equipment, education and volunteer support.

In addition to the November gala, the main fundraisers include the Hike for Hospice in May, the golf tournament in conjunction with the Interlake Community Foundation in June and the Memory Tree in December.

Coming up next on Sunday, Dec. 1, the South West District Palliative Care will host An Evening of Remembrance to remember loved ones as the holiday season approaches. The event

Tis the Season of Advent

This past week I noticed that the stores are already well into the Christmas mode, with many flashy displays and eye catching decorations. The sound of Christmas music is sure to follow shortly. We may at the beginning complain that Christmas seems to start earlier every year but for many of us we welcome the season and the opportunity to get into the Christmas Spirit.

Some Christian denominations name the four weeks leading up to Christmas Advent. Although many of us use the time before Christmas day to celebrate the season, originally the 12 days of Christmas were celebrated after the 25th of December. Nowadays some Pastors will encourage the faithful to resist the Christmas hype and use this time leading up to the celebration of the Lord's birth as a time of spiritual preparation and reflection, with various degrees of success.

Advent itself often has an urgent tone as it encourages us to awake from any complacency in our lives, especially as it refers to the coming of the Kingdom of peace that is promised in the birth of the Lord Jesus. How might we make at least an attempt to use the four weeks before Christmas as a time of spiritual preparation?

One thing that I have personally found helpful is to delay decorating, even to the week before Christmas if possible. My parents would only allow us as children to set up our tree on December the 23rd. We naturally complained but it did make us want to extend the celebration of Christmas well after December the 25th. Another way to keep our focus on the anticipation of the Lord's birth is with the use of an advent wreath. This is particularly the case in a family setting when special daily or weekly prayers accompany its lighting. I personally would recommend an advent log possessing 24 candles. The candles help to not only signify our daily journey but also the gradual coming of the 'Lord of Light' into the darkness of our world. Daily prayers are easily found on line. Whatever might be your choice, take the time this year to joyfully prepare spiritually for the Lord's birth.

RBC Foundation grants $30,000 to local youth led initiatives

By Lana Meier

Four local organizations received grants totalling $30,000 last Saturday during the official kick off of the RBC Future Launch that took place in over 150 communities across Canada.

Coreen Pusiewich, RBC community manager for the Interlake south region including Stonewall, was honoured to attend the formal announcement.

"This is not about me. It's an honour for me. I'm truly delighted to be presenting for RBC today ... and you people are really, really fortunate to be one of the communities chosen," said Pusiewich.

In 2017 RBC committed $500,000 million over 10 years to support youth all across Canada. The announcement was an unprecedented commitment to helping Canadian youth prepare for the future of work.

The RBC Future Launch Community Challenge was a call to action for youth aged 15 to 29 in more than 150 small and mid-sized communities across Canada.

In each participating community, youth and partner organizations had the opportunity to team up and apply for a grant of up to $15,000 to support youth-led projects.

The RBC Future Launch Community Challenge is made possible thanks to a $5-million donation from the RBC Foundation. It is part of the RBC Future Launch, a commitment by RBC and the RBC Foundation to empower Canadian youth for the jobs of tomorrow.

RBC wants to help the youth be prepared for a future in the workplace, said Pusiewich.

"A place where its becoming harder and harder for them to get to. In some cases the disruption that we are finding in our communities is so large that we need to start supporting the youth so they can overcome some of the struggles where we don't know what's happening next. It's a very different world out there from when I grew up and when I was leaving high school and starting my career. So at RBC we certainly believe, if youth succeed we succeed," she said.

"This money will be used to help build their foundational skills, increase their access to networking, and gain valuable practical work experience that will give them a leg up when they graduate from university or from college.

"Today we are really excited to be part of this announcement and learning more about the youth lead projects. Our young people are often referred to as the next generation but we really believe that they are the now generation and its their voice and actions that are critical to our collective well-being."

Pusiewich thanked the Interlake Community Foundation for their partnership with the RBC Future Launch Community Challenge and wished everyone good luck.

ICF board member Ross Thompson thanked RBC for its support and introduced board members and youth volunteers.

Thompson said that two of the grants being handed out on Saturday were the largest grants ever given out for the ICF.

Mayor Clive Hinds brought greetings from the Town of Stonewall and thanked the ICF for the work that they have done and for their perseverance to make this possible.

Hinds also thanked the youth who stepped up to the plate to show that they count.

"I totally agree with Corrinne that the youth are the future and we got to reach out and pay attention," said Hinds. "We want to see and support the youth in any way possible."

Grant committee members Cheryle McClure, Meechelle Best and Rhonda Cameron, and youth members Brett Nespor, Curtis Beck and Brielle Cara had the pleasure of introducing each of the four grant recipients:

- The Woodlands Pioneer Museum received $5,000 for its History Lives Here project. Jacquie Gardener provided details of the Grade 5 and 6 curriculum being developed on the museum's history that will be taught in Warren Elementary School.

- The Green Acres Art Centre received $10,000 for its Green Acres Art Centre Junior Board of Directors project. Lana Knor introduced youth members and talked about a number of the programs being introduced in the community that will see youth volunteering, providing leadership Workplace Education Manitoba is here to support your business! We are a government funded organization that provides Essential Skill development related to performance in the workplace. Do you have daily issues that keep occurring? Does your staff lack the customer service you require? Do your managers need leadership skills to lead your team more effectively? We are here to help!

On an on-going basis, WEM provides community-based workshops to help meet these needs. In the new year, we will be coming to Stonewall, in January and February, and would like to invite you to attend our workshops! The training will be focussed on "Thinking Like a Leader" and "Effective Coaching and Mentoring" in the workplace. As the date gets closer, stay tuned on our website for further information and registration details.

<https://wem.mb.ca/west-centre-selkirk/>

WEM also provides customized training specific to your business. With a free need assessment, we can determine what Essential Skill training is required. We then develop a training plan to meet your needs and bring the training right to you! If you are interested and would like more information, please call Melodie at 204-894-4701.

Elf on the Shelf Christmas Contest

Especially at this time of year, it is important to be aware and appreciate all of the businesses and services that are available to the residents in our community. We are fortunate to have these businesses available to us and thus equally important to support these business owners so they can continue to thrive in the community.

This holiday season we are participating in a special promotion to help recognize our businesses and support these business owners.

The Stonewall Teulon Tribune will be running a campaign from November 28-December 24 to help readers find great holiday gift ideas and give the community a chance to win some great prize packages-one of which will be $500 Stonewall Chamber Christmas Bucks which can be spent at participating chamber businesses!

Elf will move throughout the business community and readers will get clues as to where to find Elf that day. Find where Elf is hidden, take a photo and submit it to ElfontheShelf@stonewallteulontribune.ca for your chance to win one of the weekly prizes. It's that easy!

Watch for your November 28th Tribune to arrive for all the participating businesses!

Manitoba Hunter Jumper Association hands out award in local woman's name

By Jennifer McFee

A local woman has earned recognition for her efforts in the horse community with multiple awards handed out in her honour.

Catherine McCullagh made her mark as a coach, stable owner, leader, volunteer, board chair and much more. She lost a hard-fought battle with cancer in December 2018.

The Manitoba Hunter Jumper Association has created the Catherine McCullagh Volunteer of the Year Award, which will be handed out annually to volunteers who go above and beyond the expectations of volunteering. The first-ever award went to Nicole Gorman, who worked alongside Christine Budzak to help increase the association's social media presence and assisted at the Yann Candele Clinic. During the show season, she helped out with many positions that needed to be filled and consistently offered to help with a dedication that mirrors McCullagh's efforts.

Gorman, who lives in the Stonewall area, grew up riding with McCullagh from age seven.

"It definitely feels special and it means a lot to me," Gorman said. "She inspired me to do more for the horse community so it was very rewarding to get that recognition."

The Manitoba Dirt Riders also honoured McCullagh by handing out an award in her name earlier this month. On Saturday, Nov. 2 during its annual year-end banquet in Brandon, the organization gave out the inaugural award to long-time member Roxanne Reimer of Ninette.

"Catherine always went above and beyond the call of duty when it came to volunteering for the club. We were very sad to lose her," board member Ryan Krause.

"After her passing, we thought it would be fitting to create the Catherine McCullagh memorable award for outstanding volunteerism."

McCullagh was also recognized by the Manitoba Horse Council with their President's Award for lifetime dedication during its annual general meeting in April.

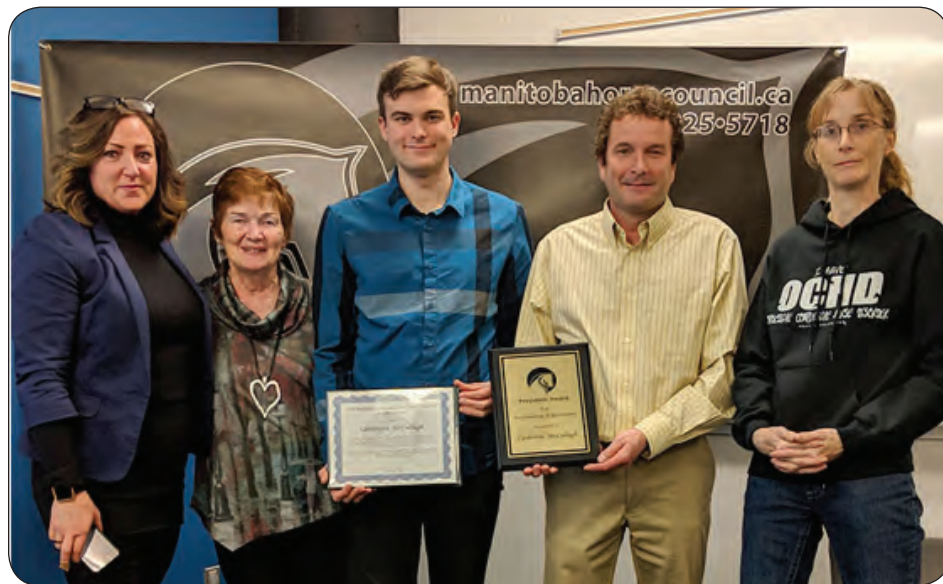

"She was a huge supporter by sponsoring and she taught riding lessons for many years with many different groups like the Manitoba Hunter Jumper Association Manitoba Pony Club, as well as South Interlake Rockwood Ag Society," said Elizabeth Abraham.

"Quite a few of us had nominated her for a builder award, and the president of Manitoba Horse Council felt that that just wasn't enough. So they decided to award her with the Presi-

The Manitoba Horse Council presented a special President's Award for Outstanding Achievement. This award is not automatically awarded on an annual bases, rather, it is presented when an individual contributes above and beyond the normal. The MHC awards committee and the whole board consider Catherine McCullagh's contribution to a variety of equestrian groups, as well as personifying the essence of the Manitoba Horse Council, as something deserving of special recognition. dent's Award, which is only given out when they feel someone is justified for it. She's been recognized by so many different organizations this year for how much she's done. You sometimes don't realize the impact someone makes until they're not here."

During the same Manitoba Horse Council AGM, McCullagh's son Brennan was named Adult Athlete of the Year and his horse WKM Xenia was named Competition Horse of the Year.

Make every day a green day

Staff

Green was the theme of the Manitoba Horticultural Association's 122nd annual general meeting and convention.

The event was hosted by the South Interlake Garden Club on Nov. 8 and 9 at Stonewall's Quarry Park Heritage Arts Centre.

Gardeners from clubs throughout the province gathered for the weekend to partake in a workshop, listen to speakers, enjoy local baking, a luncheon and dinner all the while focusing on an environmentally friendly convention.

Attendees were encouraged to support the convention's theme "Make Everyday a Green Day" by recycling their food scraps, napkins and paper products. All the waste products were delivered to the Prairie Green Landfill to be made into compost.

The venue was transformed into a cozy, homey environment with handmade quilts, crocheted and knitted blankets, antiques, old fashioned toys and dolls, while tables were decorated with floral arrangements, balls of wool and knitting needles, jams, pickles and preserves.

Throughout the convention gardeners browsed the MHA Garden Store where they could purchase bulbs and plants. There was a sweat pea auction that included prizes from local businesses and other garden clubs and winning photos from the annual photography competition were displayed.

On Saturday gardeners were welcomed by Hugh Skinner, MHA president; Tanya Daher, South Interlake Garden Club president; and Mayor Clive Hinds who brought greetings on behalf of the Town of Stonewall.

Kelly Leask with Prairie Originals from Selkirk was the first speaker of the day. Prairie Originals specializes in growing native prairie wildflowers and native plants for landscaping. She spoke about attracting beneficials, like bird, insects and bees to our gardens.

Dave Hanson from Sage Gardens spoke about many areas of gardening including trends, finding alternative uses to plastic material in nurseries, sourcing different materials for fertilizing and soil amendments.

Tiffany Grenkow spoke on extending the growing season. She explained how to extend your growing season by planting crops a few different times throughout the growing season.

The last speaker of the day was Heather Mitchell with Green Action Centre. She explained who the Green Action Centre is and what they do, which includes working with schools and communities to teach environmentally friendly options such as setting up car pool, walking or riding bikes to work and school.

She also spoke about composting initiatives such as helping setup composting boxes and bins.

Throughout the day, guests enjoyed baking and pastries from local bake shop Beyond Bread while lunch was catered by McLeod Tea House and Gift Shop and dinner by Tailgators BBQ catering from Stony Mountain.

Entertainment was provided by Aidan Mulvihill, a talented 17-year-old juggler and unicyclist who had guests on the edge of their seats as he juggled axes while riding his six-foot tall unicycle.

The evening ended of with the Great Gardener's Auction. Bidding was fast and furious as local auctioneer Mike Melnychuk had the crowd bidding on some beautiful auction items including a handmade quilt, garden supplies, paintings and two sets of double-seated lawn furniture.

Avid gardeners intently listening to speakers throughout the day Saturday.

Good Communication is Key to a Healthy Relationship can end up sounding like a couple of bickering children. If they become critical of one another, there is soon more harm done in discussing the issue, than by the original problem itself.

Conflicts often occur between couples—it is a fact of life. Some couples are able to resolve them and move on, while for others, the issue remains smoldering, ready to flare up at any time.

I reflected on some of the qualities that correlate with healthy resolution of issues, and came up with the following: 1) the individuals value their relationship, and do not want a difference between them to undermine it, 2) each individual genuinely cares about the well-being of the other, 3) each makes an effort to truly understand how the other is feeling, 4) there is an absence of blame or fault-finding, 5) there is a focus on finding a solution, 6) both are willing to compromise in order to maintain harmony in the relationship.

Clearly, these qualities are associated with a high degree of maturity. Often, when couples disagree, they Unfortunately, we are not taught how to communicate effectively. I often see couples who ultimately want the same thing, but their communication styles get in the way.

They also may not have effective problem solving strategies. These two elements are the primary focus in most marital therapy.

It is relatively easy to come from a loving place when all is going well. It is a challenge to hold that loving space when there is a problem. It is the ability to do this that strengthens and fortifies a relationship—keeping both partners on the same team—exactly where we need and want to be.

Rockwood council news in brief

By Jennifer McFee

At the Nov. 13 meeting, Rockwood council hosted a public hearing regarding a request from the Vintage Locomotive Society to build a new washroom and kitchen facility associated with the existing Grosse Isle Heritage Site.

In recent years, the group has been working hard to acquire, restore and stage historical buildings in order to preserve local history and culture. Over the past 15 years, Grosse Isle Heritage site has grown to include a picnic shelter, the Ridgeway Heritage House, the East Rosser Schoolhouse, the Grosse Isle United Church, the Emerson Train Station and a train caboose. To further enhance the site, the Vintage Locomotive Society would like to add a combined washroom and kitchen facility to serve its users and visitors.

The South Interlake Planning District does not have significant concerns with the proposed variance, as long as specific conditions are met.

Another public hearing focused on a request from the Vintage Locomotive Society to vary the minimum rear yard to 25 feet from the required 125 feet in order to build the kitchen and washroom facility. The South Interlake Planning District recommended approval with conditions.

In other council news:

- At the same meeting, council passed a resolution requesting that Manitoba Infrastructure change the two-way stop sign controlled intersection to a four-way stop sign controlled intersection at the corner of Road 6E and Road 85N (PR 236) in Balmoral.
- The Town of Stonewall offered $10,000 for the old fire truck No. 24, and council agreed to accept the offer. The Stonewall Rockwood Fire Department recently purchased a new fire truck.
- Council authorized the Stonewall Rockwood Fire Department, the Teulon Rockwood Fire Department and the Stony Mountain Fire Department to dispose of their used turnout gear.
- The RM of Rockwood will sell a 2008 GMC Sierra at auction.
- Big Daddy Enterprises will maintain the parks in Stony Mountain for $1,250 per month.
- The CAO will execute an agreement between the RM of Rockwood and KGS Group for an environmental assessment at Teulon Waste Disposal Grounds.
- Council hosted a public hearing regarding a request from Nutrien Ag Solutions to vary the maximum building height to 46 feet from the required 20 feet to allow for the addition of two hopper bins to the existing dry fertilizer facility. The South Interlake Planning District does not have any significant concerns as long as specific conditions are met.

Stonewall Centennial students came up with a total of 499 suggestions for ways to celebrate Manitoba's 150th anniversary in 2020. Recreation director Laine Wilson noted that patterns emerged within a range of areas. "Most suggestions centred around socialization spots, indoor pools, animal shelters, dirt bike tracks and retail stores," she said. JV Rams win WWAC Tier 2 title, earn provincial berth

By Brian Bowman

The Stonewall Collegiate Rams' junior varsity girls' volleyball team had a couple of really, really good days last week.

Stonewall defeated the St. James Jimmies 3-0 by scores of 25-8, 25-15, 25-16 on Nov. 13 to win a qualifier to earn a spot into this week's MHSAA AAA provincials.

The very next evening, the Rams won the WWAC Tier 2 championship after sweeping the Shaftesbury Titans 3-0 (25-18, 25-11, 25-14).

"It was awesome," said Rams' head coach Shae Johnson. "They were so pumped. It's been a long time since Stonewall has had a banner from that West Winnipeg Athletic Conference. They were super excited — they took a lot of pictures at the end."

Stonewall won the match against Shaftesbury despite struggling, at times, in the first set.

"I wouldn't say they played their absolute best but it shows our growth this season and how much better we've gotten," Johnson said.

The Rams and Titans played three straight times early in the season with Stonewall winning two of the matches.

"We hadn't seen them since so it was nice to see the growth our girls have had throughout the season," Johnson said proudly.

Defence was the key in the Rams' win over the Titans.

"Our digging was awesome," Johnson stressed. "The girls picked up everything, especially in that second and third set. We played a lot better in that second and third set and I thought they dug everything up. We also had some strong attacks, too, so it was nice."

The Rams are really looking forward to competing at provincials, which begins this Thursday at Linden Christian School in Winnipeg.

"I'm really excited because the provincials will be a really good experience for the girls," Johnson said. "It'll be nice to match up with the top AAA teams in the province. I'm loving that Stonewall is such a force to be reckoned with."

"I think we're doing awesome and we're going to surprise a lot of people at provincials with how far we've come throughout the season."

Wildcats make return trip to varsity girls' volleyball provincials

Staff

The Warren Collegiate Wildcats varsity girls' volleyball team will have an opportunity to defend last year's provincial title.

The Wildcats earned a return trip to provincials after finishing with a 3-0 record at a three-team provincial qualifier last Saturday in Warren.

The Wildcats defeated the Minnedosa Chancellors 2-0 (25-23, 25-8) in the championship game.

In pool play, Warren cruised to wins over Minnedosa (25-18, 25-17) and the Morris Mavericks (22-25, 25-10, 15-9).

The girls' AA volleyball provincials will be held in Boissevain from Nov. 28-30.

The Wildcats' varsity boys' volleyball team, meanwhile, lost 2-0 to the Elton Sabres in the final of their AA provincial qualifier in Elton on Saturday.

Elton won the match 2-0 by scores of 12-25, 17-25.

By finishing second, Warren received a berth into the MHSAA AA provincials, which will be held Nov. 28-30 in Killarney.

In the four-team pool, Warren finished with a 2-1 record after 2-0 wins over the Morris/St. Jean Baptiste Mavericks (25-21, 25-23) and the Niverville Panthers (25-21, 25-22).

The Wildcats' loss was a 2-0 (21-25, 16-25) decision to the Sabres.

Bantam female Lightning golden in Calgary

By Brian Bowman

The Interlake Lightning Bantam AAA female team had a fantastic time at the Wickenheiser World Female Hockey Festival last weekend.

They also won a lot of hockey games. Interlake won gold in their Bantam Tier II A division after defeating Calgary 3-1. The Lightning snapped a 1-1 tie, scoring just 10 seconds after the Calgary Inferno tallied and then added an empty-net goal to secure the victory.

"It was a nice change to the season because we have had a really difficult season this year," said Lightning head coach Charlene Bodnarchuk. "We were coming in with some pretty raw talent and we've had to coach that up a bit. We've been getting beat quite a bit but we've seen the scores going down. We recently tied Eastman and we have had some really competitive games. We were definitely the best team at the tournament so it was nice to be on the other end." "It was an awesome weekend and I couldn't be any more prouder of my kids."

Interlake cruised to wins over the Edmonton Voltage (2-1), Missoula Wildcats (6-0), and Saskatoon Comets (4-0). The Lightning also tied Calgary 0-0 to close out their round robin.

The Lightning played very well defensively and had outstanding goaltending last weekend.

"We had some really great goaltending, it was absolutely fantastic, and our defence, we have been on them all year to clear pucks from in front of the net and to make sure they're not giving up any rebounds, and they did fantastic on that," Bodnarchuk said. "It was really great."

Bodnarchuk feels the Lightning have picked up some much-needed confidence from their success last weekend. Interlake expects to go back to the tournament next year and have plans to enter the Elite division.

"They're getting lots of confidence," Bodnarchuk said. "We had players that would never take the puck and go end-to-end, but players were doing that this weekend. Instead of throwing the puck away, they were holding on to it and making plays. I can't wait to see how that transitions into our season."

The Canadian Tire Wickenheiser World Female Hockey Festival, affectionately known as WickFest, celebrated its 10th anniversary in the 2019-20 hockey season.

WickFest is the dream come-to-life of six-time Olympian Hayley Wickenheiser. In Calgary, the event is hosted in partnership with Girls Hockey Calgary and in Surrey in partnership with The City of Surrey and alongside the Surrey Falcons.

Canadian Tire WickFest has become a renowned world-class event, attracting national and worldwide media, teams from around the world and special guests from Olympians to NHL'ers.

Merces edge Islanders in overtime in SEMHL action

Staff

Another game, another overtime finish for the Warren Merces.

For the fourth time in five games this season, overtime was needed between the Merces and the Portage Islanders in Warren on Saturday evening.

Johnny Lazo's second goal of the game was the deciding goal in OT.

After a scoreless opening period, Portage grabbed a 2-0 lead with second-period goals from Brett Brooks and Derrick Brooks. Derrick Brooks leads the league in goals scored (nine) and points (11).

Lazo cut that lead in half midway in the third and then Brendan Mitchell tied the score at 2-2 with just two minutes remaining in regulation time.

Hayden Dola made 36 saves for the victory.

With the win, Warren is now 3-1-1-0 and has seven points to sit in a three-way tie for top spot along with the Carman Beavers and the Islanders. Both of those teams have played one less game than Warren.

The Merces will head out to Morden to battle the Redskins on Saturday. Warren's next home game is Nov. 30 when it hosts Morden.

Puck drop for both games is 8 p.m.

U18 Lightning beat Wheat Kings in Brandon

Staff

The Interlake Lightning responded very well after a lopsided road loss on Friday.

After getting thumped 9-2 by the Yellowhead Chiefs, Interlake responded really well with a solid 5-2 victory over the Brandon Wheat Kings in Manitoba U18 AAA Hockey League action on Saturday evening.

Against Brandon, Austin Adair gave the Lightning a 1-0 lead at 11:44 of the first period and then Ayden Manningway made it 2-0 just over five minutes later.

Adair then put the Lightning up 3-0 with a goal at 19:43 of the third period.

Both Manningway and Adair's goals came on the power play.

Interlake snagged a 3-0 first-period lead despite being outshot 14-6.

Brandon's Brady Frattinger and Adair traded second-period goals and then Frattinger and the Lightning's Matthew Vandell tallied in the third. Vandell's goal was into an empty net with Brandon goaltender Tyson Gregory pulled for an extra attacker.

Adair finished the game with four points while teammate Ethan Johnson had three assists

Chris Fines made 38 saves for the victory.

Interlake started the weekend with the tough loss to a very good Yellowhead Chiefs' team on Friday.

After Yellowhead's Brody Wilson scored 3:31 into the game, Interlake answered with goals from Lyle Murdock and Carl Ingalls (on the power play).

But it was all Chiefs after that.

Connor Geekie scored his first of three goals late in the first period and then Kaelen Quane, Slade Stanick, Geekie and Wilson tallied in the second.

Geekie, Cole Topham and Mitchell Collyer tallied in the third.

Yellowhead outshot the Interlake 49-17 as Dominic Jacobson took the loss.

Interlake, now 8-9, will play the Winnipeg Bruins on Saturday (3:15 p.m.) at Southdale Arena and then will host the winless Norman Northstars Sunday (1 p.m.) in Teulon.

Warren wins Zone 5 AA junior varsity boys' volleyball championship

Wildcats defeat Athletics in the Zone 5 final

By Brian Bowman

The Zone 5 AA junior varsity boys' championship game could not have been any more exciting.

The Warren Collegiate Wildcats became zone champions after defeating the Arborg Athletics 2-0 (25-23, 25-21) in a thrilling match in Gimli last Thursday.

"It was very exciting," said Wildcats' head coach Mark Hnatuk in an email "The boys started going down 9-2 and fought their way back to 23-17 and one of my players goes back and serves eight in a row to finish the game.

"Sure, it was a grind and both teams fought back and forth but we managed to be on the positive side of each point."

This match could have gone either way but Warren did a lot of things right on the court that resulted in the victory. Teamwork was definitely one of them.

"They played like a team all day," Hnatuk stressed. "They never got down on each other even when they were down on points. They worked hard to fight back, talking with each other and staying positive which allowed them to come back and win."

Warren advanced to the final after sweeping the Gimli Lakers 2-0 (25-17, 25-19) in a semifinal matchup.

In the other semifinal game, Arborg defeated the Fisher Branch Cougars 2-0 (25-16, 25-21).

In pool play, Warren swept the Riverton Patriots (25-21, 25-15) and the Fisher River Hawks.

The Wildcats did a tremendous job at zones. But the results didn't come easy - this was a very dedicated team.

"They have worked hard this year and we're getting better each week," Hnatuk said. "However, (in the Zone 5 final) they managed to pull it all together and apply it to the games. It was especially sweet because it was the first JV boys' volleyball banner (for Warren) in a few years."

With the Zone 5 AA title, the Wildcats now advance to the MHSAA provincials that will be held at College Regional Gabrielle-Roy in Ile des Chenes from Nov. 21-23. It will be interesting to see how Warren compares against other elite teams at the provincials.

"Honestly, I'm not really sure how they will do," Hnatuk admitted. "We haven't been exposed to a lot of the teams in the province and the ones we have seen have been very good.

"If this team plays like they have been and with some more experience, who knows?"

Stonewall stuns Shaftesbury in WWAC Tier 2 final

By Brian Bowman

The Stonewall Collegiate Rams are the West Winnipeg Athletic Conference Tier 2 junior varsity boys' volleyball champions.

The Rams won the title after defeating the Shaftesbury Titans 3-1 by scores of 25-17, 25-20, 18-25, 25-18 last Thursday in Stonewall.

"The guys played really good," said Rams' head coach Derrick Wall. "They came together and managed to keep control of the ball and attack lots, so it was great."

It was a great way for the Rams to finish their season. Stonewall had lost a provincial qualifier game to John Taylor.

"They were really pumped about (winning a league title)," Wall said. "They were pretty excited and it doesn't happen too often around our parts but the guys know they worked hard all year for it and they were pretty excited to have some success."

The Rams did a great job in grabbing a 2-0 lead in sets against Shaftesbury. It is a whole lot easier to play when a team is up like that early in a match.

"It was a good confidence boost for the guys," Wall said. "But it almost gave them too much confidence in the sense that they didn't come out in the third very strong. "They were expecting to just take it and it kind of backfired on them. But they came back in the fourth and really battled for every point and played well."

In league play, Stonewall was 6-3 while Shaftesbury was 8-1. So, the Rams' win last week was a bit of an upset.

"Statistically, it's an upset," Wall said, noting his club defeated the Titans to close out the regular season. "But I felt that we could beat that team. We played them earlier in the season and they looked pretty good but I felt right from the beginning that we could beat these guys this season."

Overall, the Rams enjoyed a very successful season.

"You're going to see the banner in the gym for the next couple of years so that will be a reminder that we had some success," Wall said. "It was

Wildcats win Zone 5 AA junior varsity girls' volleyball title

By Brian Bowman

There was no question as to who the best team was at the Zone 5 AA junior varsity girls' volleyball championship in Gimli last week.

The Warren Collegiate Wildcats played some dominating volleyball from start to finish as they swept the Riverton Patriots 2-0 (25-12, 25-7) in the final on Thursday.

Everyone contributed in the impressive victory.

"I was just saying today that in the last game, those two sets, I was able to get everybody from the bench on the court, Grade 10s and 9s," said Wildcats' head coach Andrea Schutz. "So, I was really happy about that. Everybody got a piece of that last game, which made me feel good.

"I'm very proud of the girls. They have worked really hard all season and made huge gains as a team."

The Rams did an excellent job responding to Riverton's simple one-hit attack.

"Riverton was giving us a lot of one-hit shots at the net so the girls were just moving their feet tons and communicating," Schutz recalled. "They were all playing their positions really well and covering the court like crazy. It wasn't just one person who stayed in their own area and took on that piece of the court. The girls were everywhere on the court and there was lots and lots of movement and communication."

Warren advanced to the final after beating the Arborg Athletics 2-0 by scores of 25-19, 25-17. The Wildcats served well and did a good job of winning those two sets that were close throughout.

Warren has a real good mix of Grade 9s and 10s this season. All of the players really cherished winning the zone banner

"My Grade 10s have gone through this before as 9s but they were still very excited," Schutz noted. "The Grade 9s were super pumped and the Grade 10s have been excellent leaders for the Grade 9s. "The Grade 9s have really improved and have come into their own as the season has gone on."

In pool play, Warren finished with an 8-0 record to place first in their five-team pool.

The Wildcats defeated the Teulon Saints 2-0 (25-21, 25-9), Gimli Lakers (25-14, 25-18), Fisher Branch Cougars (25-8, 25-8) and the Peguis Wolverines (25-18, 25-23).

Teulon, meanwhile, split with the Gimli Lakers (16-25, 25-20) and Peguis (25-22, 16-25) and lost 2-0 to Fisher Branch (13-25, 16-25) in its other pool games. The Saints did not advance to the playoffs.

With the Zone 5 title, Warren now advances to the AA provincials, which will be held this Thursday through Saturday in Ile-des-Chenes. The Wildcats expect to be competitive against the top JV schools in the province.

"If we are on our game, I think we can make it quite far," Schutz predicted. "We played against some AAAA and AAA teams this year and the girls have held up extremely well having close losses by about 25-22. "So, if they play like that then I think they can go a long way. I'm looking forward to this provincials with them."

Manitoba Major Junior Hockey League standings tight

Staff

There isn't much that separates a lot of the teams in the Manitoba Major Junior Hockey League this season.

Just six points separated seven teams in the 10-team league heading into this week's action.

Stonewall is right in the middle of the mix after splitting a pair of games last week.

The fifth-place Jets lost 2-1 to the sixth-place Ft. Garry/Ft. Rouge Twins in Stonewall on Sunday evening.

The Twins took a 2-0 first-period lead on goals from Spencer Kaminsky and Cole Doherty. Doherty's goal was a power-play marker at 17:28 of the period.

After a scoreless middle frame, Carson Ouellette sniped his sixth goal of the season on the power play at 10:59 of the third. Brendan Labossiere and Matthew Smith assisted on the goal.

Curtis Beck made 41 saves in the losing cause.

Last Friday, the Jets skated past the Transcona Railer Express 6-4 in Stonewall.

Stonewall snapped a third-period tie with late goals by Chance Dickenson and Keevan Daniels-Webb (into an empty net).

Devun Groot, Shaydon Mousseau,

Jayson Brooks and Jared Hulme scored second-period goals for the Jets.

Kyle Lamont, with a pair, Nathan Hillis, and Steven Delisle replied for Transcona.

Adam Swan made 32 saves for the victory. Stonewall, now 8-7, will play at the St. Vital Victorias on Thursday and then host the St. James Canucks Friday.

Martin referees gold-medal game at U18 women's hockey nationals

Staff

Morden and Winkler were centre stage earlier this month when they hosted some of Canada's top players at the National Women's Under 18 Hockey Championship.

And Stonewall's Amy Martin had a first-hand look at that elite action.

Martin and Winnipeg's Joanne Senecal were officials at the tournament. In fact, Martin refereed in the gold-medal game between Team Ontario Red and Team Saskatchewan, a tremendous honour that is viewed as a potential stepping stone to the international stage.

"It was very exciting to be selected for the gold and to have it at home was very special," Martin said on Hockey Manitoba's website. "My family was able to come out so that was nice. It's just very nice for my work to be recognized. It's a big deal for us officials to be selected for those games because there are a lot of girls that have to sit out on the final day and to have it broadcast on TSN is always a very neat experience."

Martin is a level IV official, transitioning to a Level V official. She currently officiates Canada U Sports, M-AAA and the Manitoba Women's Junior Hockey League. Martin has experience lining the 2015 and 2016 Female World Sport School Challenge gold-medal games, Women's U-18 Championship, and numerous finals including male Bantam AAA, male City Midget AAA and the MWJHL.

She has also lined for female U18 POE games, Midget and Bantam AAA Female Showcases and Hockey Manitoba's Director's Cup.

Martin was the recipient of the Kenneth R. Stiles Memorial Scholarship in 2014 and 2016. This was the fourth year Amy has officiated for the National Women's U-18 Championship.

Rams shut out Sabres in high school hockey

By Brian Bowman

The Stonewall Collegiate Rams earned a very nice shutout victory on Monday.

Stonewall was rock solid as they skated to a solid 4-0 road win over the Sanford Sabres in Winnipeg High School Hockey League action.

Jackson Kummén was perfect in goal to secure the win. Dasek Sobkow and Ryland Gard scored for the Rams. The other two Stonewall goal scorers could not be confirmed by press time because Rams' head coach Kyle Nixon was confident that there were mistakes made on the game sheet.

With the victory, the Rams improved their Winnipeg Free Press Division record to 2-7 on the season.

Last Wednesday, the Rams lost 7-4 to the Miles Macdonell Buckeyes in Stonewall.

Lucas Singh and Brody Stovin each had a goal and an assist for Stonewall while Adrian Klimpke and Dasek Sobkow also tallied.

The Rams' Rhett Woods had a game-high four assists.

Kahl Dewar (two), Aaron Nielson, Jordan Crawford, Jayden Lafleur, Dylan Goldsworthy and Nathan Turner scored for the Buckeyes.

Stonewall also lost 6-2 to the St. Paul's II Crusaders on Nov. 12 at the Bell MTS Iceplex.

Woods and Max McIvor scored Stonewall's goals late in the third period with the Rams trailing 6-0. Singh assisted on both of those goals.

Nicolas DeStefano (two), Jordan Guberman, Alex Stibbard, Ben Marana, and Jonah Norman tallied for St. Paul's.

The Rams will host the St. John's Ravenscourt Eagles on Friday at 3:45 p.m.. Stonewall will then play Pierre Elliott Trudeau on Monday at 4 p.m. at East End Arena.

U17 Prep, Bantam Lightning teams lose games

Staff

The Interlake Lightning gave the Winnipeg Wild in a real good battle in U17 Prep hockey in Warren on Saturday.

Winnipeg's Caden Ostermann scored a late first-period goal and then the Wild's Cole Younger and Dylan Moon tallied in the third for a 3-0 win.

Zach Meadows made 37 saves in the losing cause.

Last Thursday, the Lightning lost 9-2 to the Winnipeg Thrashers in Stonewall.

Evan Calder scored twice for the Interlake, including a power-play goal in the second period.

Josh Fast (three), Graham Maslow, Jayden Michaels, Nathan Lenoski, Dante Staples, Tanner Skrpnyk and Caden Zaplitney scored for the Thrashers.

Hayden Myskiw stopped 34 Thrashers' shots.

Interlake will play the Winnipeg Bruins on Saturday (5 p.m.) at the Notre Dame Arena.

The Lightning's next home game is Nov. 28 when they host the Eastman Selects in Stonewall. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

In Bantam AAA action, Interlake was defeated 7-3 by the Parkland Rangers in Roblin last Saturday.

Hayden Wheddon led the Lightning with two goals while Carter Boughton also tallied.

Brayden Dube (five) and Carter Zalischuk (two) scored for Parkland.

Interlake is back in action Saturday when it plays the Pembina Valley Hawks in Rosenort. Puck drop is 4 p.m.

Stonewall to host 2020 Women's Invitational national baseball tournament

By Brian Bowman

Stonewall has hosted many elite amateur baseball tournaments over the past few years.

And they will get another opportunity next July 2-5.

Stonewall's bid to host the 2020 Women's Invitational was accepted last week by Baseball Canada at their annual fall meeting in Quebec.

"We're super excited," said Gail Langlais, chairperson of the host committee, on Monday evening. "The host committee really enjoyed doing the two years (of hosting) U21 and we're really looking forward to further showcasing women's baseball in Manitoba."

The quality of baseball is very good as the players are a wide range in age. Teams, as many as eight, will be coming to Stonewall from all over Canada and our senior national women's team will be selected from this group of athletes. "They are the top women's players in Canada," Langlais noted. "We really hope the community comes out and supports this event."

Stonewall is very lucky to be able to host these national tournaments.

"I think it's great for the community, both Stonewall and Selkirk," Langlais said. "We house the athletes in Selkirk and have the games in Stonewall and it also provides our younger players an opportunity to see where they can go in women's baseball. We don't have a lot of teams. We have a provincial team and most of the girls play on boys' team throughout the year.

"Having it here in Manitoba, gives our younger, up-and-coming players a chance to come watch and see what they might aspire to one day."

In recent years, the Interlake has been very well represented with players on Team Manitoba. In fact, Langlais' daughter, Brittney, was a member of Canada's bronze-medal winning team that competed at a tournament in Mexico back in August.

Langlais also plays for the Manitoba Junior Baseball League's Interlake Blue Jays, which plays out of Fines Field at Quarry Park in Stonewall.

Fines Field is considered one of the top amateur ball diamonds (if not the best) in Manitoba.

"The facilities are amazing and they certainly attracted the eye of Baseball Canada," Langlais said. "When we were hosting U21 they said they were super pleased with the grounds and just the whole venue itself. They actually encouraged us at that time to apply for other national tournaments because the venue was so spectacular."

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

OBITUARY

Robert Charles Hunter

It is with great sadness that we announce Bob's peaceful passing on Thursday, November 14, 2019 after a short battle with cancer.

Robert Charles Hunter was born on September 1st, 1940 to Bea and Bob, in Winnipeg, Man. The eldest of seven sons, it amused him to tell people that they were, quite literally, "Sons of B's," quickly rattling off their names.....Bob, Barry, Brian, Bruce, Blair, Brent and Brad.

Dad's early childhood was spent amongst the women in his large extended family, as his father was away at war. He had many fond memories of time spent on the farm in Hamiota during this time. These early years, later sparked a lifelong interest in Dad and he became very fluent in discussing the history of the War Years. When his father returned from the war and life resumed, their family of four slowly grew to become a family of nine!

Dad attended Winnipeg schools, completing grade 11. At this time, his family moved to Atikokan and Dad stayed behind living with his Aunt Norma and Uncle Graham and their family for the next year.

He worked at Williams Pharmacy and after exploring his options, he decided to study to become a Chartered Accountant. It was while he was a student that he met the love of his life, Arline Patricia Fellowes, and they were married, May 28, 1960. As young as they were, it was a challenging time balancing work and study, but they stuck it out together. Their family grew in 1961 with the arrival of Kelly Lee and Scott Robert in 1963, who arrived on the night of Dad's graduation party!

Following graduation, Dad worked in a Public Accountancy Practice. He moved on to become a comptroller for Aronovitch and Leipsic and stayed there, enjoying his position for many years. Seeking a new challenge, he worked for Qualico for a number of years and then moved on to become the CAO for the law firm of Buchwald, Asper, Henteleff. Dad loved his business life and built himself a solid and respected reputation. If you ever had the opportunity to walk with him through the Portage and Main Concourse, you would be amazed at the consistent "Hi Bob" greetings as you walked!

Amongst his work for others, Dad ventured out on his own establishing, Sun Mortgage Corporation, where he was president and CEO. He eventually, transitioned to Sun full time and became very successful. When he sold the business to retire, it wasn't long before he started Solar Mortgage and he continued to dabble in that until very recently, while transitioning to its new owners. To say Dad loved to work would be an understatement as it really was a part of his being and something he truly loved.

Dad and Mom lived in Winnipeg for 18 years, residing in the Westwood area for most of those years. It was in 1978 in a shocking act of spontaneity; they suddenly decided to move to the country and settled on their acreage in Stonewall. They lived there for the next 40 years. Dad was very proud of his "little piece of Heaven" and spent his evenings and weekends mostly cutting acres and acres of grass, which he loved!! He loved the fact that his grandson Erik and his fiancée, Kaitlyn, bought the property, when he and Mom moved to town and will keep his dream in the family.

Dad's heritage was very important to him and he spent many hours searching records and often talking to relatives in search of information on both the Knight and Hunter family trees. He travelled to Scotland to experience the land that his Hunter grandparents came from, an opportunity he thoroughly enjoyed. He was always keen to share his findings with any family member that showed interest and even those who didn't. If you were really lucky, you got to see him in the kilt that he was so proud of, complete with a match set of knobby knees.

Dad had a vast amount of knowledge on many topics due to his love of reading. He seldom missed reading the daily paper and he preferred fact over fiction. History was his passion and he had an extensive knowledge of Winnipeg's history and thoroughly enjoyed an active discussion on the topic. Along with that, Dad was an avid Jets fan, having season's tickets from their beginning in 1972 until 1996. He had an encyclopedic knowledge of the Jets history and players and was always up for a discussion. He was excited when they returned to Winnipeg.

Dad's head for facts was sharp right up until the end. Visits from each of his brothers and some close friends over the last weeks included much reminiscing about their youth and many antics in life. Dad loved to talk and impart his wisdom to any willing listener. As his hearing failed, it was a source of amusement to watch him corner someone new, one on one, to talk. The difficulty was that he could talk for hours on end and many a polite soul would need to be rescued!

Over the years, Dad opted to share his knowledge and contribute to his community by serving on the United Church Board and recently, Seniors Resource. He belonged to Toastmasters for many years, perfecting his craft as a public speaker. It was time well spent as Dad was often asked to be a spokesperson or behalf of others in his various roles.

His proudest contribution, however, was his active membership in Masons, following in the footsteps of his parents and brother, Brent. Dad belonged to Stonewall Masonic Lodge, serving in many different positions including Master. He enjoyed the fellowship of his "brother" masons, and was well versed in its community and service.

The shining stars in Dad's life were his grandchildren. One granddaughter and four grandsons brought a constant sense of pride and amusement. He loved to take them for rides on his tractor, watch their various sports and activities, and especially enjoyed his role as "Santa," responsible for handing out all the gifts on Christmas Days.

He was especially proud when he became a GREAT grandfather last year with the birth of his great-grandson, Ace, followed this past August by his great-granddaughter, Eva.

Dad is survived by his loving and patient wife of 59 years, Arline; daughter, Kelly (Robyn); son, Scott; grandchildren, Kaitlyn (Kelsey), Erik (Kaitlyn), Chase, Alex, and Ian; great-grandchildren, Edward Ace and Eva Jean. A large extended family, friends and colleagues, too many to mention, will keep his memory alive.

In accordance with his wishes, everyone is invited to raise a glass with us in Dad's honour during a celebration of life on Friday, November 22nd, 2019 at the Heritage Arts Centre - #166 Main Street, Stonewall, MB. at 4:00 p.m.

In lieu of flowers, we would prefer that you please make a donation to Palliative Care in Stonewall. Our family would like to thank Dr. Graham and all the Angels at Stonewall Hospital and Palliative Care who were involved in Dad's care this past week. Your kind and compassionate care will be remembered and was appreciated beyond words.

If there's another world, he lives in bliss;
If there is none, he made the best of this.

OBITUARY

James Ian McIvor
May 17, 1966 to November 14, 2019

It is with heavy hearts that we say good bye to my brother Jim, who passed away suddenly and unexpectedly at the age of 53.

Survived by Leanne (sister), Derrick and Ayden (who will cherish his memories of his travels with you to Florida and talking about hockey). As well, he will be missed by his aunts, uncles, cousins, family friends and friends that he made while living in Selkirk.

He is reunited with his parents who have predeceased him, Ian (2007) and Marjorie (2013).

Jim was raised in Stony Mountain where he attended Elementary School and then graduated from Stonewall Collegiate in 1984. Since he was a young boy, he had a passion for downhill skiing and would be at the ski hill every chance he could.

A service will be held in the spring for family and friends.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to the Selkirk Support Center, 242 Manitoba Ave, Selkirk, MB, R1A 0Y5.

"Gone from our sight but never from our hearts".

OBITUARY

Gerald Francis Martin

Gerald Francis Martin, a good man loved by all, and not a bad golfer, of Gimli, Manitoba passed away peacefully on November 9th in his room at the Betel Care Home in Gimli, Manitoba. Gerald was born on January 14th of 1926 in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Gerald was predeceased by his wife Mary Irene Martin (nee Arseneault) in March of 2002 and his son, Michael David Martin, also of Gimli, who passed away in May of 2015.

Gerald is survived by his six sons Ronald (Joy), Donald, Barry (Margaret), Gerald (Heather), Kenneth (Lyndi) and Kevin; also his three sisters Anne, Elaine and Muriel of Nova Scotia. Gerald and Mary's grandchildren are Allison, Dylan and Anica, son and daughters of Michael and Shanon; Amy and Andrew, son and daughter of Gerald Jr. and Heather Martin; Dustin, son of Kenneth Martin; and one great-grandchild, Derek Junior, son of Allison and Derek.

Gerald will have his ashes interred beside his wife Mary at the Gimli Cemetery.

The family would like to thank all the staff at the Betel Care Home for the very excellent care and companionship that they so wonderfully bestowed upon our father in his last years. We are so fortunate to have been able to place him into your caring hands. Thank you from all of us.

Celebration of Gerald Francis Martin's life at the Gimli Legion on November 30th from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

OBITUARY

Margaret Eunice McLeod
1938 - 2019

It is with great sadness that we announce the passing of Margaret "Eunice" (Gall) McLeod of High River, AB on November 9, 2019.

Eunice will be eminently missed by her son Brian Pearson of Teulon, MB and his children Jesse (Vanessa) Pearson, Bri-Anne Pearson (Jordon Mikula) and Jordon Pearson and her daughter Charlene (Pearson) Costello of Charlottetown, PEI and her children Ian Costello (Ricky Rodrigues) and Cayley Costello (Ben Cudmore). Eunice will be fondly remembered by her great-grandchildren Brody, Grayson and Aubrey, dearest family friends Lorie and Ed Schmidt of High River, her sister-in-law Jean (Dudgeon) Gall of Melita, MB and numerous nieces and nephews.

Predeceased by her first husband (father of Brian and Charlene) Art Pearson, second husband Dallas "Joe" McLeod and brother Charles Gall.

Eunice was born in Turtle Mountain, MB on March 31, 1938 to the late Winnifred (Swinn) and David Gall. She attended school in Portage la Prairie and Teulon MB where she met and married Art.

Eunice worked outside the home throughout her life, in her years in the Teulon area as a manager at the Teulon Hosiery Mill, a bookkeeper for the Massey Ferguson dealer and then owned Pearson's Service. Upon moving to High River, Eunice worked for many years at Eamor's Saddlery where she met and married Dallas, and Cooney's Transfer before retirement.

A private family burial will take place at the Highwood Cemetery. A Celebration of life was held on Saturday November 16, 2019 12:30 - 3:30 in the Heartland room at Season's Retirement 660 7th Street NW, High River.

In lieu of flowers, donations to the STARS Air Ambulance 1441 Aviation Park NE, Box 570, Calgary, AB, T2E 8M7 or a charity of your choice are greatly appreciated.

OBITUARY

Kelvin (Kev) Bernard Baldwin

It is with sadness that we announce the passing of our beloved husband, father, grandfather and great-grandpa on the morning of Tuesday, November 12, peacefully at home with his loving wife of 66 years and family by his side.

Dad was born on February 25, 1933, the 13th of 14 children to Joseph and Agnes Baldwin. He grew up in a happy, musical family on a farm just north of Warren. When Dad was 18 he enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force. He was sent to St. John, Que. for basic training and then to Aylmer, Ont., where he stood honour guard for Princess Elizabeth's Canadian visit, before being posted to Portage la Prairie. It was during this time that he began courting Donna Harris from Grosse Isle. They fell in love and married on September 12, 1953. Their first child, Emily Dean, was born in 1956. Shortly after, Dad was given an overseas posting to 2

Wing in northern France, and so began the adventure of a lifetime! They made the most of the opportunity and toured much of Europe while abroad, providing wonderful memories and stories of their travels. Many special lifelong friendships were forged during their years overseas. While in France, a second daughter, Kelly Dawn, was born in 1959. They returned to Winnipeg in the spring of 1961 and took up residence in 17 Wing married quarters, living first in a two-bedroom unit, then moving to a three-bedroom unit as their family grew. Again, more dear friends were made that would span a lifetime; in particular the Martin family. James Curtis was born in 1962 and Colleen Louise in 1964. In 1967, Mom and Dad bought five acres from Uncle Ken and Auntie Doris Moore, three miles north of Grosse Isle, on which they built their dream home. They designed the home themselves and with the help of family and friends, their dream became reality. That would remain our family home for the next 49 years. In the early years that small acreage was a hobby farm with a pony and colt, a milk cow and calf, a couple pigs, chickens and ducks, and of course a vegetable garden. Gradually over the years, with Mom's green thumb and their combined hard work, the yard was transformed into a park-like setting of trees, shrubs and flower beds. Countless family reunions, music nights and parties were held there by the consummate hosts. The Moore family became close friends and many happy times were spent with them during those years.

After 20 years of service, Dad retired from the Air Force in 1972 and began a second career with the Provincial Government at Red River Community College; working there until his second retirement at the age of 59. Dad took full advantage of his new found free time and threw himself into golf with zeal. A regular at the South Interlake G & CC, he played from early spring until late fall. He was never very interested in trying other courses, because for him the enjoyment was as much about the camaraderie as the sport, though his score did steadily improve into his early 80's. So often he could barely tell the golfing stories involving the Nichols, brothers Bob and Wib and other buddies, as he'd be laughing too hard to get the words out.

In 2016, a small house was built in Kelly and Garry's yard in Warren and Mom and Dad became town dwellers. They immediately put up bird feeders and planted flowers, making it their new home.

Music would remain Dad's most unwavering passion that he shared with family, especially brother Bob and nephews Rob and Lyle, and numerous musical friends and acquaintances throughout his life.

Despite his small stature, Dad had a remarkably healthy appetite and enjoyed his food. On the very rare occasion when he was served a dish that he didn't care for, his standard remark, if asked, would be, "It wasn't bad, but I wouldn't want to eat it everyday". He also could not abide wastefulness of any kind. We often joked that he cleaned his plate off better than the dog did.

Dad had a wonderful sense of humour, always enjoyed a good joke, and possessed an uncanny memory so he could retell them when the occasion arose. A constant throughout Dad's life was the importance of friends and family. It has been said that "A man's friendships are one of the best measures of his worth." If that is true, Dad was rich beyond measure.

Dad was predeceased by brothers Ron and wife Marion, Keith and wife Jessie, Wilbert, Lylal; sisters Olive and husband Frank Thornton, Louise and husband Ross Gould, Noreen and husband Jack Campbell, Opal and husband Ross Langrell, and brother-in-law Don Allen.

Left to cherish his memory are his wife Donna; son Jim; daughters Emily and husband Rick Stroppa, Kelly and husband Garry Eyford, Colleen and partner Gordon Henderson; daughter-in-law Sherri Baldwin; grandchildren Jordan and wife Mandy Nykolaishen, Ria Stroppa and husband Chris Haus, Mason Stroppa (Ashley Hansen), Kevin Nykolaishen (Alyssa Pratt), Murphy Stroppa, Wyatt Eyford (Meghan Oliver), Nick Baldwin, Julia Baldwin, Toby Henderson and great-grandchildren Lelaina and Liam Nykolaishen; brothers Cam and wife Eleanor, Gary; sister Reta Allen; in-laws Jim and Helen Harris, Carol and Dan Nichol, George and Barb Harris and Vernon Jones, as well as numerous nieces and nephews who were all very special to him.

It was Dad's wish that there not be a funeral service. We can all take comfort knowing he is at peace.
