Legion supports Argyle Settlers, Rails and Trails and Danica's Village

By Evan Matthews

The Argyle Settlers, Rails and Trails Museum and Danica's Village recently received funds from the Brant-Argyle Legion Branch #222 (in memory of Faye Dunlop).

The legion presented both community organizations with cheques in the amount of $500 from funds that came from the legion's 50/50 campaign.

"Settlers, Rails and Trails has a great relationship with our local Brant-Argyle Legion #222," said Shayne Campbell, the museum's president and executive director.

"We work together on major community projects such as Remembrance Day and D-Day commemorative services. They assist us with historic research of local veterans, and we provide the finished product for their archives.

"They have always been very generous to the museum, providing funds to help with our Veterans of Brant-Argyle Exhibit."

Campbell said the funds will be added to the Shared Heritage Fund to continue with Phase 3 of building

RRSP Season is a great time for a financial review

One the most fulfilling aspects of my career is meeting with people, and this time of year is very exciting for me as I like to combine RRSP season with an annual review. These reviews are a wonderful opportunity to ensure that your investments are on track. There are many changes that you can go through within a year, this time is perfect to make sure that your strategy, asset allocation and goals are still aligned in spite of all these changes. A change may be the birth of a child or grandchild; children heading off to college or university; changes in income or job, health or lifestyle; plans to make a major transaction, such as buying or selling a home. Annual reviews are a proactive way to keep up with the latest changes in your investments and to ensure you are not taking on unnecessary risks in your portfolio. There is not one strategy that is perfect for everyone, each client is unique and in a different place in his or her plan, some situations are more complex than others are and the conversations surrounding them are never quite the same. Once new RRSP money comes in, it is prudent to revisit the asset allocation of your client's portfolio. Annual reviews are also an excellent time to look at insurance and make sure you have enough coverage in the right places. If you would like to meet over coffee or tea and have a review done please reach out to schedule a meeting. I am always happy to help and meet new people.

the museum and structures.

To date, Phase 3 of the museum's project has included financially securing its new property, moving two of the museum's three buildings to the new property, constructing foundations for each building, and installing a new farm fence.

Currently, the museum rents 700 square feet and operates in the Argyle Community Centre basement. The facility allows the museum to showcase a mere one per cent of its holdings.

The museum's collection is made up of over 1,700 cultural artifacts from around the region, over 1,400 items in the museum's Canadian Flag Collection, and over 15,000 digital and paper archival documents, according to Campbell.

A big part of the museum's desire to expand, according to Campbell, comes from the size of the exhibits, which boasts the second largest flag collection in Canada.

That flag collection will be on display in the Manitoba's legislative building's rotunda on three separate occasions during 2020.

By the year 2027, the Settlers, Rails and Trails Museum hopes to have switched its designation from a local to a regional museum.

Shared Heritage Fund update

In February 2019, the Argyle Museum unveiled its goal of fundraising $50,000 per year, kicking off in March of the same year. Campbell said (at the time) the museum's goal is to raise $150,000 for the endowment fund over the next three years.

As the museum approaches one calendar year since unveiling the Shared Heritage Fund, Campbell said the organization is close to its goal, having raised $41,000, to date.

The Shared Heritage Fund is the museum's endowment fund, a capital funding campaign, spread over three years. An endowment fund is typically established by an organization that

RCMP respond to thefts in Warren

By Jennifer McFee

Over the past several weeks, RCMP have responded to multiple thefts in Warren.

On Jan. 27, a Ford F150 was stolen from a house in Warren.

Then on Feb. 2, a Honda Civic and a GMC Sierra were stolen from a house in Warren. Police on patrol noticed similar vehicles travelling together at a high speed, along with a third vehicle. The officer put on the lights and sirens, and one of the vehicles stopped.

The officer arrested two adult females with Winnipeg addresses and one youth in that vehicle, which turned out to be stolen. Charges are pending on possession of stolen property. The other two stolen vehicles were recovered in Winnipeg.

On Feb. 3, two dirt bikes and an ATV were stolen during a break-and-enter in Warren.

On Feb. 4, someone broke a gate and entered a property in the RM of Rockwood. They checked the diesel barrel

RCMP Cpl. Julie Courchaine urges community members to contact the RCMP if they see anything suspicious.

"You know what's going on in your community and you normally know neighbours. So if you do see anything out of the ordinary, call RCMP at any time," she said.

"If you have outdoor lights, turn them on. Look out for one another and don't leave anything unlocked."

The $64,000 question; IEHF's treasurer resigns, citing questionable practices

By Patricia Barrett

The treasurer of the Interlake-Eastern Health Foundation (IEHF) board, which has been tasked with fundraising over $5 million for a proposed primary care clinic/teaching unit near the Selkirk hospital, resigned last December, citing questionable practices around grants.

Bill Bodman, a retired chartered accountant who joined the IEHF when it was established in 2015 and served as treasurer and chair of the investment committee, said he had not been apprised of a $64,000 grant the IEHF applied for and received. He "discovered" it after a bi-monthly update of the books.

When he realized the money had come out of the Selkirk General Hospital Fund, which is managed by the Selkirk & District Community Foundation (SDCF), he started asking questions.

"If you're going to support a clinical teaching unit, is that for the good of the Selkirk hospital? I think you're stretching it," said Bodman, whom the Express spoke with at his home in Selkirk last week.

In his resignation letter of Dec. 16, 2019, Bodman wrote he was"troubled" by the IEHF having applied for money from a fund that's earmarked "mainly for equipment" and exclusively for the Selkirk hospital. And he failed to "see the justification" for awarding that money to the design and construction of the proposed clinic/teaching unit.

He said the IEHF received the grant ($32,000 a year over two years) on April 17, 2019.

The intent of the clinic/teaching unit is to broaden access to primary care and to train doctors for rural communities served by the Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority.

Interlake-Eastern is the only RHA in Manitoba without a physician training facility and that's been cited as one of the reasons for a chronic shortage of doctors. Hospital emergency rooms in communities such as Eriksdale, Arborg, Gimli and Pinawa have been subject to rotating closures or reduced service availability every month for several years now, and some ERs have been permanently shuttered (e.g., Teulon) because of an inability to retain doctors.

Not only did the application tap donations reserved for the Selkirk hospital, but it also escaped the attention of the IEHF board by virtue of not having been brought before it for discussion, said Bodman.

"If you're applying for a significant grant, which this one is, you would be bringing it to the board," he said.

The IEHF's executive director Pamela McCallum – who also serves as executive assistant to the IERHA's CEO and is a director on 10040899 Manitoba Association Inc., which will be the developer, owner and operator of the proposed clinic – filled out the SDCF's application form for the grant, said Bodman. The form specifies that a chair/president, a vice chair/vice president or a treasurer is to sign it.

"It was two board members that signed it and they weren't the chair, the vice chair or treasurer," said Bodman. "Even if you only need two signatures, I think the board should know about it. Proper business procedure is such that the chair, vice chair or treasurer should be signing on behalf of the [foundation] – they usually have the signing authority – not any old board member."

Bodman, who has about 12 years' experience working on foundations, including the SDCF and the Thomas Sill Foundation, said it's a "safeguard" for any foundation to have senior board members approve grants, especially when a significant amount of money is being requested.

"Some [IEHF] board members were blindsided," said Bodman. "And I'm surprised [SDCF] accepted the IEHF's application."

The IEHF's board chair DJ Sigmundson told the Express last Friday there was nothing irregular about the grant process, and the board generally doesn't talk about who applies for and signs grant applications.

"I've been on the board a few years now, and the board doesn't authorize applications. We don't sign applications, necessarily," said Sigmundson, who wasn't the chair at the time of the $64,000 grant application. "It's the same in my other capacity as a CAO [RM of St. Andrews interim CAO]; generally, administration fills in applications for grants. That's all there is to it. Sometimes they need a second signature."

Sigmundson said the IEHF has received grants from the SDCF in the past and "it's never been an issue."

"We fill in grants all the time. It doesn't commit the board to anything; it's just an application for a grant," he said. "We're fully supportive of our executive director and the work she does."

As for the signatures, Sigmundson said he was told "local people were unavailable [to sign] so [McCallum] had two other board members sign it." And there's nothing in the IEHF policy that says it has to be a chair or vice chair.

When grant applications are successful, he said the board is informed either at meetings or by email.

The IEHF's mandate is to raise money for healthcare in the region, and it doesn't specify whether it's to go towards construction or equipment, said Sigmundson. In this case, the $64,000 it got from SDCF is supporting the construction of the facility.

Stonewall Kinsmen and Kinettes celebrate 100th anniversary

By Jennifer McFee

The local Kinsmen and Kinettes joined Stonewall council for a photo last week a way to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the organization.

On Feb. 5, members of the service organization visited the council chambers before the regular meeting began.

Kin Canada was founded on Feb. 20, 1920, in Hamilton, Ont., for the purpose of serving communities across the country.

For the past century, the all-Canadian association of service clubs has remained dedicated to meeting community needs by completing timely and relevant programs.

Stonewall council declared Thursday, Feb. 20 as Kin Canada Day and the week of Feb. 16 to 22 as Kin Canada Week. Council encourages residents to pause and reflect on the accomplishments of the Kinsmen, Kinette and Kin clubs and to salute local members.

In other council news:

• Allan Webb spoke to council on behalf of the Heritage Committee. This year, the committee's main focus will be on the effort to save the kilns. In February 2019, they hosted a meeting to recruit volunteers for the project. Since then, fundraising efforts have begun. Two individuals have each donated $10,000, and the committee hopes more residents and businesses will consider contributing. Other ways to support the effort include purchases of the kiln photo, as well as postcards and pins. Other organizations have hosted various fundraisers to help support the project.

The committee has identified about 60 businesses that they would like to approach with a corporate fundraising package, which they will create after costs are determined by an engineering report.

Kinsmen and Kinettes joined Stonewall council before the meeting on Feb. 5.

"We think that there is a generous community out there,"Webb said.

Other Heritage Committee projects will also continue in 2020, with a focus on the cemetery, community engagement and Stonewall Remembers to commemorate service people.

The committee didn't ask council for any funding in 2019; however, this year, they are asking for a $1,000 grant to use towards printing brochures and other expenses for the kiln project. Council will consider their request during budget deliberations.

• David McKinder also spoke to council on behalf of the South Interlake Seniors Resource Council, which has served nearly 400 people in the Stonewall area this year, including 62 Victoria Lifeline users. The organization provides an equipment lending service as well as ERIK kits to aid emergency personnel. The organization also offers a transportation program, publishes a resource guide and oversees Meals on Wheels.

For the past few years, the town has contributed

$7,500 towards the South Interlake Seniors Resource Council, and this year they are requesting the same amount of funding. Council will consider the request during budget deliberations.

• Stonewall resident John Kroeker is being inducted into the Manitoba Baseball Hall of Fame in June. To mark the moment, the town will place a $250 congratulatory ad in the induction banquet program to congratulate Kroeker.

• The mayor and CAO will execute the emergency co-ordinator contract agreement between the town and Dennis Peterson. As well, council accepted a recommendation from the municipal emergency co-ordinator regarding remuneration for the emergency volunteer team.

• The original agreement that allows Stonewall Karate Club to use Scouts Hall has expired. The karate club was interested in entering into a new agreement to continue using Scouts Hall, so the CAO executed the agreement.

Town of Stonewall considers annexation for future growth

By Jennifer McFee

The Town of Stonewall is considering expanding its boundaries to allow for future growth.

The proposed plan is to expand a half-mile west starting at Road 78 and a half-mile east south of Highway 67, and then straight up to the landfill site boundary by acquiring some land that is currently located in the RM of Rockwood.

Stonewall CAO Wally Melnyk said the annexation process would likely have little to no impact on local schools, health facilities, personal care homes and recreation hubs. However, the development of the area that is annexed will probably have significant impact on all services in the community.

"The area being considered for annexation is about the same size as the current developed footprint of Stonewall, so there would be a substantial increase in population and thus demand for services once the area is fully developed. That development, however, will probably take decades to complete, sufficient time to plan for expanded or new schools, medical facilities and recreation venues," he said in an email.

"The strategic decisions on what gets built and when are not done quickly or for the near term. The value of annexing the property that is being considered is so that all agencies and groups can better plan for the future of the community. Because of our location, Stonewall will continue to grow and now the RHA (regional health authority), the school division, the town and other groups and agencies can plan for that growth."

There are a number of practical constraints to the direction future development of the community can go, Melnyk noted, so going south was a logical option.

"The need for a buffer between aggregate development and residential development means that we face significant restrictions going north," Melnyk said.

"The location of the town's lagoon and the Grassmere drain to the west limits the opportunity there, although some development can and will happen west of the Stonewall. To the east, the town has identified the area for industrial, commercial development along with residential, so that left going south across PTH 67."

The proposed expansion could prove to be a benefit for local businesses, he added.

"Expansion and growth of the town should assist Main Street businesses since, in theory, there will be more people looking for goods and services," Melnyk said. "Having said that, the town is currently working with the chamber and the business community to identify opportunities and enhance the prospects for business retention and expansion in Stonewall."

Additional information about the annexation is posted on the Town of Stonewall website at www.stonewall. ca.

Comedian medium coming to Stonewall on May 27

By Jennifer McFee

A spiritual medium will be travelling across Canada for a unique evening at the Heritage Arts Centre in Stonewall.

Jennie Ogilvie, known as the "comedian medium," will take the stage on Wednesday, May 27 for an event hosted by the Stonewall Chamber of Commerce.

For Ogilvie, she's known since the tender age of six that she could connect with spirits. She describes herself as an unconventional medium.

"Unconventional people do things differently. A lot of times in this industry, people will focus more on validations, which is what I do. But I've learned through my whole career that validations is just one piece of it," she said from her home base in Calgary.

"When I'm channelling someone, they give me validations of who they were with regards to things that may have happened since their passing and things that happened while they were here. That's a way of connecting the person in the audience with solid information of their loved ones. It proves that energy is eternal and it lasts past our physical body."

This connection shows that death isn't so far away for somebody who has passed, she added.

"The energy is fluid. In my shows, I like to teach people what it is and how it is that I'm aware of spirits," she said.

"We're all just a spirit. I don't have to be dead to be able to connect to people that are gone. The energy is just there. It's like a download of information that I can then share with you."

Ogilvie believes that death can teach the people how to live well.

"I like to encompass those moments

based on Class C estimates (not for the purpose of bidding), and that the clinic would be financially unviable unless 15 doctors came on board (he said he was aware of only six).

Furthermore, he said he hadn't heard at the time of his resignation whether the health minister had approved the IERHA's plan to provide funds to support the proposed clinic until the required number of doctors had joined, and whether the minister had agreed to transfer provincial land on which the facility is to be built.

said.

"When I deliver my messages, I really make it an uplifting, encouraging moment about how these people impacted your life and how you will move forward impacting others."

When it comes to the comedy aspect, Ogilvie said she likes to have fun with the people in the audience.

"If they're not quite understanding something, we'll have a joke or two. Every show is different," she said.

"The general idea of the show is to give me a platform to not only share validation from your loved ones but to also give you an understanding of how death encourages you to live well through lessons, through our experiences, through what we learn from the legacy of people who have passed."

He added that the teaching unit is a "good idea" as other rural communities such as Portage and Morden-Winkler have had success retaining doctors ute income for the benefit of the City of Selkirk and the rural municipalities of St. Andrews and St. Clements. It funded 79 projects in 2018-2019 for a total of $360,858, according to its Community Report, which lists award recipients. The $64,000 grant to the IEHF does not appear on that list.

A November 2019 progress report issued by 10040899 Manitoba Association notes that SDCF provided a grant [unspecified amount and name of fund] to pay for work by LM Architects, the prime consultant for the proposed facility.

The SDCF's Grant Guidelines document states the organization does not typically award grants in support of annual fundraising campaigns and operating costs, nor does it award grants that establish or create endowment funds.

The Express asked SDCF why it had approved the use of a fund that's mainly for equipment for the Selkirk hospital (formally called the Selkirk & District Health Centre) and what its justification was for approving a $64,000 grant to support fundraising for a construction project when the foundation doesn't typically support

SDCF's executive director Beverley Clegg said by email that the Selkirk General Hospital Fund - which she said is called the Selkirk & District General Hospital Fund - can be used for equipment "but is not limited to just equipment."

She added that the SDCF does "work with projects that are fundraising," citing a fundraising drive by the Rotary Club to purchase echocardiography equipment for the hospital.

Clegg implied that the SDCF may have rescinded the $64,000 grant it had awarded to the IEHF last April.

"The question is whether the CTU [clinical teaching unit] is a part of the hospital footprint or not, and although it will be on the same parcel of land, it is not within the building," said Clegg. "Therefore, the SDCF Board, with the support from counsel, has decided to direct the grant to a project within the footprint of the hospital. It is physical location that matters most for this grant."

She did not specify what that project is.

In addition to questionable grant practices, Bodman said he was concerned the total cost of the proposed clinic ($15 million) was "shaky" as it's

Mathews family could use compassion

By Evan Matthews

Patrik Mathews' story is one you just can't make up, but it is tragic all the same.

For those who don't know it:

Mathews, 27, grew up on a property near Lundar.

The National Post reported Mathews was diagnosed with Asperger's syndrome as a child, and oft-bullied and isolated.

As an adult, he owned property in Beausejour and worked in construction, eventually joining the Canadian military. He became a combat engineer in Canadian Army Reserve, considered to be an explosives expert.

Knowledge surfaced after an investigative report by Winnipeg Free Press reporter Ryan Thorpe named Mathews as a member of the alt-right neo-Nazi hate group called "The Base."

After that report, without much warning or notice, Mathews disappeared the summer of 2019.

With information that has only come to light (publicly) since his arrest, American prosecutors, who now have Mathews in custody, allege he illegally crossed into Minnesota in August 2019.

He then spent time in Maryland and Virginia, according to media reports.

The reason for his arrest?

After intelligence agencies obtained knowledge that Mathews and two other Base members planned to attend a gun-rights rally at the Capitol building in Richmond, Va., law enforcement officials moved in to arrest them.

Three other members of The Base were also arrested in Georgia around the same time as Mathews.

Mathews (and company) face an array of federal charges in the United States — with sentences being suggested as lengthy as 90 years — and have been denied bail.

Though Mathews appeared in American court as recently as two weeks ago, by press time, a trial date had not been set.

The Base

The Base has been referenced in North American media as one of the continent's most dangerous hate groups. Having once been, simply, a group of neo-Nazi's, the group has shifted its focus to recruitment and military training, with training and organization centred on violence.

Intelligence analysts in America have told media outlets that The Base has an "apocalyptic vision," an ideology that supports a race war against minorities, and anyone who poses a "threat to the white race." The group's ultimate goal is to establish a white ethno-state.

The first knowledge of The Base came to intelligence agencies in America roughly two years ago, with analysts telling media outlets that the organization has chapters beyond North America, having support in Australia, Europe and South Africa.

Early investigations and reports show no clear sign as to what provoked Mathews to become affiliated with the hate group.

As is often the case, many of his family members expressed shock and surprise in the media upon learning details of the case.

Inwood WI disbands after 100 years in the community

By Jennifer McFee

After celebrating its 100th anniversary last year, the Inwood Women's Institute has now disbanded.

The organization disbanded on Oct. 31 at its year-end meeting. On Feb. 19, 2020, the Inwood group would have celebrated 101 years, had it stayed together.

"It wasn't easy. We hated to have to fold, but we couldn't get younger members and the rest of us were 60plus," said Sophie Eskilson, who was president of Inwood WI when it disbanded.

"We were down to nine members, so it's hard to do any projects or carry on anything. It's too bad that we had to disband."

The mandate of the Women's Institute is to welcome all women, regardless of their ethnic, religious, political or educational background. The organization aims to connect women, strengthen communities and pioneer change. The local, provincial, national and international group promotes focuses on personal development, the family, agriculture, rural development and community action — both locally #### and globally.

The goal is to empower women to make a difference.

The local group hosted a multitude of fundraisers, including the fall supper and the spring tea.

"We also contributed to the community. We had a scholarship going for probably about 90 years. At first, it was given to a Grade 9 and in the later years to a Grade 12 student in Inwood," Eskilson said.

"We spent our money locally. We supported the 4-H big time. It's a good organization to belong to. We've supported Inwood Manor, the skating rink, the music festival, Southwest Palliative Care and the Teulon district seniors' group, as well as fire victims and pretty much anybody dealing with health issues. And that's just the tip of the iceberg."

Geared for rural women, the organization maintained its focus on agriculture.

"Years ago, we had home economics with people coming to learn how to sew and do different crafts and gardening. Some of the people that came were immigrants since it was different to grow things in their country compared to this country, mainly due to the climate," Eskilson said.

"At one time there were 40 members. Then we could really do more. Back in the '40s, there was also the supporting the soldiers and groups overseas by sending clothing and knitted articles. We were also quite involved with the building of the Inwood hall. That's been 75 years since they started building it in June."

As for the idea of regrouping if more people show interest in the organization, Eskilson agreed with the old adage of "Never say never."

"That could be a possibility," she said with a laugh.

The Manitoba Women's Institute thanks the Inwood WI members for many years of work within their community, which helped to make it a better place.

Inwood Women's Institute also participated provincially, nationally and internationally through resolutions they wrote and donations they made to global projects to help women and families improve their lives.

'You are the Light of the world' (Matthew 5:14)

Since Christmas, we have been hearing references to Christ being the light of the world, a light to dispel the darkness of this world. These passages of scriptures relate so well to the lengthening days that we have also experienced since Christmas. Soon the Sun will have enough strength to give off a little heat reminding us that Summer well eventually come again.

As Christians we have no trouble seeing Christ as the light of the world but what can be surprising is when Jesus says that we are also the light of the world and that our light must shine brightly before others. (Matthew 5:16) What does Jesus mean when he says this? The simple answer to this query is that we must reflect the light of Jesus. It is not as if we can be a source of light independently from Our Lord. Rather it is that when we are open to Christ in our own lives we become a conduit from which Christ's light can shine. When we do, "they see your good deeds and glorify your heavenly Father."

As disciples of Christ, we all share in the mission to evangelize the nations, that is to share with the world the goodness of God and the desire God has for all of us to share in his life and love. This is made possible when we begin to pass on the same, mercy, compassion, healing, that the Christ first extended to us. When done in a selfless and humble manner people will know instantly that what we share, comes from God and they will in turn Praise God. Don't be shy to share the goodness of God with others, as a matter of fact our own salvation depends on it. Fr. Barry

Celebrating Voyageur Day and Louis Riel Day: Family Day activities

By Jennifer McFee

Family fun is the theme of the holiday coming up on Feb. 17.

Oak Hammock Marsh will be hosting Voyageur Day from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Visitors will have the chance to experience voyageur life through contests, competitions and games. Bannock bakes will take place at 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. When you're ready to warm up, you can enjoy movies about voyageurs in the comfort of the theatre.

"Voyageur Day is a great event for families who want to experience some exciting winter activities such as snowshoeing, while looking for animal tracks or making their very own bannock and cooking it over the fire," said spokesperson Jacques Bourgeois.

"Many games and Voyageur-themed activities will test their skills in a hands-on and entertaining way."

While you're at Oak Hammock Marsh, be sure to enter the First Goose of the Year contest. All you have to do is fill out a ballot at the interpretive centre to mark your prediction of the date and time of the first Canada goose's arrival at the marsh. The winner will receive a family membership for one year.

When do you predict the first goose will arrive? Cast a ballot at Oak Hammock Marsh Interpretive Centre.

Last year, the first goose was seen on March 18; however, the dates have ranged from Feb. 21 to April 6 over the past 25 years. The contest closes on Feb. 29 — or whenever the first goose is spotted.

As another family-friendly option, a Louis Riel Day Celebration will take place from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Quarry Park Heritage Arts Centre in Stonewall. Dave Lavallee will provide live entertainment from 2 to 4 p.m.

This event will celebrate Métis culture with kids' crafts, face painting, games, bannock, hot chocolate and skating on the pond. Visitors are encouraged to bring their own toboggans, snowshoes and crosscountry skis.

TRIBUNE PHOTOS BY OAK HAMMOCK MARSH At Voyageur Day at Oak Hammock Marsh, visitors will have the chance to bake their own bannock.

"We are encouraging people to come and enjoy skating on the pond, tobogganing on Jimm's Hill, or to try out the cross-country ski trail. We'll have hot chocolate available all day," said Heritage Arts Centre manager Catherine Precourt.

"We're very pleased to collaborate with two local groups for this event. The MMF Stonewall Local helped us find the entertainer. They are also providing some small prizes for us to hand out. The Canadian Parents for French Stonewall are helping cover the cost of supplies for bannock."

Admission costs $3 per person, and more information is available by calling the centre at 204-467-7980.

Get active for a chance to win $150,000 for the community

By Jennifer McFee

Rockwood, Stonewall and Teulon are joining forces in an effort to be named Canada's Most Active Community.

Together, the three municipalities will vie for the top title in the ParticipACTION Community Better Challenge, which runs from June 1 to 21. Along with the title of Canada's Most Active Community, the winning community will receive a grand prize of $150,000 to go towards physical activity initiatives. In addition to the national winner, finalists will also be recognized in all provinces and territories with a cash prize.

Last year's contest tracked a total of 265,813,108 physical activity minutes, and the overall winner was Enderby, B.C.

All organizations, schools, sports groups and workplaces can participate and track their physical activity minutes as a team. All physical activity counts, including group exercise classes, practices and even lunchtime walks. Every minute tracked will go towards the community's score.

Residents can download the ParticipACTION app that will allow them to input their physical activity minutes from June 1 to 21 to be added to the overall pool. App users will have the chance to earn prizes for themselves.

Alternatively, participants can track their physical activity minutes on the ParticipAC-TION website starting June 1.

"Right now organizations can apply for micro grants for physical activity programs to run over June 1 to 21," said recreation director Laine Wilson in an email.

"Then come that time period, anyone can calculate their active minutes towards a grand total."

Grants range from $250 to $1,000 to help with equipment, instruction, rental costs and marketing for participatory events or physical activityrelated programming. Free event kits are also available while supplies last to help make events even better. Events could include try-it sessions, multi-sport or multi-activity programs, open houses, tournaments, festivals, school events, mayor's challenges, neighbourhood fun runs or multi-organizational events.

Eligible grant applicants include non-profit organizations; municipalities; schools; First Nations, Inuit or Métis communities; and organizations that reach under-served groups.

Events must take place between June 1 and 21, and all recipients must complete a post-event survey online within one month of the event.

The deadline to apply for grants is Friday, Feb. 28. To apply, visit the ParticipACTION website at www.participaction.com. For more information, email info@participaction.com.

Students share love of literacy

Staff

February is jam-packed with novel ideas for I Love to Read Month at local schools.

Teulon Elementary students enjoyed a visit from a storyteller from the Winnipeg Public Library, who shared some page-turning picture books.

"When he read to them, they were all captivated," said vice-principal Laverne Kiel. "It was wonderful."

Plans are also in the works to bring students from Teulon Collegiate Institute to read to their favourite picture books to the kids at Teulon Elementary, who will also bring their favourite books. Later in the month, guest speaker Joan Hodgkinson is also expected to pay a visit to the school.

"We try to do a variety of different reading activities to impress upon the students that you can read to learn but you can also read for entertainment," Kiel said.

"So many of our reading activities are based on showing the kids how much enjoyment they can get from reading, as well as reading to learn."

The reading activities don't end there for Interlake schools.

Some Argyle students will have the chance to attend I Love to Read Love at the Burton Cummings Theatre, put on by 103.1 FM on Feb. 25.

Balmoral Elementary's theme is "On the Road to Manitoba 150." Events include dressing up as a favourite Manitoba person, place, thing or animal; dressing in colours of the Manitoba flag; dressing for the beach for Grand Beach Day; wearing a hat in school for a "Hats Off to Reading" day; and dressing as a provincial animal, such as a great grey owl or bison.

Balmoral students are encouraged to fill in a book report for every book they read in February, which will be graphed according to mixed-grade "family groups" of students. There will also be daily trivia about Manitoba over the announcements, and the family group with the most correct answers will earn a piece to add to the Manitoba puzzle map that is displayed in the hallway.

Likewise, Ecole RW Bobby Bend will be focus on the Manitoba 150 theme. Special guests include Wab Kinew, Maryann Appleby, Murray Gillespie and Len Epp. The school will play the "Happy Birthday" song as a signal to drop everything and read.

Ecole Stonewall Centennial School has reached out to council members, local police and several community organizations to read with students. Activities will include wear red and read, dress like a voyageur, dress like a storybook character, and camp out and read.

In Grosse Isle, students will read to younger Rosser students. As well, they will have the chance to dress up as a favourite character or author, visit McNally Robinson Booksellers, and participate in a 100-minute camp-out read-a-thon equipped with a blanket and flashlight.

The school will also participate in the Tournament of Books for the third year.

"This year, students had one week to nominate their favourites and based on their responses, I put together the tournament bracket of 16 books," explained teacher Amanda Clemis.

Guest reader David Jacobson reads Robert Munsch's The Paper Bag Princess to Teulon Elementary students on Feb. 5.

"Each day, I read a summary of the day's texts or show the classes a book trailer, and students vote for their favourite. Their vote counts as an entry for a $25 Chapters gift card, which will be drawn at the end of the month. If a student has read the book(s) or is currently in the process, they earn an extra entry into the draw."

Meanwhile, at Rosser Elementary School, students are indulging in an Out of this World space theme with rocket tents set up in the library and an alien activity day coming soon. Other events include Flashlight reading Fridays, a star dome presentation, pajama day and guest readers, including parents and a guest from 106 FM. At Stony Mountain Elementary

School, students have had the chance to learn from Brooke Darragh, MLA Uzoma Asagarwa, MP James Bezan and Myles Blahut.

In Warren, students are engaging in a battle of the books. Each classroom is reading contending books and they vote to advance them in the competition. Other activities include dressing as their favourite character, dressing their classroom like your favourite book, and a home reading challenge and draw. Students who complete a home reading challenge receive a ballot for a draw for $300 for their classroom library. The librarian will have prizes for bonus entries for students caught reading during their breaks. The students will also enjoy readings from a long list of guest speakers.

Oska the great grey owl brings learning alive at Marble Ridge Colony School

By Patricia Barrett

Students at Marble Ridge Colony School, south of Hodgson, had a hoot last Friday when a great grey owl dropped in for a visit and helped them understand the importance of Manitoba's emblematic bird.

Oska, a three-year-old female, was accompanied by Dr. James Duncan of Balmoral-based Discover Owls, an organization that supports owl conservation and research. Duncan tours the province, raising awareness about the bird and the importance of preserving their habitats.

Students in Sheena Letexier class prepared for Oska's visit by undertaking research on the owl.

"The kids were super-excited to do these research projects because we knew that Oska was coming. When she got here, it just brought the learning alive," said Letexier. "They used research skills, edited their work and published it, and we got to see a great grey owl and hear from an expert in the field."

Letexier's grades 4 to 8 students undertook the research projects while her kindergarten to Grade 3 students did poems and songs about owls. Duncan, who has PhD in zoology and has worked for Manitoba conservation and the universities of Winnipeg and Manitoba, has given about 280 owl presentations to over 15,000 children and adults, according to the Discover Owls website. Duncan's tour was organized by the area's well-known bird aficionado, Joanne Smith, who leads Christmas Bird Counts each year in the Fisher Branch and Hodgson area, formed a bird-watching group at the seniors' home in Fisher Branch and organizes annual weed pulls on Sandy Bar near Riverton to improve the habitat there for threatened piping plovers.

The tallest North American owl, the great grey owl (strix nebulosa) is found year-round in boreal forests across Canada and a few states in the U.S., according to the Atlas of Breeding Birds in Manitoba. The owls have characteristic bright yellow eyes, concentric rings around the face and lack tufts.

They have heightened hearing abilities. They'll perch on a tree limb or fence and listen for rodents - their main food sources are voles and gophers — running in fields and ditches. And snow cover is no obstacle. They'll plunge face-first into a snowpack if they hear a rodent rooting around underneath the snow. In Manitoba they hunt in bogs, treed muskeg and along forest edges.

In addition to students, members of the Hutterite colony got a chance to meet Oska.

"We opened it up to the colony members," said Letexier." Some of the moms and the grandmothers came with pre-school children."

Oska stirred up a little bit of excitement in the classroom when she decided she needed a bird's-eye view of the students and took off from her perch.

"She flew around the classroom. Dr. Duncan let her loose and he warned everybody because some people were scared. When Oska went around the room, there were a few screams," said Letexier."Then we laughed."

To help raise awareness of owls and the importance of preserving their habitat, Letexier said Marble Ridge Colony School gave a donation to Discover Owls.

Funds from Dr. Duncan's presentations support owl studies and conservation efforts, according to the Discover Owls website.

Duncan also took Oska to the Fisher Branch Chalet (seniors' home).

Pour into the soufflé dish and smooth the top with a rubber spatula. Refrigerate for at least 4 hours, until thoroughly chilled and set, for up to 24 hours.

TFSA Confusion

In 2009, the Tax-Free Savings Account (TFSA) was established to encourage Canadians to put aside money, without having to pay tax on the earnings. Many get confused, due to the name including "Savings Account", thinking that savings accounts are the only option. However, the TFSA is so much more, with options of guaranteed investment certificates (GICs), mutual funds, ETFs, stocks, and bonds. I personally think it should have been named as the Tax-Free Savings Plan, but no one asked me...sheesh!

The other common confusion surrounding TFSAs involves contribution limits. Each year, Canadian residents 18 or older with a valid SIN number, will accumulate contribution room. The first year (2009) was $5000. This year (2020) the limit is $6000. If you have be eligible since 2009 and haven't contributed, your accumulated room would be $69,500. If you do not contribute fully, you can carry-forward that unused room. If you withdraw anything from your TFSA, you will have to wait until January 1st of the following year before that amount is added back into your "limit". If you over-contribute, you are charged a tax of 1% of the amount in excess, per month (yikes!).

Another misunderstanding of TFSAs is that many think that the growth of your investment reduces your contribution room. This is incorrect. The government only tracks what goes in and what comes out. Even if you withdraw your growth from the TFSA, you can re-contribute that amount the following year (assuming that you had no other room available).

Before you contribute to your TFSA, make sure that you are within your limits to avoid an extra bill in the mail from CRA. You can check your individual limit by contacting CRA or signing into your CRA online account.

Red River Co-ops out of gas in Manitoba

Fuel shortage is happening due to an allegedly Unifor illegal blockade of Shell and Esso fuel distribution centres

By Ligia Braidotti

If you drove by any Red River Co-op gas station around the province the past few days, you probably noticed that the gas price had dropped to a zero.

No, it is not free gas. The Red River Co-op gas bars are having significant fuel shortage due to an allegedly Unifor illegal blockades of the Shell and Esso fuel distribution centres that supply Winnipeg and the rural surrounding areas.

"Red River Co-op has no Unifor members under our employ, but they have brought their illegal blockades to stop fuel from getting to Co-op members and customers. Red River Co-op is taking every possible action to lift the blockade but we are not expecting the situation to return to normal until Unifor's illegal actions are addressed by the courts and legal system," a statement read.

The whole dispute is taking place in Regina, but its consequences are already affecting many people in Manitoba. Unifor started a dispute at the Co-op Refinery in Regina which is completely owned and operated by Federated Co-op Ltd. Red River Co-op purchases services and goods from FCL and money made at the refinery is invested back in these co-ops to create local employment, invest in infrastructure and provide patronage to their members based upon the volume of businesses they do with Red River Co-op. Due to this issue, many Red River Co-op gas stations are closed and its employees are missing days of work.

"Unifor is solely concerned about their union employees in Regina, employed by the refinery. They have shown zero respect for Red River Coop employees who are simply trying to go to work and take care of their families. Many of our employees are new Canadians, retirees and students," Red River Co-op stated.

Red River Co-op also added that they are not party to the negotiations between Unifor and FCL. They commented that the average total compensation for a refinery worker is $172,000 and they currently have a 100 per cent employer-funded defined benefit pension.

Red River Co-op gas stations are running out of gas due to a labour dispute.

"FCL is preparing for a low carbon economy and the way energy business is being done needs to change in order to ensure that our business is sustainable and people continue to have good jobs here in Winnipeg, rural Manitoba and North Western Ontario, and across the CRS," Red River Co-op said.

There are 33 Red River Co-op gas stations in Manitoba and two in Ontario.

On the other hand, Unifor states it is only taking care of its members.

"This 60-day labour dispute is fueled by corporate greed as Co-op executives to try pad their billion-dollar year profits by stealing worker pensions," said Jerry Dias, Unifor National President.

Meanwhile, The Stonewall Co-op received fuel by Monday morning, with several other locations in the province also receiving fuel over the past few days. For more information, go to https://www.redriverco-op.crs/sites/ redriver/

Selkirk RCMP lay charges in armed break and enter

Submitted by RCMP

On Feb. 8, at approximately 1:30 p.m., Selkirk RCMP responded to a report of a break and enter at a residence in the RM of St Andrews, near Petersfield.

The initial investigation has determined that the homeowner was inside her home when the front door of her residence was forced open and two people entered. The homeowner called her neighbours. As the neighbours arrived, they were confronted by the two suspects. One of the suspects had a firearm. The homeowner and the neighbours were able to safely flee the residence. The two suspects also fled the scene on a snowmobile.

Officers conducted extensive patrols of the area in search of the armed suspects.

At approximately 8:15 p.m., Selkirk RCMP received a call from a residence in the RM of St Andrews, after a snowmobile had broken down in their yard and the homeowners had given the two snowmobilers a ride to a residence off of Highway 8. The caller told police that the two snowmobilers appeared suspicious.

Upon investigation, the broken down snowmobile was of the same make, size and colour of the one used in the break and enter earlier that day, and the two males fit the description of the two suspects.

Selkirk RCMP along with officers from Gimli RCMP attended the residence on Highway 8, and took two males and a female into custody. A long rifle and loaded handgun were seized.

Selkirk RCMP have laid charges against both males in connection with the armed break and enter.

The suspects have also been linked with other residential break and enters in the area.

The additional break and enters occurred at a residence on Jan. 23 in St. Andrews and a residence on Feb. 8 in Petersfield.

Gunnlaugson team wins 2020 Viterra Championship

By Ty Dilello

At 35 years of age, Jason Gunnlaugson of Morris can finally say he's a provincial champion.

On Sunday afternoon at the Eric Coy Arena in Winnipeg, Gunnlaugson defeated West St. Paul's Mike McEwen in the final of the 2020 Viterra Championship by a 7-4 scoreline in a game that featured lots of shots made and plenty of key mistakes that made for an entertaining encounter.

Gunnlaugson and his rink of Alex Forrest, Adam Casey and Connor Njegovan will now represent Manitoba in a few weeks' time at the 2020 Tim Hortons Brier in Kingston, Ont. West St. Paul's Mike McEwen, meanwhile, has a chance to join Gunnlaugson in the field still as they will be playing in the wildcard game against Ontario's Glenn Howard the Friday night before the event starts.

"It came together because we've assembled a great group of guys. Connor (Njegovan) and Alex (Forrest) stuck with me. I was cut. I was on an island in curling, with no real purpose. They picked me up and they've just stuck with me and given me the chance to become an elite skip. I think with this performance we can finally say that maybe I'm getting there," Gunnlaugson said.

"I was a free agent and they didn't have a skip, so they got me on board. They love playing and I love playing and we just played and played and played until we won the Buffalo."

Sean Grassie's Deer Lodge foursome featuring Stony Mountain's Rodney Legault (lead) and Lundar's

Rodney Legault

Tyler Drews (third) were the big surprise of the week as the upstart rink advanced all the way to Sunday morning's semi-final before falling to Mike McEwen 7-3.

Grassie came into the event as the eight seed and started off with a pair of wins to get themselves into the Aside qualifier against McEwen. A tight game saw Grassie on the losing end but they would bounce back in the B-side final to get into the championship round.

In the championship round, Grassie would rattle off another pair of wins to find themselves into Saturday night's page playoffs. In the 2v2 game, Grassie defeated Granite's William Lyburn 6-5 in an extra end to advance to the semi-final, where they ultimately fell 7-3 in the semi-final game against Mike McEwen.

"Our team really gelled together. We started the year off rough as a new team losing our first five games, but we came together and did an unreal job. Sean made some great shots throughout the Viterra and helped get us on our way," said Rodney Legault.

"For three of the players on the team, we'd never gone this far before at provincials," said Tyler Drews, "so for us we took things one game at a time, and as we kept winning we showed a little more confidence. This has been an amazing experience."

Granite's William Lyburn which includes Interlakers Kennedy Bird and Wade Ford reached the final four of the Viterra where they lost to Sean Grassie in the 2v2 game.

Tanner Horgan's Winnipeg Beach foursome featuring the Lott brothers Colton and Tanner qualified for the final eight through the A-side but were dispatched on Saturday afternoon after a pair of losses to Gunnlaugson and Ryan Wiebe.

Stonewall's Emerson Klimpke, the fourth shooter for Josh Friesen, went 1-2 on the event. While Gimli's Steen Sigurdson was one of the opening night's casualties dropping their first two games of the event to send them to the bleachers early.

The 2021 Viterra Championship was announced that it's going to be held in Selkirk next February at the Selkirk Recreation Complex.

Selkirk Dolphins had a busy weekend in the pool

Submitted by Michelle Stamm

Saturday was a busy day for the Selkirk Dolphins' swim team.

Eight swimmers attended the Manta Grand Prix at the Pan Am Pool in Winnipeg. The meet was hugely successful with just over 250 swimmers from Manitoba and Kenora.

The meet format was a preliminary and finals set up and all our swimmers qualified for finals each night.

All Dolphins' swimmers recorded personal best times in 85 per cent of their events.

This meet leads up to our championship meets for this time of year with 14 swimmers racing at provincials Feb. 13-16 at the Pan Am Pool in Winnipeg. This will be the last opportunity to add to the list of qualifiers from the Dolphins' team going to Man Sask March 12-14. Levy Andrusyshyn of Winnipeg qualified as a 10 year old in the 13 & under male category and Julian Murdock, 16, of Stonewall qualified for Man Sask this past weekend.

The Dolphins also hosted their second 12 & under league meet last weekend. The meet attracted 60 swimmers from Brandon, Portage la Prairie, Winnipeg and Kenora.

"The focus of the meet is to introduce competition to developing swimmers through short events such as 25s and 50s and adding the mixed race of individual medley," Stamm noted.

"The event was short and sweet with the lower gym set up with outdoor games and a magician to keep the swimmers and siblings occupied between events."

The Dolphins will be hosting their last 12 & under meet on March 21.

Lundar Falcons fly past St. Malo Warriors

By Brian Bowman

Lundar Falcons' forward Ryan Gleich recorded a hat trick to lead his team to an impressive 5-1 victory over the St. Malo Warriors in Capital Region Junior Hockey League action last Friday in Lundar.

Two of Gleich's goals were scored on the power play in the third period.

Lundar's Eric Miller also had a great game with two goals while Braden Paulic chipped in with three assists. Maxime Collette scored his leagueleading 34th goal of the season for St. Malo in the first period.

Chris Lesage made 28 saves for the win.

The Arborg Ice Dawgs, meanwhile, shut out the North Winnipeg Satelites 3-0 on Sunday.

Tom Moneyas, Logan Clarke, and Josh Roche scored second-period goals for Arborg.

Tre Strachan made 23 saves for the shutout victory.

Last Friday, the Fishermen doubled the Ice Dawgs 4-2 in Selkirk.

Dane Derewianchuk scored a pair of second-period goals for Selkirk while teammate Braeden Hummel also tallied in the middle frame.

The Fishermen's Reece Tessier then added an empty-net goal with 1:39 remaining in the third period.

Shaydon Mousseau scored for Arborg in the first period and then he added a shorthanded marker midway in the final frame.

Riley Bannerman made 32 saves for the victory. Strachan was busier at the other end, stopping 46 Selkirk shots.

Lundar will host Arborg on Friday (8 p.m.) and then the same two teams will battle the next night at 7:30 p.m. in Arborg.

Saturday's game was originally slated to be played Jan. 9.

U18 female Lightning ready for the playoffs

Staff

The Interlake Lightning U18 female hockey team is ready for the playoffs. Interlake wrapped up its regular season with a 3-1 loss to the Winnipeg Ice Saturday evening in Stone#### wall.

Emerson McAuley scored Interlake's goal in the third period, assisted by Taylor Audette.

Last Friday, Interlake was beaten 5-1 by the Winnipeg Avros in Warren.

Ally Rakowski tallied for the Lightning in the second period. The goal was assisted by Megan Humeniuk.

Goal scoring has been a problem for the Lightning this season. Interlake has scored just 39 goals in 31 games and the Lightning has scored just three goals in their past six games.

On a positive note, though, Rakowski has had a tremendous year with a team-high 13 goals and 23 points.

16 The Stonewall Teulon Tribune Thursday, February 13, 2020 Perrie brothers a triple threat in basketball, football

By Brian Bowman

From time to time, schools will have a set of twins and some may even play sports together.

But having triplets on the same team is quite rare.

That's the case this year, though, at Stonewall Collegiate as the Perrie brothers - Gabe, Graeme, and Andrew - are in Grade 11 and play on the Rams' varsity boys' basketball team.

"I like it but sometimes I get a little mad (at my brothers) on the court," Graeme admitted last Saturday morning. "I definitely get more mad at them than I would at other players on the court."

Andrew really enjoys playing high school basketball at Stonewall Collegiate. He also cherishes the time he has on the court with his brothers.

"It's a good experience to go out and play the games against the other teams,"Andrew said."Meeting people on the court and just having a good time."

There are times during games when all three brothers are on the court together. That has to be very confusing for the opposition.

"In my 30 years coaching, I have never coached triplets," said Rams' head coach John Loochuk. "I've had a few sets of twins go through but I've never had triplets before. It's kind of fun and I have had some fun by putting all three of them on the court at the same time just to mess with the defence a little bit."

It's been a tough season so far for the Rams as the losses have piled up. But Stonewall played very well in a dominating 79-38 win over the MCI Blues at a Gimli tournament last Friday.

"That felt really good," Gabe said.

"We lost a lot of games in a row. It was a really good win...and it was really nice to have a win."

Graeme also really enjoyed being on the winning end of a lopsided score.

"It felt great," Graeme said."It's hard to go from the football season where we're winning almost every single game to basketball, where we're losing pretty much every single game. It's a hard transition."

Despite the losses, the Rams have improved quite a bit during the course of the season.

"We're getting a lot better," Gabe noted. "We struggled a bit with our team chemistry (at the start of the season) but we're definitely improving now. We're getting to know each other a lot better which helps us to know how to play with each other."

All three Perrie brothers are great young men to coach, Loochuk said.

"They all hustle hard and like to shoot the outside shot," he said. "They compete very hard on defence and they're not afraid of a little physical contact and that comes from their football background. The biggest thing that they bring to the table is that they are super-competitive kids.

"They work super hard and they are very coachable. They have a positive energy and attitude. When they're on the court they just work their tails off the whole time," he added.

Aside from basketball, the Perrie brothers have played soccer, volleyball and also curled together.

Each of them currently plays integral roles on the Interlake Thunder football team. Gabe and Graeme play the slot/tailback position while Andrew is an outside linebacker.

"Playing football and basketball are two very different sports," Gabe insisted. "But it's hard not to hit someone in basketball when you're always hitting someone in football. A lot of the skills carry over, like the footwork and you always want to be a gentleman on the field and on the court.

"Playing for the Thunder is awesome and we have a lot of great coaches and a lot of talented players on the team." Andrew also raved about the Thunder program.

"I think it's one of the best things that I have been involved with in Stonewall and the community," he said."It's definitely my favourite sport to play."

Graeme, meanwhile, said they are really looking forward to winning a championship this upcoming season after last year's tough upset loss in the playoffs.

"Our team is kind of angry about that," Graeme admitted. "We have a lot of seniors that are going to be on our team this year so that's going to give us a big advantage."

Bantam Lightning win one of three last week

By Brian Bowman

The Interlake Lightning Bantam boys' hockey team dug themselves a hole that they could not get out of on Sunday.

Interlake found themselves down 3-0 to the Pembina Valley Hawks just 25 seconds into the second period before coming back with a pair of goals in a 3-2 loss in Lundar.

Ryan Orchard and Carter Sotheran scored to give the Hawks a 2-0 firstperiod lead and then Zachary Dyck tallied early in the middle frame.

Lightning forward Hayden Wheddon scored midway in the second period and then Darian Sinclair tallied at 18:52 of the third.

On Saturday, Interlake lost 6-1 to the Winnipeg Monarchs in Warren.

Wheddon scored a power-play goal midway in the first period to give In-terlake a 1-0 lead.

But it was all Monarchs after that.

Ryan Gould had a hat trick for Winnipeg while singles were scored by Blake Jones, Grayson Burzynski and Kai Elkie.

Last Thursday, the Lightning snapped a four-game losing streak with an 8-4 win over the Norman Wolves in Warren.

No scoring summary from the game was posted on the league website at press time.

The Lightning will host the Southwest Cougars on Saturday (6 p.m.) in Stonewall and the Parkland Rangers Sunday (2:30 p.m.) in Warren.

In U17 Prep action last Thursday, Interlake lost 7-3 to the Eastman Selects at the VMSC.

After Troy Sellen gave Eastman a 1-0 lead just 28 seconds into the game, Interlake responded with first-period goals by Alexander Kaczorowski, Andrew Henry, and Michael Spence.

The Selects' Rialey Lawless scored in the second period and then Mattiy Carpenter, Reece Belot, Easton Kapelus, Sellen and Kaycee Cole tallied in the third.

On Feb. 3, the Lightning were edged 4-3 by the Selects in Stonewall.

Interlake's goals were scored by Evan Calder, Matthew Wagner and Kaczorowski.

Carter Johannesson (two), Ty Mc-Naughton and Lawless replied for Eastman.

No score from Interlake's game against the Brandon Wheat Kings on Sunday was available at press time.

Interlake will host the Winnipeg Thrashers on Thursday (7:30 p.m.) in Stonewall and then will play the Winnipeg Wild Sunday (4:30 p.m.) at the Bell MTS Iceplex.

Jets lose rare Monday game to Riels

By Brian Bowman

The Stonewall Jets don't get a chance to play too many games on Monday night.

But they did this week, dropping a 2-1 decision to the St. Boniface Riels in Manitoba Major Junior Hockey League action.

Marcus Dewy gave the Jets a 1-0 lead with a power-play goal midway in the first period.

St. Boniface came right back, though, with a goal from Dylan Waldmo just 1:06 later.

Keane Boucher then scored the game winner while the Riels were shorthanded at 19:59 of the second period.

Last Friday, Stonewall dumped the second-place St. Vital Victorias 5-1.

The Jets' Keevan Daniels-Webb scored the first two goals of the game and then Stonewall's Jayson Brooks and James Maxwell tallied in the second.

Jets' forward Evan Palmer closed out the scoring in the third.

Tyson Last netted St. Vital's goal late in the first period. Curtis Beck stopped 33 St. Vital shots for the win.

On Feb. 5, the Jets blasted the lastplace River East Royal Knights 7-2 in Stonewall.

Stonewall, which held period leads of 4-1 and 6-1, saw Matthew Smith score twice and Brendan Labossiere, Palmer, Carson Ouellette, Daniels-Webb, and Chance Dickenson add singles.

Keevan Daniels-Webb

Brandon McDonald and Curtis Rebeck replied for River East.

Stonewall outshot River East by a whopping 53-23 margin as Beck posted the win.

Goaltender Epp hosting goalie skills workshop in Stonewall

By Ty Dilello

Stonewall's Anya Epp is currently one of the province's top young female goaltending prospects.

The Grade 10 student at Balmoral Hall has put up a 2.84 goals against average and .885 save percentage in eight games so far this season with her school team.

"I got into hockey in my hometown of Stonewall when I was about 10 years old. I started playing ringette first but when I was in Grade 5. All of my friends and I decided to switch over because hockey would have brought us more opportunities long term," said Epp.

"When I first started playing ringette, my team would take turns in the net and most players found it quite boring. My dad was one of my coaches when I was younger so I was usually the one to sacrifice my time on the ice as a player to go in net. I was told at an early age I had a talent for it as well. Later, when I started playing hockey (and was getting many more shots in net), I decided that I really loved the position and it was something I was good at. I would describe it by saying I enjoyed making saves much more than I did scoring goals. It didn't matter what the score was. I was always having fun in net."

Epp played last season with the Interlake Lightning "AAA" team before moving on to Balmoral Hall's women's team this year.

"Because there were fewer female hockey players at that time in Stonewall, I was one of the only goalies in my age group. This gave me much more game time and practice. When I played for the Interlake Lightning I always got a lot of shots, which really impacted and improved my development. I always liked getting plenty of shots in a game and enjoyed feeling like an important player to the team."

Epp describes her style in net as very quick, always determined to make the second or third or fourth save on shots.

"My lower area of the net has always been my strong suit because I can move around fairly quickly side to side. I'm a pretty small goaltender so being speedy is almost essential just because of my size."

So far this 2019-20 season, Epp has been standing tall in goal for the Balmoral Hall Blazers. She is enjoying the school's program and wants to finish her high school career playing for the team.

"I have definitely enjoyed Balmoral Hall School and my time there as a Blazer. They are a very welcoming program that is very supportive and encouraging to all of my aspirations. I was very committed to the hockey program right from the start. I knew that the program was what I wanted for myself and my development in hockey. It was a hard decision to leave Stonewall and the Interlake, mostly because I wouldn't be able to see my Stonewall and Interlake friends as often. I realized that would be my responsibility to always try my best to make time for my social life here in Stonewall."

Going forward, Epp dreams of playing college hockey in the United States and be an Olympic netminder after she graduates high school.

"Since I was a little girl, my goal has always been to play in the Olympics. I always wanted to be a Shannon Szabados. Currently, my goal is to play NCAA Division 1 hockey. I would love to take hockey to the college/university level, but obviously school and my education choices factor in as well and are a big thing to consider."

Next month, Epp is hosting a free goalie skills day in Stonewall to give young Interlake netminders a chance to train with elite instructors and meet fellow goalies.

"This goalie skills day that I am hosting is meant to help and teach young goalies in Stonewall and the Interlake. I know that at young ages, specific coaching isn't offered — especially when it comes to goaltending in smaller communities like Stonewall. I want to designate a day whereby these goalies are recognized and can interact with each other and talk or share about their similarities, while improving their physical and mental skills," said Epp.

"This project came about because I'm doing a passion project in school where we have to put something into the world that we are passionate about. I wanted to give back to my community and offer a FREE event for young goalies in Stonewall."

There will be certified goalie instructors available to help with technical and physical development, prizes and a classroom event where the instructors will be talking and sharing a little bit about the mental side of goaltending, as well as some tips for goalies.

Epp will be soon be sending out an invitation/registration survey to all young goalies registered within Interlake's Minor Hockey Association. The event will be held on March 21 from 12 to 4 p.m. at Stonewall's Veterans' Memorial Sports Complex.

"I encourage people to come out and enjoy the goalie fun and have an experience with the goalie community."

Stovin scores shootout game winner for Stonewall

By Brian Bowman

Brody Stovin was the hero for the Stonewall Collegiate Rams last Wednesday.

Stovin scored the game winner in the shootout to lift Stonewall to a 2-1 victory over the St. Paul's Crusaders 2 in Winnipeg High School Hockey League action last Wednesday at the VMSC.

It was a real nice win by the Rams.

"It was a bit of a bounce back after getting a lesson the day before," said Rams' head coach Kyle Nixon. "We played pretty good, made a couple of adjustments, and it was good for us to #### get a win at home."

The Rams' Tristan Shore scored a first-period power-play goal, assisted by Owen Forbes and Adrian Klimpke. But St. Paul's Evan Myers tied the score at 1-1 with a goal with just 49 seconds remaining in regulation time. "We only had 12 skaters and St. Paul's 2 is pretty good so if we could have hung on to a one-goal lead, we would have been happy with that," Nixon said. "They played with some urgency and they got a point shot through. It was nothing that we did wrong, (the puck) just found the back of the net. We were able to regroup pretty quickly, which was good, and overtime was back and forth. We won in a shootout, so it worked out."

Jackson Kummen was extremely good in goal to earn the well-deserved victory.

On Feb. 4, the Rams lost 7-0 to College Beliveau.

Landon Newman (two), Alexander De La Ronde (two), Russell Buffie, Julien Desloges and Seth De La Ronde scored for the winners.

The Rams will wrap up their regular season Wednesday when they host the Pinawa Panthers. Puck drop is 3:45 p.m. The playoff schedule had not been released by press time. The Rams are hoping to upset a team or two in the post-season.

"We're right in the middle of the pack so we're not really in a bad spot," Nixon noted."In high school hockey, a best-of-three (series) is short to begin with and sometimes you play three games in three days, so if you catch a couple of breaks or score some goals that maybe you don't always get consistently, then you definitely can beat anybody."

CROSSWORD

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

OBITUARY

Alan P. Williams

Stonewall Teulon

On February 8th, 2020 a truly special man left us, ending his standoff against a very rare and insidious cancer.

Alan is survived by wife Judith Dedrick-Williams; children Debra-Anne, Helen (Lee) Shields, Alan Jr.: grandchildren Jamila and Sam: foster son Les Taylor; siblings Terry (Mary Ellen), Penny Levacque, and Christine (Tony) Hayhurst; nieces and nephews; and special friends Rov and Lvnn Norton. Alan was predeceased by parents Rod and Rita Williams.

Alan had an amazing zeal for life, living it to its fullest. In the 70's, he spent 14 months working his way across Europe, before returning to Winnipeg, becoming a zookeeper at Assiniboine Park Zoo, and marrying Judith. His life-long passion was rockhounding. In 1975, he opened The Happy Rock Shoppe. He also organized rockhounding bus trips to Montana, was Show Chairman for the Winnipeg Rock and Mineral Club shows, became an honourary member of The Rock of Ages Club, and gave talks in schools. When they moved to Teulon, Alan remained an active rockhound, operating Rockwood Gem & Gift. For 30 years he served as Site Manager of Gimli's Icelandic Festival, and also participated in shows such as the Body, Mind and Spirit Show. Since Alan possessed a vast knowledge of crystals and gems, people came back year after year to learn from him. In later years, Alan and Judy enjoyed winter trips to Arizona, to visit friends and to attend Tucson's Gem Shows, finding new treasures to share.

Alan was a multi talented man, who designed and built homes for his family in Charleswood and on acreage, north of Teulon. He enjoyed creating unique homes. When ill health forced a move into Teulon, he found a beautiful lot and commissioned a ready to move home that would accommodate his needs.

Alan had a nurturing spirit, and enjoyed working with young people, During the 90's, he and Judith became foster parents to over 100 teenagers. They also hosted students from Hong Kong.

Alan genuinely liked people, trying to help when he could. In return, friends aided him when his health failed. Thanks to Glenn Marmonier, Barbara Mankewich, Patrick Dyrda, and Ron Zinkowski for helping Judith to fulfill Alan's wish to die at home. A heartfelt thanks to Jill Young for her compassionate attitude, and for helping in so many ways, so often. Thanks to the staff, nurses, and aides of Teulon Home Care, to Christine Skakum and Dr. Graham of Palliative Care, and to Dr. Zahiri.

In accordance with Alan's wishes, there will be no service.

In lieu of flowers, please donate to the causes dear to Alan: shelters for homeless people or animals - Main Street Project, Bear Clan Patrol, Sash-Mar Paws, or Gimli Humane Society.

Some pursue happiness. Alan chose to create it for others. He will live on forever in so many hearts.
