Submitted by Jim Duncan, Balmoral

The annual Balmoral Christmas Bird Count ran for the 60th time on Dec. 17. Freezing cold temperatures and blowing snow up to 60 km per hour may have slowed down but did not stop the birds or the bird watchers counting them. One volunteer stated that this was their best count despite being stuck in a snow drift for two hours as they later saw a northern shrike, a bird they had never seen before. Two other volunteers skied over three km for an hour and only saw one bird – but it was a big one - the only great horned owl seen on the count. Many others marvelled at the ability of more common birds to survive our beautiful but challenging winters while congregating at seedfilled feeders.

Some of you might ask why bother counting birds at all? I think most participants would agree a top reason is that it is a fun activity to do with family and friends, and we all need more of that coming out of the pandemic. Another reason is that birds (and all wild plants and animals) need our help more than ever to conserve their populations and habitats. Most wildlife research occurs during the breeding season. The Christmas Bird Count is one way to get data on how winter bird populations change over time, contributing to a scientific foundation on how best to conserve them. Some birds, like the beautiful Snowy Owl, may be sensitive to the effects of weather and climate change. An example of an irregularly detected species is the White-breasted Nut Hatch on the Balmoral count.

The White-breasted Nut Hatch numbers fluctuate from year to year.

A total of 1,416 birds of 24 species were counted (down from last year's count of 2,129 birds of 27 species), including 810 Snow Buntings, 126 Black-capped Chickadees, 94 Common Ravens, 53 Common Redpolls, 52 Bohemian Waxwings, 48 Blue Jays, 40 House Sparrows, 39 American Goldfinches, 30 unidentified Redpolls, 25 Black-billed Magpies, 23 White-breasted Nuthatches,

The charismatic snowy owl can be surprising hard to find when perched on the ground.

18 Downy Woodpeckers, 14 Hairy Woodpeckers, 9 Red-breasted Nuthatches, 7 European Starlings, 6 Pine Siskins, 6 Bald Eagles, 5 Dark-eyed Juncos, 3 Northern Shrikes, 2 Ruffed Grouse, 2 Snowy Owls, 2 Pigeons, 1 Great Horned Owl, and 1 Immature Tundra Swan. In addition, three days before and after the count day, these additional birds were seen: 3 Evening Grosbeaks, 1 American Robin, 1 Barred Owl, and 1 Sharp-tailed Grouse.

Thanks to many volunteers, the data for this and all the other counts across North America is available to anyone https://www.audubon.org/ here: conservation/science/christmasbird-count

Please note that my wife Patsy and I welcome all winter sightings of Great Gray Owls, Barred Owls and Northern Hawk Owls, which we catch and band as part of our research. Please share your observations of these owls with us at owlfamily@mts.net or text or call 204-404-7063.

The Stonewall Teulon Tribune Thursday, January 5, 2023 3 Rural Manitoba hemorrhaging paramedics

By Patricia Barrett

The Manitoba Association of Health Care Professionals (MAHCP) says rural Manitoba is hemorrhaging paramedics as the provincial government continues to fail to address pay gaps, career advancement and persistent understaffing that's causing burnout.

And the thought of losing emergency medical services is "very frightening" for the people who live in rural communities.

MAHCP is a union representing over 7,000 allied health professionals across Manitoba, including rural paramedics and medical laboratory staff.

MAHCP president Jason Linklater said the pay received by rural paramedics, which are managed by the provincial government, is currently 23 per cent lower than that of Winnipeg paramedics, which are managed by the city. And rural paramedics haven't been given a contract for five years.

"At the end of the day, rural paramedics need parity with Winnipeg paramedics otherwise the rural areas will continue to hemorrhage paramedics. We know rural paramedics are actively applying to the city, and Winnipeg is going to be hiring 40 paramedics. My guess is they'll be coming from the rural areas," said Linklater last week. "This impacts people's loved ones and themselves. When you have an emergency, you need someone to come to that emergency. Paramedics aren't coming because there aren't enough. For the province to ignore this is the definition of a crisis."

The Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority currently has a paramedic vacancy rate of 32 per cent and it's "growing," said Linklater. That vacancy rate doesn't factor in vacation and illness.

On Dec. 10, Interlake-Eastern found itself down 10 out of 25 ambulances, with only three out of nine dispatchers in the Medical Transportation Coordination Centre in Brandon. On Nov. 30, there were only five out of 15 ambulances in Prairie Mountain RHA's north zone.

To deal with the immediate paramedic crisis, Linklater said the provincial government needs to focus on retention rather than recruitment because recruitment doesn't address reasons for the exodus.

"The biggest part of why the government can't hang on to paramedics right now is simply that it has left them without a contract for five years," he said. "The government make announcements and promises, but it leaves people without a contract, so, of course, you can't retain people. And it talks about recruiting – which is crazy when you can't retain people. Rural paramedics are actively trying to leave because of the situation they work in and the level of pay they get."

Rural paramedics are sometimes spending half their paycheque on fuel to drive to stations. And they're "completely burnt out" with "nothing left" to give because of chronic understaffing, he said. A higher paying, better staffed paramedic job in the city is alluring even though they might not necessarily want to live there.

Rural paramedics, who are classed as primary care paramedics (PCPs), want to enhance their life-saving skills and move up into an advanced care paramedic (ACP) position. But the government won't allow ACP positions in rural Manitoba.

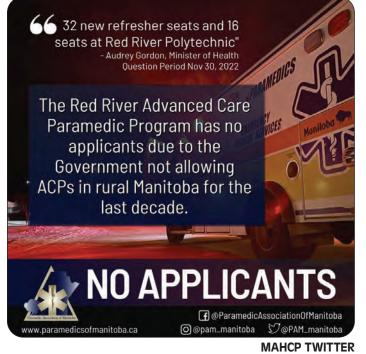

Because of that, Linklater said he wasn't surprised to see zero enrollment in an ACP course offered through Red River College.

"The city of Winnipeg has made a commitment to have an ACP on every ambulance – that's what they're working towards right now. Winnipeg does its own ACP training so the program at Red River would be taken only by people coming from the rural areas. Once rural paramedics completed that course, there'd be no jobs for them to go to because there are no ACP positions in rural Manitoba," said Linklater. "It almost sounds like a trick; the government says it's funding a course to benefit patient care ... but it's not funding those people to do the actual work. That's pretty disingenuous in my opinion."

PCPs provide basic life support, stabilize injuries, administer certain medications and undertake cardiac monitoring. ACPs provide advanced life support, interpret diagnostic tests and can administer more medications. Linklater said advanced training could help free up doctors in the rural area.

"Having an ACP on ambulances in rural areas makes a huge difference in terms of outcome," he said. "Even in rural areas, PCPs perform a significantly higher scope than PCPs in Winnipeg. They have a 75 per cent greater number of meds they can give. And instead of having a physician and a nurse doing a patient transfer, you can have an ACP and a nurse and utilize your rural physician differently."

In addition to paramedics, MAHCP says the government has failed to invest in laboratory and X-ray staff, which is contributing to rural emergency room service interruptions. Eriksdale hospital's ER, for instance, is closed for December because of what the government said is a staffing issue in the laboratory.

Two medical laboratory assistants (MLAs) are being trained for the Eriksdale hospital lab right now, according to the govern-

More Manitobans die from COVID mid-December; RSV outbreak in Stonewall PCH

By Patricia Barrett

A significant number of Manitobans succumbed to COVID in mid-December, and Canada's top doctor is urging Canadians to take precautions over the winter from several respiratory viruses currently circulating.

There were 26 more deaths from COVID, according to the provincial government's weekly respiratory surveillance report for the period Dec. 11 -17 (Week 50).

There were 50 new hospitalizations for COVID of which 12 people were admitted to the intensive care unit. There were 59 hospitalizations with 15 ICU admissions reported the previous week.

There were 158 new COVID infections reported in Week 50. Provincial data are an undercount as the government restricts PCR testing and rapid antigen tests aren't tracked. There were 154 new cases reported the previous week.

The government stopped providing in its surveillance reports the names of personal care homes and hospitals experiencing COVID outbreaks.

There has been a total of 2,331 deaths from COVID in Manitoba as of Dec. 17, according to the federal government's COVID webpage. Across Canada 48,948 people have died so far.

There were 294 new cases of influenza A and zero cases of influenza B reported in Week 50 in Manitoba, as well as 48 new hospitalisations and 15 more deaths. There were 231 influenza A cases reported the previous week.

There has been a total of 2,206 cases of influenza A so far this season, with 478 hospitalizations and 37 deaths.

The number of respiratory syncytial virus (RSV) cases shot up in Week 50 with 120 new detections. There were 82 detections reported the previous PHAC advises Canadians to stay up to date on vaccinations, stay home when feeling sick, wear a face mask in indoor public settings, improve indoor ventilation and practise good hand hygiene.

The provincial government did not release a respiratory surveillance report on Dec 30. Its next report is scheduled for Jan. 6.

Other health news:

The Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority reported an RSV outbreak at Stonewall's Rosewood Personal Care Home (Shura Lane) on Dec. 22.

COVID outbreaks that the IERHA reported on Nov. 4 at the Selkirk Betel Personal Care Home, on Dec. 7 at Pinawa hospital, and on Dec 13 in the Rosewood Lodge Personal Care Home (Appleyard Bay) continue as of Dec. 24, according to its outbreak webpage.

-Canada's chief public health officer Dr. Theresa Tam said health care systems across the country continue to be "burdened" by the spread of respiratory viruses, and she urged people to wear a well fitted and well constructed face mask in indoor public spaces or crowded settings over the holiday season.

-The World Health Organization said worldwide more than 3.7 million new cases of COVID were reported over the period Dec. 12-18, as well as over 10,400 new deaths, according to its weekly epidemiology update.

The region of the Americas (Canada, the U.S. and Central and South America) has the highest numbers of new deaths over the past reporting period. At the country level, Canada (250 deaths), the U.S. (2,658 deaths) and Brazil (1,133 deaths) have reported the highest numbers of new deaths. The region also has the highest number of cumulative deaths.

There have been more than 649 million cases of COVID and over 6.6 million deaths reported.

The WHO says omicron's BA.5 and descendant lineages continues to dominate globally. Six variants -BQ.1, BA.5 with mutations, BA2.75, XBB, BA4.6 and BA2.30.2 – are being monitored.

Laws need to change to adapt to new face of violence

The news from across the country and the violence is alarming. Police say that the 8 teenage girls who murdered a vulnerable man in Toronto, met over social media. As information becomes public knowledge we must ask ourselves why and what happened in their lives that created the mindset to think violence was something they wanted to do, to target, hunting a vulnerable person. Is this the definition of second-degree murder?

From my perspective this cold-blooded calculated attack of a vulnerable person is exactly like the recent tactics of serial killer Jeremy Skibicki in Winnipeg. He was also hunting for vulnerable people, Indigenous women at homeless shelters. What did the parents know about their own teenage children, what they were planning? This is not just a one time event, it is happening too often for leaders and government to act now.

There has to be serious consequences for this type of methodical cold-blooded murder including raising the ring leaders to adult court. The practice of hiding the identities of 'near adults' is out dated and a carry-over from a time when we had much less violent crime and serves little purpose in today's society.

If the creators of social media are so skilled at using algorithms to detect patterns for the purpose of profit then they should be able to create algorithms to protect the public from potential violent criminals who meet online, or threaten people on line such the Toronto condo mass murder. I ask, how much longer, how many more victims before laws catch up. The general public are feeling that the police and the courts can longer protect them. Both the gun man in Vancouver who killed Stephanie Foster and recently in Toronto (condo) both had multiple restraining orders against them. Clearly our police need more resources and, our laws need to change to adapt to the new face of violence.

worship with us > FAITH Jesus Is With Us

The early days of January can often be filled with great expectations and anticipation for the upcoming year. Sometimes we have great intentions to implement new habits and healthy choices as we begin a new year. For others, of which I am one, we continue carrying on without another thought to New Year's resolutions. I've tried New Year's resolutions once or twice but never made it past the first few days of January. Is there anything wrong with making New Year's resolutions? Absolutely not. However, for some it just doesn't seem to work. As we start a new year let's consider this Bible verse from Joshua 1:9 which says, "Be strong and courageous! Do not be afraid or discouraged. For the Lord your God is with you wherever you go." Whether we successfully implement any New Year's resolutions or not, we have no idea what the coming weeks or months might hold for us. These words from Joshua to the Israelites are a great reminder for us as we begin a new year; don't be afraid or discouraged, because God is with us.

For my family, 2022 was a year filled with unexpected twists and turns that I couldn't see coming even if I'd even thought to try. Like many, we experienced stressful challenges and celebratory family milestones. Throughout the year I was repeatedly reminded of the Lord's presence and strength in the midst of the many hills and valleys we walked through. Perhaps you had a year like that too. One of the names of Jesus is Immanuel which means God is with us. Whether we are dealing with difficult people or challenging situations and circumstances, it's so reassuring to know the Lord is always with us. As we look forward to the year ahead, let's remember Jesus is always with us, and He is enough for whatever the day (and year) holds.

6 The Stonewall Teulon Tribune Thursday, January 5, 2023 Warm wishes for the new year from Lakeside MLA

By Jennifer McFee

Lakeside MLA Ralph Eichler welcomes 2023 as a year of transition.

After two decades of serving as the provincial representative, he will retire from his role in October.

"I will have had the privilege of serving the people of Lakeside for 20 years and four months," he said. "That's two generations. It's pretty exciting."

Until then, the long-standing MLA has no plans to slow down.

When he reflects on 2022, he's heartened by the economic regeneration after a long span of pandemic-related hurdles.

"Businesses have been able to open up and create economic growth," he said.

"We've been able to get people back to work, so I'd say that's a success."

At the same time, he welcomes the influx of Ukrainian newcomers to local communities.

"We had an initial goal of 3,500 people, and we're nearing the 10,000 population now. I look at it as a win-win for Manitoba," he said.

"And, of course, a large part of my constituency is the Ukrainian population. We're happy to have them be a part of our riding and a part of our province. We certainly look forward to working with them as they create a new path in life."

In addition, Eichler is pleased with a recent $40-million investment in servicing infrastructure at CentrePort to support expansion and future development. The City of Winnipeg and Province of Manitoba each contributed $20 million, and Eichler hopes the federal government will add the remaining $20 million toward the estimated $60-million water and sewer project.

"That's going to create jobs and economic growth within the province. I see that as a real success for us going forward," he said.

"As well, the people in Lakeside will have those opportunities to grow and prosper."

Marking a personal high note for Eichler, he's inspired by the response to a Harley Davidson motorcycle he donated to the Interlake Community Foundation for a raffle fundraiser.

"I'd like to thank people for all the support they gave to the Interlake Community Foundation," he said. "It all stays local, so it benefits our community."

While there are many successes to celebrate, this past year also brought its share of challenges — including plenty of snow and rain doled out by Mother Nature.

"I never burned through so much gas in my snowblower in my life. Then along came the wet spring and wet summer. We had floods in some communities. It devastated our provincial gravel roads and a lot of the paved roads as well. So that was a real challenge for us," he said.

"I'm hoping to see many of those repaired and brought up to standard so people feel safe travelling on those roads. If we get them in good shape, then in the summer of 2023, drivers won't have to go through all the ruts and hardships that they did this year. It was a real struggle for people to try to get products in and out, as well as for emergency services that rely on those roads to look after folks."

He also acknowledged the difficulty some employers are having in the competitive job market to fill vacant positions.

"It seems like today people are job-hopping left and right because they're having employers approach them with work," he said.

"It's created a real challenge in the workplace for people to have that continuum because training people is very expensive. Every time you start something new, it's a challenge — not only for the employee but for the employers too."

Looking ahead in 2023, Eichler expects to see a new processing plant open in CentrePort.

"I'm really excited for our farm families to be able to have another market. It will be a new product that's going to be mainly for export and will bring money from outside the province," he said.

"I see it going forward in 2023 in probably September or October. It's moving along really well."

The long-standing MLA also offers some goals and reflections for the new year.

"We've laid the base, and now we need to continue to grow the economy so our kids and grandkids will be able to stay in Manitoba. It's important to me to have good-paying jobs here in Manitoba so we can create opportunities to work and stay here at home. That's always been my drive,"

Lakeside MLA Ralph Eichler

he said.

"Also, I see our health-care system starting to get straightened out. We're seeing more and more doctors who graduated in Manitoba staying in Manitoba, including some that are coming to the Interlake. I see our health care getting stronger and stronger as we try to get rid of that backlog."

In addition, he shares some warm wishes for Lakeside residents at the start of this new year.

"I want to wish everybody the best of the season. Hopefully we don't get too much snow and hopefully we have a good year," he said.

"When farmers have a good year, Manitobans have a good year because we're all connected."

Fundraiser for Wes Kilberry

Staff

Friends and family of Balmoral-based Wes Kilberry are organizing a fundraiser to help him and his wife, J'aime, with health-care expenses.

Wes was recently diagnosed with a fast-spreading cancer, stage 4 nonsmall cell lung cancer. The diagnosis came as a shock as Wes is very active, said Amy Spruyt, who is helping organize the event.

"He has endured radiation and has started a target therapy drug," said Spruyt. "The fundraiser would help with lost wages as J'aime will be taking a leave of absence to care for him, and to help with quality of life and to pursue future treatments or clinical trials, wherever that may be."

Wes was born and raised in Teulon and was involved with school and community sports. He worked at a number of jobs including at Oak Hammock Marsh and Stonewall Collegiate before starting with Manitoba Hydro. He married J'aime Legault from Stonewall and they moved to Balmoral where they've lived for almost 16 years with their kids Tamsen (10) and Easton (14).

"Wes has been very involved in the community coaching hockey since he was 17 years old with his dad in Teulon. He has coached various levels of hockey and baseball in the past, coached girls high school hockey, the Winnipeg royals AAA summer hockey program and instructed at the Canadian professional hockey school for seven years. Wes coached the AAA Interlake orioles for the past three years," said Spruyt. "Since his kids started sports at the age of five, Wes has been coaching both Tamsen and Easton in hockey and baseball."

Wes was past president of Stonewall Minor Hockey, the representative on the Interlake Minor Hockey Association and is currently the vice president of the Balmoral Minor Baseball Board, chief referee of the Stonewall Minor Hockey Board, and vice president of high performance for Interlake Minor Baseball.

MP James Bezan shares reflections for the new year

By Jennifer McFee

As we embark on a new year, there's much to reflect on for our local member of Parliament.

James Bezan, MP for Selkirk-Interlake-Eastman, shared a few musings about the past year. "This was a year of some turmoil, especially because of the Russian war in Ukraine," he said. "I've been very involved in pressuring the government to supply more weapons and aid to Ukraine so they have a fighting chance of winning this war." On a professional front, Bezan filled multiple roles throughout 2022.

"At the start of the year, I was in the position of deputy whip with Erin O'Toole. We went through some leadership challenges, but it was great to see Pierre Poilievre elected as our leader and I cochaired his Manitoba campaign," he said.

"I did a stint as the shadow minister for ethics and one of my complaints that I took to the ethics commissioner recently came to fruition. Additionally, I was very excited to have Pierre Poilievre appointed me as the shadow minister for national defence again. I'm glad to be back in the role after taking some time off."

Looking ahead, Bezan shared some issues on his radar for the upcoming year.

"One of the things I'm looking forward to in 2023 is fighting for the members of the Canadian Armed Forces, making sure the morale issue that we're dealing with is addressed," he said.

"We need to make sure it's inclusive and respectful and that people are protected in the work environment. We also need to get our military equipment bought and delivered a lot faster than what's been happening."

Locally, he said residents in his riding have expressed concern about the cost of living and inflation. Other top-of-mind topics include the carbon tax, fertilizer tariffs and firearms legislation.

"One of the things that I've also been working on is upgrades to the Lockport bridge. I want to make sure that it stays as a tourist destination as well as a very safe and functional bridge over the Red River that will be there for generations to come," Bezan said.

"We've got to also concentrate on tackling rural crime. I'm hearing that more and more, so one of my resolutions is to work with our shadow minister for public safety, Raquel Dancho, and making sure that we have adequate resources for the RCMP. As well, I'll continue to be engaged with local communities."

The IERHA reached out to the Express after the story was published to say that diagnostic jobs for its region are not found on its job website, but on provincial Shared Health's job website. Shared Health is responsible for overseeing the delivery of diagnostic services across Manitoba and is, therefore, the employer.

The IERHA said there were two "medical laboratory technologist" (MLT) positions posted on Shared Health's job website but didn't say how many laboratory assistant (MLA) positions were posted. Lab technologists undergo lengthier training programs, have greater lab responsibilities and earn higher salaries than lab assistants.

The "quick scan" was conducted in response to the possibility that a laboratory assistant (MLA) course will be offered in Arborg. In the story referenced above, Shared Health was asked how many MLAs need to be hired for the IERHA; it would not specify MLA workforce numbers, only that a need for them is "fluid." It would also not say how many people had so far registered for the MLA course that might take place in February.

> PARAMDICS, FROM PG. 3 ment, and the ER is expected to open in the new year once that training is completed.

But Linklater said MLAs, theoretically, won't keep a hospital ER up and running because they don't have the same level of training as medical laboratory technicians (MLTs).

"MAHCP's view is that training MLAs will not result in the opening of the Eriksdale ER unless specific lab tests – done by MLTs – or X-rays can be performed," he said.

Linklater said he heard the government has "a plan" to address the paramedic crisis, but it has "never" reached out to MAHCP to discuss how to work together.

"This is absolutely province-wide. The level of neglect towards rural paramedics is quite astounding. The city of Winnipeg has done a great job retaining its paramedics. The province has done the exact opposite; it has completely neglected the program. It's all about money," he said. "The 2013 report that talked about how to improve the paramedic service in Manitoba has not been followed through on and none of those promises have been kept. Unfortunately, patients and the public are paying for this. It's beyond upsetting for the families and individuals impacted. To some degree, it feels like a denial of service."

A spokesperson for provincial Shared Health, which manages rural paramedics, said the IERHA's current vacancy rate for paramedics is 24 per cent, as of Nov. 30, 2022 [a lower vacancy rate than that provided by MAHCP].

When asked why the province won't offer ACP positions in rural health regions, the spokesperson said:

"There are currently no advanced care paramedics practicing at this level within Shared Health ERS [emergency response service]. As part of Manitoba's ongoing health transformation, work is ongoing on how best to incorporate ACPs to leverage their full scope of practice, knowledge and skills in a manner that contributes to a better functioning Emergency Response Service and supports ongoing competency maintenance. In order for any changes in this area to be met with success, development of a robust provincial ERS quality assurance program and supporting practice infrastructure for ACPs is required."

As to specific steps being taken at present to stop paramedics from leaving rural areas, the spokesperson said Shared Health is committed to addressing historical staffing challenges and that negotiation are currently underway for a new collective agreement with MAHCP.

"These negotiations have not been completed. Consistent with all collective bargaining, Shared Health (as the employer) remains focused on reaching a fair, long-term agreement," said the spokesperson. "Other discussions focus on supports to ensure paramedics have the opportunity to continue learning and advancing in their careers. This work will continue, with the expectation that building and strengthening the service will generate greater interest in future intakes for Shared Health ERS."

The Express also reached out to Shared Health to confirm that the staff being trained for the Eriksdale hospital lab are MLAs and if they're going to be able to provide X-rays and other specific labs tests traditionally done by higher scope lab technicians.

"As part of Shared Health's commitment to restoring laboratory capacity in Eriksdale, two employees at E.M. Crowe Memorial Hospital are currently being trained to work as medical laboratory assistants," said a spokesperson. "Once trained, these employees will be able to support lab operations at the Eriksdale hospital within the scope of their training and classification. These positions are separate from the cross-trained medical laboratory technologists currently on leave and expected to return in 2023."

How to prevent food poisoning in birds

Unfortunately, it's not uncommon for birds to get food poisoning. In many cases, it can be fatal. Here's how you can prevent your feathered friend from getting sick.

Prevention

Many human foods are dangerous to birds. Giving your bird a sip of coffee, a piece of chocolate or a potato chip can be harmful. Certain plants like onions and avocados may seem harmless but should not be in your bird's diet. You should only feed your bird foods recommended by your veterinarian. Remove uneaten food from your pet's cage regularly to prevent mould and bacteria growth.

Do you let your bird fly freely around the house? If so, never leave any potentially harmful food within reach. Your home may be full of hazards, including cleaning products and toxic houseplants.

Finally, many birds use cage accessories like toys and perches to sharpen their beaks or relieve boredom. Make sure these items consist of safe materials.

Symptoms

Despite your best efforts, your bird may swallow a harmful substance. Here are some of the symptoms associated with food poisoning:

- Loss of appetite
- Shivering
- Convulsions
- Fluffed up feathers
- Lethargy
- Vomiting or diarrhea
- Rapid, laboured breathing

If your bird's behaviour changes suddenly, consult your veterinarian immediately.

Vigfusson the points leader at the holiday break

By Brian Bowman

There are a lot of very good offensive players in the Manitoba U18 AAA Hockey League.

But right now the scoring leader is an Interlake Lightning.

Lightning forward Adam Vigfusson leads the league with 42 points on 19 goals and 23 assists in 29 games at the holiday break.

He is one point ahead of the Winnipeg Bruins' Nathan Brown and the Yellowhead Chiefs' Bryce Brvant.

Vigfusson has had a great first half of the season.

"It's been a lot of fun," said Vigfusson last Satur-day. "The boys are tight this year and I'm looking forward to getting back out there."

Vigfusson has been playing on a line with Joel MacMillan and Ian Buors. The trio has produced 93 points this season.

there," Vigfusson said. "It's a lot of fun playing with him and I've been playing with him for about three or four years now so we've built up some chemistry together. It's been working, I guess."

Vigfusson had an opportunity to make his Mani-

"It was a good experience, for sure," he said. "We did lose, unfortunately, but it was a good experience. It was good to kind of get my feet wet. It was pretty cool."

Niverville's lineup includes Stonewall's Chris Fines and Hayden Wheddon and Argyle's Brett Tatarvn.

"Those guys are really nice guys," Vigfusson said. "It was nice to have that Interlake connection over there."

Vigfusson, 17, is a play-making forward that can put the puck in the net. The Gimli product is a big reason why the Lightning are 11-16-0-2 and in the running for a playoff spot.

"It's crunch time, we got to go, the standings are pretty close and we're heading up to Souris pretty soon," Vigfusson said. "Those are four big points and if we can get them then we're in the hunt for the playoffs. We're looking forward to it."

Interlake will play the Southwest Cougars this Saturday (7:30 p.m.) and Sunday (1:30 p.m.).

The Lightning's next home game is Jan. 14 when they host the Kenora Thistles. Puck drop is 7:30 p.m.

U17 AAA Lightning lose to Thrashers

Staff

The Interlake Lightning U17 AAA hockey team ended 2022 with a 5-1 road loss to the Winnipeg Thrashers on Dec. 23.

Dainen Jacobson scored a first-period goal for Interlake, assisted by Tytan Johnson.

Winnipeg, which built period leads of 3-1 and 4-1, received goals from Ariel Shuhtin-Poushkariov (two), Branden Watson, Draycen Ralph, and Hubert Clarke.

Braedan Cormack made 39 saves in the losing cause.

Interlake, now 3-17-1, will play the Winnipeg Bruins on Wednesday (6:30 p.m.) at Southdale Arena.

In U15 AAA action, the Lightning were defeated 15-1 by the Eastman Selects in Landmark on Dec. 23.

Brody Slatcher scored an unassisted third-period goal for Interlake. He leads the Lightning in points with 21 on six goals and 15 assists in 22 games. Eastman answered with goals from William Picklyk (four), Grayson Slaney (three), Asher Gingras (three), Seth Hooper (three), Jimmy Wilcox, and Braxton Caruk.

Interlake (2-20) will visit the Southwest Cougars this Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Glenboro. The Lightning will then battle the Winnipeg Bruins Brown the next day (4:45 p.m.) at Notre Dame Arena.

Mom was born in Petersfield, MB and grew up in Geralton, ON. Lois was working in Falcon Lake, MB when she met Burt. They married and settled in Whitemouth where they had Bev. Mom took teacher training in Winnipeg and began her career in Whitemouth.

She ended that career in Brochet, MB as the principal. Due to a car accident, Mom came to live with us and was a huge part of her grandchildren's lives. Mom found the greatest joy in her family. Traveling with her sisters, seasonal gatherings, and meeting with friends for tea or group/church events. She loved a good laugh and her creative outlet was crocheting, lastly with the Linus Group in Stonewall. We all have many items of her handwork to treasure.

We will gather in 2023 for a celebration of life, in Stonewall. Yellow Boses Mom

Linda married the love of her life after three months of courting on August 23, 1969. They were soulmates, best friends, and inseparable. Arnie was always by her side providing unconditional love and support. Music was etched in every aspect of their lives. Linda loved watching Arnie perform. She was his biggest fan, his song book and personal manager; whether singing for a crowd or just for her. Linda was born April 16, 1949 in Gimli, MB, and was the third of six children born to John and Lil Panteluk. She attended Berlo School and Gimli Composite High School, before moving to Winnipeg. She got her first job at Nutty Club packing candy, then Brooke Bond for the next 10 years. In 1969, she met Arnie, got married, and started their family in 1971. In 1977, they moved to Stony Mountain where Linda ran a home daycare for eight years. In 1985, she took a leap of faith by registering for night courses and successfully obtained her High School GED, which led to her 29-year career at Codville/Sobeys. In 2005, they moved to Komarno, enjoying many years on the farm, where they got to celebrate their 50th Wedding Anniversary. In 2020, they moved to Crescent Creek Estates in Teulon.

of faith. She prayed the rosary, celebrated mass daily, as well as shared and taught her beliefs

Linda's greatest blessings were her children and grandchildren and she was so proud of them all. Sheresa and her mom had a bond like no other. They were each other's best friends and confidants. They spent countless hours together and when not together were on the phone. She fondly referred to Sheresa as her Princess. She was her #1 supporter and was incredibly proud of her advancements in her career. Following her diagnosis with COPD, Sheresa and Arnie were her constant caregivers.

Sheldon, their first born, a nurse by profession, was able to provide the best care in her final days, which gave us all a sense of comfort.

Shaun followed in Dad's footsteps with his gift of music and she was also Shaun's biggest fan. Linda loved her grandchildren to the moon and back, they were her pride and joy. She always looked forward to their visits, phone calls, texts, and facetimes, staying up to date on their daily lives. Some of Linda's happiest memories were when her grandchildren came to visit.

Family, friends and neighbors were very important to her and she loved the many gatherings she hosted and attended. She will always be remembered for her kindness, compassion, generosity and selflessness. She made and gifted an abundance of crochet blankets and bags, sugar cookies, dainty trays and perogies. She made many lifelong friends wherever she went. She embraced everyone and always kept in touch, checking in on them through many phone calls and in her prayers.

We know that she was greeted in Heaven by those that predeceased her, including her parents John and Lil, her in-laws Mary and George, her daughter-in-law Heather, her brother Steve, her sister Patsy, her brothers-in-law Martin, Edward, Darvin, Alfred, Walter, and Stan, and her nephews Keith and Larry.

The family would like to thank Dr. Hicks and Dr. Zahari and all of the staff at the Stonewall & District Health Centre for all of their care and compassion during Linda's brief stay as well as Kelvin Kidd from Careica Health for being so good to Mom over the years.

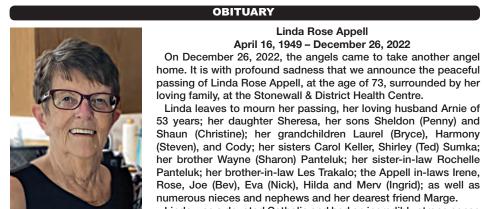

Funeral Service was held on Tuesday, January 3, 2023 at Christ the King Church, Stonewall. Rev. Father Barry Schoonbaert officiated.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the St. Peter and Paul Cemetery, Berlo, c/o Box 3506, Gimli, MB R0C 1B1, Lovingly remembered and never forgotten.
