Teulon Council debates election campaign expenses

By Evan Matthews

The newly elected Teulon municipal council continued its difficult beginning last Tuesday, as councillors hurled accusations at the mayor relating to incorrect and illegal campaign expenses.

Mayor Debbie Kozyra stood her ground, reading a letter she addressed to the Minister of Municipal Relations and the Association of Manitoba Municipalities (AMM).

"I am writing to you in regard to a very disconcerting situation that is happening to me regarding my filing of election (campaign) expenses ... and the extreme distress this has caused me," Kozyra read aloud.

"With Christmas, and (my role as) president of Rockwood Festival of the Arts, I totally forgot to submit my expenses by the Jan. 17, 2019, deadline," she said.

Coun. Barb Mankewich was quick to side with the mayor, saying it's a confusing process, and she too filed her campaign expenses incorrectly at first.

The Ministry of Municipal relations has not yet responded to the letter, according to the mayor and council, and the mayor has stated she will not make any further comments until the ministry has responded to her letter.

Timelines and The Municipal Act

During the election campaign, the would-be mayor filed her campaign expenses on Dec. 5, 2018 totalling $1,582.70, which had to be filed by the May 2019 deadline.

CAO Doreen Steg requested the mayor re-file her election campaign expense statement due to the appearance that expenses and contributions may be incorrect, and Mayor Kozyra would need to re-file the campaign expense statements by Jan. 17, 2019.

Under The Municipal Act, re-filings of such documents need to be completed within 30 days. However, Mayor Kozyra did not re-file until Feb. 12, 2019.

The town's bylaw states there is a $1,500 limit to campaign expenses for mayoral and council candidates.

The Municipal Act states anyone who contravenes or doesn't comply with sections of the act or the municipality's bylaw is guilty of an offense and is liable on summary conviction to a fine of no more than $5,000.

The mayor's re-filing totalled far less than the original, coming in at $1,193.97. Because the mayor used her own printing company, council is now questioning how the mayor came up with her numbers. However, the mayor alleges she received quotes from other printing companies, including Interlake Graphics and Vistaprint, and both came within $50 of the cost she listed, she says.

"I have nothing to hide. It was an error," said Mayor Kozyra to council.

"It was a mistake. It's why I'm making it known to everyone in attendance," she said, citing her busy schedule.

Forgetting isn't an excuse

But for councillors Rey Girardin, Danny Hutchinson and Mike Ledarney, simply forgetting isn't a good excuse.

Coun. Ledarney says the rules of The

Singing for love

It was a throw back to the '80s last week when Stonewall Collegiate students took to the stage at Quarry Park Heritage Arts Centre to perform the musical, based on the hit Adam Sandler movie The Wedding Singer. Kendra Obach and Lindsey Sturgeon directed the musical instrumentalists and stage crew. Rock star wannabe Robbie Hart (Drew Macduff), who lives in his grandmother's (Trinity Rutledge) basement, blew wedding crowds away with his charming life-of-the-party character, until his fiancée, Linda (Amerlyn Budd), left him standing at the alter. Like a "Shot through the Heart," Robbie makes every wedding as disastrous as his own. Hart was supported by band members Sammy (Kirk Holyk), George (Liam Muise), and Sweet Jim (Carlen MacFarlane). Along comes Julia (Ashley Vieville), who works as a waitress with her cousin Holly (Taylor Manning). Julia and Robbie make a connection but Julia is about to marry her rich, shallow and materialistic Wall Street shark fiancé Glen (Zac Howard). Unless Robbie can pull off the performance of a decade, the girl of his dreams will be gone forever.

Local musicians to perform at Dauphin's CountryFest

By Jennifer McFee

A strong showing of local talent will take the stage at Dauphin's CountryFest's 30th Birthday.

The 2019 event will take place from June 27 to 30 featuring headliners Jason Aldean and Toby Keith, among many other talented performers.

Representing the local communities, Past the Perimeter is slated to perform on the main stage on Friday, June 28 at 3:30 p.m.

It's the third time the band, which hails from Stonewall, will perform at CountryFest — but it's the first time they've made it to the main stage.

"We had been sitting on this bit of news for a while now. Only close friends and family knew, kind of like a pregnancy," said guitarist and vocalist Derek Peters with a laugh.

"But in all seriousness, we are beyond thrilled to be playing that big of stage, physically and metaphorically. I think we got the nod because of our recent title of Group/Duo of the Year, so it's a lot of pressure but I think we're definitely prepared. Be ready to get blown away!"

Band manager Bambi Rutherford agrees that being asked to play on the main stage at Dauphin's CountryFest is quite an honour.

"Performing in front of potentially 10,000 people is just something that you can't put a price on," she said.

"It's an amazing opportunity to get our music out there and to grow our fan base."

As their manager, she is so proud to see how doors keep opening for Past the Perimeter, made up of Peters along with Evan Taplin (bass and vocals), Devin Biy (drums) and Lachlan McLean (guitar and vocals).

"They have worked and sacrificed so much. They deserve every success that is coming their way," Rutherford said.

"I have been blessed to connect with some great people in the industry who have, in turn, supported the boys and helped to make things happen for them. The boys are writing great material and are proud to be working with a multi award-winning production team."

The band members are grateful for all of their fans, as well as support from media, industry professionals and radio stations throughout the province and across Canada.

"In this business, you are only as successful as the people you surround yourself with and, of course, because of the fans that choose to surround you," Rutherford said.

"I think that says it all about their success. Thank you to everyone."

On March 18, the band released their new single "Easy," written by Biy and Taplin.

"As the title suggests, this song came very naturally for us, which is strange because it's quite a bit different of a sound than most of our fans are used to," Peters said.

"However, once we got into the studio, the PTP edge became quite apparent. It came together very quickly in the writing process. It only took half an hour, and it wasn't even the song we were planning on working on that evening. It just sort of happened."

The song is now available on all digital platforms — including Spotify, Apple Music and Google Play — and it will hit the radio waves March 25.

Past the Perimeter released their new single 'Easy,' written by Biy and Taplin on March 18.

Rhianna Rae Saj is also include on the list of performers for Dauphin's CountryFest.

"It is my first year ever performing at country fest, and I'm really excited," said Saj, who is also from Stonewall.

"I was a bit shocked to see the email come through, but I'm really excited. Everything has kind of come full circle for me as I spent many years in the crowd watching the concerts and wondered what it'd be like to play on any of the stages there. I feel as though things are starting to come together."

"I am also really happy to see that there are so many local artists on the bill as well."

On a side note, to celebrate 30 years of running the largest country music festival in Manitoba, Dauphin's CountryFest is hosting the Our Birthday, Your Party contest.

Communities with a population of 10,000 or fewer people can enter the contest, vying for the chance to host a free country music concert.

Dauphin's CountryFest will provide the performer and production, while the winning community or non-profit organization will be responsible for ticket sales and marketing of the concert. The hosting organization will also get to keep all the revenue from concert ticket sales.

The submissions will be divided into seven regions: Central, Eastern, Interlake, Midwestern, Northern, Parkland and Western. Judges will select seven submissions, aiming to choose one from each region. Then the public will have the chance to vote for the winner among the Top 7 finalists.

For any local organizations that might like to enter, the deadline for submissions is March 31. More information is available at www.OurBirthdayYourParty.ca

Rockwood council news in brief

By Jennifer McFee

Bill Matheson provided input on capital development levies from the other side of the Rockwood council table during a meeting last week.

On March 13, the former councillor spoke as a delegation on the issue of capital development fees and offered a potential alternative to the current process.

"Capital development fees or levies are a one-time tax on new capital developments, such as a home, to offset or contribute to the additional costs of operating, repairing, expanding or replacing municipal infrastructure," he explained.

"It is a good way for individuals who are wanting to live and build new in the RM to make a contribution to the existing infrastructure."

However, he said that Section 143 of the Planning Act is flawed, since it indicates that the levy can only be enacted with the creation of a subdivision. In contrast, other communities across the country collect fees at the development stage or the building permit stage.

Matheson said about 10 homes each year are built in the RM without making a capital development levy contribution, which would equate to about $100,000 in lost local revenue.

Currently, building permits cost about $1,500 apiece. Matheson suggested increasing this amount to $12,000 and $15,500 apiece, depending on whether they're urban or rural. If capital development levies had already been paid on the property, then the owners would receive a rebate on the building permit for the same amount.

That way, the fee would have nothing to do with a subdivision.

"We need to treat our ratepayers fairly," Matheson said, encouraging councillors to discuss the matter with provincial politicians.

In other council news:

- Rockwood council appointed Dennis Peterson as the emergency co-ordinator for the Stonewall Rockwood Emergency Management Board.

- The RM of Rockwood spring road weight restrictions start on Wednesday, March 20 at 8 a.m. and will remain in effect until Friday, May 31 at 11:59 p.m. The end date is subject to change due to weather, and updates will be posted on the RM's website at www.rockwood.ca.

- Council hosted a public hearing regarding an application to vary the minimum site requirement of a property in the agricultural general zone to 66 acres from 80 acres for the proposed residual parcel that would result from a subdivision. The South Interlake Planning District had no concerns with the variance application and recommended approval.

- The RM of Rockwood is exploring the option of increasing the size of its building to incorporate its property to the north of the existing building. Going forward, council will discuss this idea.

- Council authorized the public works department to install stop signs and street name signs on all the east-west streets in Gunton.

- Council awarded the gravel supply contract to Inland Aggregates Inc. for the south supplier and Armstrong Construction for the northern supplier.

- Council approved the installation of a culvert under Road 94N approximately 150 metres west of Highway 17 to act as an overflow pipe in high water situations. Sustainable Development requires that Manitoba Infrastructure sign off on the project because the Road 94N ditch flows directly into their ditch on Highway 17. The resolution also states that the installation of the new culvert won't impact the Manitoba Infrastructure drainage system.

Five-year-old Liam Chubey and his grandmother Kathy Campbell were enjoying the beautiful weather last Sunday snowshoeing on the Teulon's Green Acres Park trails.

letter to the editor

Will the PST reduction save you money?

This is my response to the articles submitted by the Manitoba government and the CFIB on Page 6 and 8 of the March 14 edition of the Stonewall Teulon Tribune:

PST reduction at what cost and what benefit?

All taxpayers should question themselves as to what this PST reduction saves them and what it costs them.

It's worth noting that when Fielding mentions how it will save an average family of four $3,000, the figure he's referring to is after a five-year period.

He conveniently didn't mention that part, did he?

That figure is also exaggerated as most of a family's large expenses are non-taxable, and even if they are, that's only a one per cent reduction of what they're paying.

When Fielding says he's increased funding for health care, for education and for families, that's also twisting the truth.

Pallister's government has closed the St. Boniface Family Medical Centre, which is bilingual and sees 17,000 outpatient visits a year. It also put $300m that was going towards a new CancerCare building on hold, while cutting $2.5m of current CancerCare.

The Winnipeg Regional Health Authority also reports that they're being forced by this government to find $36 million in savings as well.

Pallister also cut $500,000 from special needs students in the 2016-17 budget.

Low-income families have also been completely blind-sided by this government as they no longer get financial help for home repairs.

I ask everyone reading this: Is 10 cents off your cheeseburger really worth all these cuts?

Regards, Josh Haney
VP of your local NDP

Rural communities make up larger community

Sometimes living in smaller communities can translate to neglect from larger entities.

Take the City of Winnipeg, for instance. If the City of Winnipeg has a pressing issue, and needs aid or input from the Province of Manitoba, it's not long before the city has the province's ear.

But if the towns of Arborg, Stonewall or Gimli, just as examples, find themselves in similar situations, getting that ear might not be as easy.

The re-design and re-construction of provincial roads 415 and 416 is a great example. The roads were closed for nearly a decade.

At a glance, maybe those provincial roads seem like a low priority to a city dweller compared to other things.

But those roads represent a shorter commute — upwards of a 45-minute difference in commute — between the communities of Woodlands, Inwood, St. Laurent and Teulon.

It's not just about what could be classified as convenience, as they also represent access for emergency personnel.

Though it took a decade, it was the combined efforts of the involved communities that garnered the Province of Manitoba's attention.

A quick kudos should be given to the involved organizations and municipalities, as they're advocating for their communities.

Another example is in the works, as on Tuesday at Teulon's municipal council meeting, the council spoke about the potential of having the East Interlake Conservation District lobby the city to change its method of sewage disposal.

The City of Winnipeg currently dumps sewage waste into the river system, which ends up affecting the cleanliness of the Red River in the Interlake area, according to Teulon council.

The East Interlake Conservation District (EICD) is an organization of neighbouring municipalities, towns and villages working together as a watershed community with the Province of Manitoba to promote the sustainable use and management of land and water resources within the East Interlake region of Manitoba, according to its website.

Whether or not the EICD gets its point across, and whether or not the city changes its ways, both remain to be seen.

But the point is this: it's important not to forget the fact that rural Manitoba communities make up one larger community. It shouldn't be a city versus rural mentality, but it's critical to remember there is power in numbers.

The City of Winnipeg has those numbers but so, too, does the rural community as a whole. We don't have to look far for examples.

Band together, prioritize and have your voices heard.

The history of Pink Shirt Day

Few people would find anything wrong with primary school students taking part in a day of anti-bullying; however, upon reading the article, I found that the original intent of Pink Shirt Day has been misconstrued. According to the Pink Shirt Day website, two Grade 12 boys intervened in the bullying, by two other boys, of a Grade 9 boy who wore a pink shirt to school. The Grade 12 students subsequently purchased and distributed 50 pink T-shirts to other boys in the school in support of the bullied student and Pink Shirt Day was established. The official website doesn't identify the Grade 9 student as gay or the Grade 12 students, as straight as your article states. Also, according to your article, Pink Shirt Day is now a celebration of "diversity and raising awareness of homophobia, transphobia and transmisogyny."

While most people are aware of the meanings of homophobia and transphobia, I had to look up the meaning of transmisogyny. The online magazine Everyday Feminism defines transmisogyny as "all about the hatred of feminism, and it is not limited toward only those who identify as women. It includes transfeminine and feminine-identified gender-queer people, as well as many others who are feminine-of-centre but were not assigned female at birth."

My deep concern is, is this an ideology appropriate to be exposing small children to or a blatant indoctrination of innocent minds? Is the hot debate on university campuses surrounding the "spectrum" of human sexuality (a "spectrum" denied by those holding doctorates in biology), something children need to be concerned with? I don't believe so. I conclude that educators at RW Bobby Bend have failed to do their homework to actually determine if this propaganda is beneficial to the children who have been entrusted to their tutelage. I also wonder if parents would actually endorse it if they were consulted? Hopefully not.

A letter to all disciples of the Diocese of Rupert's Land

Dear Disciples,
I write to you today deeply grieving of those who were murdered at two Mosques this morning in Christchurch, New Zealand.

Those murdered and those critically injured, and all who love and care for them, shall have the prayers of the Body of Christ continuously before God. We pray that God will strengthen those who have suffered greatly at the hands of those who acted with violence, hatred, extremism and terrorism toward the human family, God's children.

We shall not allow fear and hatred to hold the world hostage.

We shall physically and spiritually stand with our human family, in all faiths and walks of life, especially those who have become targets of hatred and violent acts.

We chose to act now, to build and rebuild healthy relationships with all people, loving our neighbours as ourselves.

We choose to live out our baptism into the Body of Christ by accepting our call not only to respect the dignity of every human being but to live that out by courageously walking with all who persecuted.

Now, more than ever, may we strive for the Peaceable Kingdom. Let us pray for those who lost life and those who love them. Let us walk outside our comfort zone to always greet new human family members. And let us proactively work to build health and wellness into all the world; let us, with courage, call out the fear that drives people to extremism and terrorism.

Let us join in love to pray this day through, to listen to one another for God's voice and call, and to imagine how we can join God in breaking the fear that causes such hatred and violence in the world.

Yours in faith,
The Rt. Rev. Geoff Woodcroft
Bishop of Rupert's Land

Thank you to our paramedics

We would very much like to acknowledge the wonderful paramedic service (out of Stonewall Hospital) that was received a couple of weeks ago for a senior gentleman in distress. When paramedics Misty and Carissa arrived, they handled the situation with grace and dignity, which helped alleviate this gentleman's anxiety (and ours!). We were grateful for their efficiency and professionalism!

- Sincerely,

Fishing derbies create pride and good hearted feelings

Hi folks.

I think it's fair to say there has been an explosion of ice fishing derbies in Manitoba in the last decade. During that time I've noticed each derby seems to have its own character based on the folks in the community who put it on. I must admit to having a soft spot in my heart for the Grand Marais derby as well as other small town derbies like it. That little town has tried so hard making access roads to the ice in winter to attract anglers for ice fishing, including derbies to raise funds for a new harbour. They lost their pier to a vicious storm years ago.

Just ask Mel Smith, a tiny, well meaning, charming gal with light brown hair in pig tails, a brilliant smile and tons of energy. Speaking in quick half sentences as I stood with her on the deep snow cover on the Lake Winnipeg ice, surrounded by this year's derby participants, she spoke passionately about the towns' endless drive to regain a marina, perhaps in their beautiful natural lagoon and her love of fishing. They didn't have enough money this year to snow plow an area for the anglers to fish on but the local folks and visitors took it in stride and shoveled out spots for themselves while volunteers helped drill holes. Local folks or those who had a connection with the town gathered and as I went around talking to them there was a sense of closeness and good hearted feelings as they intermingled shaking hands and catching up with people they hadn't seen since last year.

Mel laughed when I asked her if she had a fishing story for us. She said the first time she went ice shack fishing with friends here on New Year's Eve years ago she no sooner got her baited hook below the ice and a fish struck. With only a little line out from her rod she hauled up hard and a pickerel came jumping out of the holes water, slipped her hook and without so much as a thank you took a nose dive disappearing into a neighboring ice hole!

Later, at the end of the derby Dean Stockman, from the area won first prize with a nice pickerel which he proudly held up for us. Thanks Dean and congratulations.

I was cruising up and down the ice of the Red River a couple of weeks ago on a hazy afternoon and saw a chap standing beside his SUV nursing two short rods with lines in ice holes. I pulled up to him and asked if he was having any luck. "Not much," our new friend, with a pleasant face, short grey hair and full body that moved with ease responded. "What's your name?" I asked getting out of old red. "I'm Herb Block and my wife's first name is Ruth, but just because the first letter of our first names are "H" and "R" doesn't mean we're connected to the income tax guys," he kidded. I thought that one over for a moment before asking Herb, an obvious joker, if he had a fishing story. He did and it went like this.

Some time ago Herb got Ruth to go up to Waterhen Lake north of Dauphin to fish with him. It was her first time and standing on the shore with new fishing gear on a bright, windy morning, she promptly caught two master angler sized pickerel. Weeks later, at home in Winnipeg when Herb asked her to come fishing again she said, "No, I've done it once and it was ok but I'm gonna quit while I'm ahead!" It's so great to see you and your wife have a sense of humor Herb.

Rarely have I met an angling brother who had so many fishing stories we had to take a coffee break between the telling of his experiences. Such a man was Richard Stocki of Winnipeg whom I recently met. He was a robust fellow of average size with a round face covered by a white beard, short grey hair and an air about him that made you feel as though he had been your buddy for years. Here is one of his stories. It was the last day of deer hunting years ago and Richard wanted to go try his luck but his brother persuaded him to go fishing on Netley Creek. Richard thought to bring his gun in case he saw a deer but again his brother told him to forget it. Off they went. They drilled ice holes with a hand auger in maybe six inches of ice. They were happily landing pickerel and jack, yapping back and forth while eating sandwiches and washing them down with coffee, until they heard a snort. They looked up and there stood a five point buck staring at them. "See," Richard shouted at his brother, "my gun's at home and we wind up with a huge buck twenty feet away!" The buck regarded them with a blank uncaring look then gingerly turned and made for the bush cover of the creek bank!

Till next week my friends, bye for now.

Fire Service members training program to help cope with work-related stress

By the Manitoba government

The Office of the Fire Commissioner (OFC) will soon be offering a program called The Working Mind First Responders (TWMFR) in partnership with the Mental Health Commission of Canada (MHCC) and the Manitoba Association of Fire Chiefs (MAFC), to help members of the Manitoba Fire Service cope with the realities of work-related stress, Growth, Enterprise and Trade Minister Blaine Pedersen, minister responsible for the Office of the Fire Commissioner, announced last Thursday.

"Helping our first responders identify the stressors they may face, and making sure they have the coping mechanisms to deal with that stress, is critical," Pedersen said. "Emergency service personnel face trauma on a daily basis, and we want to ensure they have the skills to maintain resilience and keep coming back to do the important life-saving work they do."

Under an agreement with the MHCC to deliver the Train the Trainer program, a specialty instructor network will be developed to deliver the half-day training sessions to members of the Manitoba Fire Service. The specialty instructor network will work under the guidance and direction of the Manitoba Emergency Services College (MESC) as the training and education provider on behalf of the OFC.

This model has been highly successful in delivering other important fire, rescue and emergency medical training in Manitoba and will ensure the TWMFR program is available to all departments across the province. The TWMFR course is designed to:

- improve short-term performance and long-term mental health outcomes,
- reduce barriers and encourage access to care,
- provide tools to manage and support employees experiencing a mental illness, and
- support supervisors in maintaining their own mental health.

"The mental well-being and resilience of our members has been identified as a priority by the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs," said Brad Yochim, fire chief of the Wallace and District Fire Department and president of MAFC.

"By making the TWMFR program available to all members of the Manitoba Fire Service, we will build on the strength of the existing Critical Incident Stress Management Network already in place to support our members. We look forward to working with the MESC on the development of this instructor network and the delivery of this training to our members."

For more information on the Working Mind First Responders Program, visit the Office of the Fire Commissioner's website at www.firecomm.gov.mb.ca.

Was A Life Saved This Week?

We heard screams. Suddenly the lights start flashing. The receptionist hit the silent alarm. Emergency! We run downstairs. A guy is chasing a girl down the street. He's angry. Screaming. She's terrified. Trying to call the police. Does he have a knife? Gun? Didn't matter. I walk towards them and...

At that point, I disappear. My co-workers can't find me. It's freezing. I've got no jacket. No phone. They're searching for me. Core area. Downtown Winnipeg. For two hours. Praying. Wondering if they should call the cops...

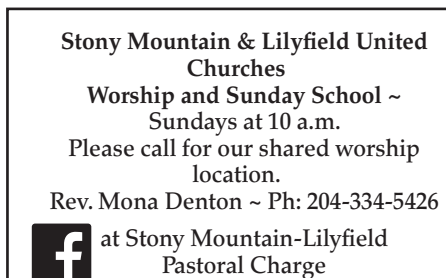

This happened 4 days ago. Picture this. I'm in a T-shirt. Shivering. Near Siloam Mission. Talking to the couple in a back alley. Trying to figure out where this intense anger is coming from. Turns out the guy had an abusive childhood. So did I. He had a parent who attempted to murder the other. So did I. He's a twin. So am I. What are the odds? Coincidence or providence? He starts crying when he realizes that he finally met someone who might understand his childhood. His pain. His anger. God arranged this. God is good.

I take them for breakfast. We talk. Pray. I'm able to share how God helped me forgive my Mom. How Jesus set me free from the prisons of anger, jealousy, shame, hatred, violence, and past hurts. How God changed everything. We talked about the gospel. About how Jesus died so we could have new life. God moved on this man's heart. He made a big decision.

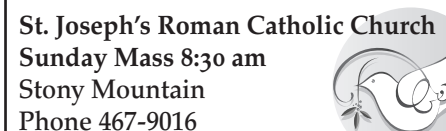

I didn't plan this. My goal was to help a girl in trouble. God did so much more. He worked a miracle. Today we have a new brother in the Lord. A life transformed. Relationship restored. They left together. Holding hands. With Bibles. People on a path to healing. The anger was gone. Replaced with hope. Ephesians 3 says God does "exceedingly abundantly more than we can ask or imagine." I believe it.

Did God save a life in Winnipeg this week? I think so. Will God save a life in Stonewall? That depends. Are you willing to consider knowing Jesus or making Him known?

Municipal Act are in place for a reason, to create transparency, and those rules need to be followed regardless of how much was or was not spent.

"It's not about cost; it's about morals," Ledarney said to council.

"I believe in rules. ... If someone breaks the law, we don't not prosecute that person based on cost. This is worth pursuing.

"If there is an error, it is built into the law to re-file, and during the entire period before re-filing, an elected official can seek advice from the province or someone who has experience. But when you re-file, it should be correct. It was not correct, and it was late," he said.

Some of the mayor's supporters attended the meeting and became displeased, with one woman in attendance voicing her opinion quite audibly.

"This is so stupid," she said loudly, while shaking her head.

Teulon seeking legal advice

But it seems the Province of Manitoba's Ministry of Municipal Relations is re-iterating the legislation to the letter. In a February letter to the CAO, Municipal Serves officer Wendy Wolfe alluded to what's coming.

"The council of a municipality, or any person, may apply to the Courts if they believe an offence has occurred. A council or person should consult their legal counsel before pursuing such an action," says Wolfe via email.

"Also, we would advise that section 93.16 (2) forfeiture of seat on council applies when a candidate does not file an election finance statement."

At its March 12 meeting, Teulon council voted in favour of seeking legal advice on the matter, with the vote coming in 3-2. Councillors Ledarney, Hutchinson and Girardin voted in favour of seeking legal counsel, while Mayor Kozyra and Coun. Mankewich voted against the idea.

Though, Coun. Ledarney wouldn't go as far as to say the mayor acted maliciously or had conscious disregard for campaign election rules.

"I'll leave that up to a court, if it gets that far, to make that determination," says Ledarney. "I believe there is enough here that warrants obtaining a legal opinion."

Coun. Mankewich asked the cost of the municipality seeking a legal opinion be made public.

Local Zumba instructor soars to new heights

By Jennifer McFee

A local woman is soaring to new heights, showing that the sky's the limit when it comes to achieving your dreams.

Erika Riley recently embarked on a new career as a WestJet flight attendant. At the same time, the mother of five also hopes to continue with her other endeavours such as instructing Zumba classes and teaching Spanish lessons.

Originally from Venezuela, Riley moved to Canada when she was 16 years old. Over time, she married grain farmer Neil Riley and they raised their five children on their farm north of Stonewall.

She home-schooled all five kids — 14-year-old Karling, 15-year-old Ellis, 17-year-old McHale, 20-year-old Dawson and 22-year-old Jordan — allowing them to develop their own self-reliance as they got older. The Riley clan is also well-known for the Ukrainian dancing abilities.

Then 10 years ago, Riley began teaching Zumba and has become known throughout the community for her classes.

"This year is my 10th anniversary. With home-schooling, parents have to be creative about how they promote physical education for their kids. So Ukrainian dancing was one way to do it, and there was a kids' program with Zumba as well," she said.

"My kids wanted to help me out, so they were my little assistants. It was a fun family activity. It was nice to have the children involved with me as much as I did. It was good family promotion."

Riley also had been teaching Spanish and decided to pursue her certification to teach English as a second language.

"I thought that maybe I should close that circle and become an ESL teacher," she said. "So I took the training for that and closed the circle so I could teach both English and Spanish."

She also knew that her fluency in Spanish would be beneficial in the travel industry, which she had been pursuing before she got married.

"Before I met my husband, I had already been taking travel and tourism education at the time," she said.

"But I never got into the workforce all that much because I got married and started having children right away."

Now that her children are getting older, she decided to let her dreams take flight. She applied at WestJet and nothing came out of it. So she applied again and her persistence paid off. She succeeded in a long interview process and went to Calgary for training in January.

The sky's the limit for Erika Riley, who recently started working for WestJet.

"It was a whirlwind. I was gone for five weeks, and I don't think I've ever been away from my kids that long, ever," she said.

"My kids were so incredibly supportive. All of a sudden it was me going to school and them encouraging me. It's like the tables turned for a moment.

"I would tell them about every passing mark and everything I accomplished. They would be so thrilled and celebrating with me via Facetime or text or phone. It was really nice to feel that encouragement."

She completed her first set of flights along with an experienced flight attendant, and she recently started to work on her own.

"Once I master something, I want to feel challenged again," she said. "It's amazing to keep learning."

A group of Warren Elementary senior My Voice students collected gently used hoodies to donate as a warming act of kindness and helpfulness. Last week, 56 hoodies were delivered to the Health Sciences Centre. The larger hoodies have been added to the centre's adult clothing depot that is accessible by adult emergency patients, who may be homeless or have arrived by ambulance or air ambulance with no plans to be in the hospital therefore may not have appropriate clothing when they are discharged. Smaller hoodies have been shared with the centre's Just Like New shop that is 100 per cent volunteer operated, with the funds of the sale of hoodies returned to HSC for various projects. # McLeod House to host fashion show fundraiser

Stewart to host CancerCare fundraiser for close friend Susan Ennis on April 18

By Ty Dilello

The McLeod House Tearoom and Gift Shop has recently opened its doors again for the spring and is kicking things off in a big way by hosting their first Spring Fashion Preview and CancerCare Fundraiser on Thursday, April 18 at 5:30 p.m.

Tickets are available for $20 and all proceeds are going to the CancerCare Manitoba Foundation for brain research. Ticket cost includes complimentary sparkling wine and cheese plates at your table. In addition, 20 per cent of all gift shop sales from the evening will be donated to the CancerCare Manitoba Foundation as well.

What originally was going to be just a fashion show turned into a fundraiser over the last little while. It's the first one that McLeod House is hosting, and if all goes well, owner Leanne Stewart would like to turn it into an annual event.

Susan Ennis, a close friend of Stewart's who has been there since the inception of the tearoom, was diagnosed with brain cancer at the end of last year. So the evening of April 18 will be a way to honour her and support her in her battle with brain cancer.

McLeod House owner/operator Leanne Stewart will be hosting a CancerCare fashion show fundraiser in support of friend Susan Ennis who is battling brain cancer.

"She was one of the reasons the tearoom exists because she kind of put the idea in my head," said Stewart.

"She's a great friend and we wanted to honour her in this kind of way and raise some money in a fun way that will hopefully be very uplifting."

It was a chance meeting with Ennis in 2003 that gave Stewart the idea of opening a tearoom in Stonewall and she ran with it. Stewart had mentioned to Ennis that she had been running this gift shop in Winnipeg with her mom for over 15 years, but after Stewart's mom passed away, running the business wasn't the same without her so Stewart was looking to make a change.

"Before I opened McLeod House, I had no intention of ever having a tearoom. I owned a gift shop in Winnipeg and Susan was a decorator and had a business in Stonewall at the time (Creative Color)," said Stewart. "She planted the seed and it just grew. Sue was saying that it was too bad Stonewall didn't have a tearoom and that it was something that was really missing from the town. About a year later, I opened the tearoom and have been here ever since."

Over the 16 years that Stewart's had the tearoom, she's had many customers that have had cancer journeys of their own, so for this upcoming Fashion Night, she asked a few of them to be models for the fashion show. Of course, Susan and some of her family will be there doing some modelling as well.

"The McLeod House Tearoom and Gift Shop has been my blood, sweat, tears and pride for 15 years and has turned into a gem for the town, bringing thousands of people from Winnipeg and surrounding areas to Stonewall," said Stewart.

"And I truly believe that McLeod House would not be here if it was not for my chance meeting with the amazing, infectious, spontaneous, fun and exuberant Susan Ennis."

There is a limited number (40 to 50) of tickets that are going to be available, so please go visit the McLeod House Tearoom and Gift Shop in Stonewall to purchase a ticket as they will be selling fast.

There will also be a silent auction with prizes including a beautiful quilt made by Shirley Campbell among others prizes. There will also be an opportunity to make tax-free donations through the CancerCare Manitoba Foundation.

For any local businesses that would like to contribute to the silent auction, please get in contact with Leanne Stewart at 204-791-6294 or mcleod-house@mymts.net.

There Can Be No Trust Where Gossip Abounds

Gossip is hurtful. Regardless of the age or stage of life, and whether it is in the family, school, office or neighborhood, gossip pollutes the social and emotional environment. No good can possibly come from speaking negatively about another person. There can be no trust where gossip abounds.

Gossip generally involves criticizing another for behaving in ways we do not like. This presumes we know best: that our way is the right way. Even if a person did something wrong, running out and telling five more people hardly solves the problem. There is a difference between confiding in someone you trust when there are difficulties, and tattling, on someone.

If you are confiding because you are upset, you can do this with the tacit understanding that the conversation will not be repeated. You can also keep the focus on resolving the issue, rather than doing a character assassination.

The path with the highest integrity is the one where we work out the issue with the one who has hurt or upset us. We make our peace and move on.

If the other is not interested in peaceful resolution, then it is best to leave it at that and move on. To keep stirring the pot, attempting to turn others against the adversary, sets up a process of both inner and outer turmoil. It is best to shift your focus on the other things, so that you restore a positive energy state within your own being. That will serve the highest good of all.

Wildcats win varsity girls' provincial basketball title

By Brian Bowman

The Warren Collegiate Wildcats are the MHSAA "AA" varsity girls' basketball provincial champions once again.

Warren won the title after a solid 58-41 victory over the Goose Lake High Angels on Saturday in Sagkeeng.

"For us to win back-to-back provincial championships is pretty huge," said Wildcats' head coach Kevin Braun. "They worked really hard and they deserve it. Everything worked out well for them."

It was a great defensive effort by the Wildcats.

"It was a pretty exciting game and it was back-and-forth pretty much the whole first half," Braun said. "At half-time, the girls were a little frustrated. There was a lot of physicality in the game and not a whole lot of it was being called."

Grace Goodman led all players with 17 points and was named the Wildcats' player of the game. She had just four points in the first half as she was battling foul trouble.

"In the second half, she was phenomenal, driving to the hoop and running the floor," Braun said. "That really helped spread the margin a bit because they were really focused on Alex (Chester) offensively."

The Wildcats reached the final after slipping past King's Knights 54-53 in an exciting semifinal matchup. Warren struggled offensively in the third quarter but picked it up in the fourth, said Braun.

"The girls really had to fight through that one," he said. "It was pretty emotional when we won at the final buzzer by one."

Chester was fantastic on the offensive end, scoring a game-high 26 points. She was also named the Wildcats' player of the game.

Warren opened the eight-team provincials with a dominating 72-31 triumph over Sagkeeng.

Goodman led all scorers with 15 points. Chester was named Warren's player of the game and was later selected as the most valuable player at the provincials.

"She's been huge for us all season," Braun said of the talented senior. "She led the way for us offensively."

Goodman and Laura Brad were named provincial all stars.

Looking ahead to next season, Warren will lose a ton of talent due to graduation. Brad, Chester, Goodman, Jordan Schott, Malika Bangle and Darrien Bullied have all played their final high school game.

"It's going to be tough losing all those Grade 12s," Braun said. "They have an incredible skill set and they came to practice and wanted to learn. It's definitely going to be tough playing without them next year."

The King's Knights defeated the

Jets, Raiders even in MMJHL playoff series

By Brian Bowman

Things didn't look too good for the Raiders Jr. Hockey Club on Sunday in Stonewall.

Already down 1-0 in their best-of-seven quarter-final series and trailing 2-0 in the second period of Game 2, the Raiders suddenly got rolling by scoring five unanswered goals in a 5-2 victory.

"The score doesn't really reflect how the game went in my mind," said Jets' head coach Brock Couch. "The two goals they scored to catch up happened on one shift. We got caught playing a little too high in the neutral zone. We were up 2-0 and feeling confident at that point and they caught us sleeping. It was a huge momentum swing."

After Brendan Labossiere and Keeven-Daniels Webb gave the Jets a 2-0 lead, the Raiders responded with second-period goals from Milan Horanski and Elisha Bambridge.

The visitors then broke the game open with goals by Liam Noga, Auzzie Loewen-Palmer and Bambridge in the third. Logan Thiessen, who suited up with the Selkirk Steelers earlier this season, posted the win in goal.

The Jets started the series with an impressive 4-3 win over the Raiders last Friday.

The first period was a wild one as Stonewall grabbed a 3-2 lead after 20 minutes.

Aiken Chop, Jared Hulme and Branden Storey scored for the Jets in the first period. Storey's goal came with just 10 seconds remaining in the period. Elisha Bambridge and Horanski replied for the Raiders in the opening frame.

After a scoreless second period, Chop scored his second of the game at 16:16 of the third to give the visitors a 4-2 lead. But the Raiders' responded with a goal from Dale Mounk with 1:09 remaining in the third.

Both goals came on the power play.

Special teams played a huge role in the game as the Jets were 3-for-4 with the man advantage and the Raiders finished 3-for-3.

"We seemed to frustrate them and it came down to even strength," Couch said. "Both teams buried three power-play goals and we were the team that got the lone even-strength goal."

Jets' goaltender Curtis Beck made 24 saves in the 4-3 win against the Raiders last Friday.

Curtis Beck made 24 saves for the victory.

Game 3 of the series will be played Wednesday at the Seven Oaks Sportsplex and then Game 4 is set for Friday in Stonewall. The crowds for the first two games of the series have been good. Both games start at 7:30 p.m.

"This is going to be a tight series," Couch said. "It's a battle, guys are intense on either side. It's going to be fun. The boys are excited to go back there (Wednesday) and it's a best-of-five now ... and hopefully we can steal another one on the road."

Saints stopped by Knights in third-place game at provincials

By Brian Bowman

A very young Teulon Collegiate Saints' varsity girls' basketball team had a real good showing at the provincials.

Teulon was defeated 74-41 by a sharp-shooting King's Knights team in the third-place game of the MHSAA "A" varsity girls' basketball provincials in Sagkeeng on Saturday.

"We started off alright but then one of my Grade 11s got hurt and I only have five Grade 11s," said Saints' coach Jason Darragh. "We had to go with one of our JV players so we were in tough once somebody got hurt and then one of my top scorers got hit in the face with the ball and her nose started bleeding.

"We kind of ran out of steam after we had a good game against Goose Lake in the semifinals."

MacKenzie Garand was Teulon's top scorer with 19 points against King's Knights.

"She had a good weekend," Darragh said. "Honestly, all five Grade 11s had a really good weekend. They all played really hard and our Grade 10 and our Grade 9s all played well. It was a total team effort."

Jubilee Nichols was selected as the Saints' player of the game.

In the semifinal matchup, Teulon lost 60-50 to the Goose Lake High Angels on Friday. The Saints, at one point, led by as many as 10 points.

"There was some disappointment because we almost pulled off the upset in the semifinals," Darragh admitted. "We led 32-22 at the half and then by the end of the third we had one Grade 11 girl in foul trouble."

"The girls worked so hard and they were disappointed that we got that close to the provincial final."

Jacey Ledochowski led all scorers with 19 points. Garand was named Teulon's player of the game.

Teulon opened action with a hard-fought 36-30 victory over the Souris Sabres last Thursday. The score was tied at 30-30 with about five minutes remaining before Teulon closed out the game on a 6-0 run.

"We had girls come off the bench to hold it together to keep the game close," Darragh said. "We pride ourselves on our defence."

Garand scored a game-high 14 points.

Ledochowski was selected as the Saints' player of the game.

Teulon had a small roster of nine players this season and they were young. The Saints' lineup consisted of three Grade 9s, a Grade 10, and five players in Grade 11.

"Our goal at the start of the year was to get to provincials," Darragh said. "We had a really good last month of the season. We beat Warren and Warren ended up winning (the provincials) but we were the only team to beat Warren all year."

The Saints should be able to take another run at a provincial title next year.

"That's the plan," Darragh insisted. "Everyone should be back. At the start of the season we explained to the girls that it would be a two-year process. Our goal should be thinking provincials in 2020."

Hockey season ends for Maxwell, Chwaliboga

James Maxwell

Staff

The Manitoba Junior Hockey League season has ended for a pair of Interlake players.

Winnipeg Blues' forward James Maxwell of Stonewall and defenceman Griffin Chwaliboga of Arborg saw their season end abruptly Monday evening when their squad lost 4-3 in double overtime to the Steinbach Pistons.

Steinbach's Jack Kilroy scored the game-winner at 10:24 of the double overtime.

The Pistons won the best-of-seven series 4-2.

After losing the first three games of their first-round playoff series against the No. 3-ranked Pistons, the sixth-seeded Blues won the next two games.

Maxwell scored twice in the series while Chwaliboga had four assists.

Chwaliboga has now aged-out of junior hockey while Maxwell has one more season of Junior "A" eligibility.

Steinbach now advances to play the Swan Valley Stampeders in a best-of-seven semifinal series.

In the other semifinal, the Portage Terriers will battle the Virden Oil Capitals.

Warren whips Morden in Game 3 to take series lead

By Brian Bowman

The Warren Mercs had an extra special reason to celebrate St. Patrick's Day on Sunday.

Warren skated to a solid 6-1 home win over the Morden Redskins in Game 3 of their South Eastern Manitoba Hockey League best-of-seven final series.

After Morden's Jay Fehr scored the only goal in the first period, Warren roared back in the second with goals from Brenden Luschinski (two), Braydon MacDonald and Eric Swanson.

"We got our feet moving," said Mercs' head coach Gerry Minaker of their strong second period. "Our team speed really took over, especially in that second period. The first period was a kind of weighing each other out period and they got that first goal."

"But once we got our feet moving in the second, we had such a strong forecheck and took complete control of the game."

Reid McLeod then added a pair of goals in the third. Mitch Hansen finished the game with three assists while Kyle Luschinski had two helpers.

Bryce Spittal made 24 saves for the victory

With the win, Warren now leads the series 2-1.

Morden had evened the series at a win apiece after a hard-fought 3-2 home victory on Saturday.

"We hit seven goal posts in that game and outshot them, outchanced them at least three or four to one," Minaker recalled. "We left a lot of opportunities out there."

Mike Rey, the league's leading scorer during the regular season and in the playoffs, scored twice for the Redskins.

His second goal was the game-winner at 16:19 of the third.

Warren's Brock Genyk had tied the score at 2-2 about eight minutes earlier.

Morden's Tyler Peers opened the scoring just 32 seconds into the second period but Warren's Brenden Luschinski tied the score midway in the frame. Rey then tallied late in the second period to put the home side up 2-1.

Game 2 was supposed to be played last Thursday but it was changed to Saturday due to poor road conditions.

On March 12, the Mercs defeated the Redskins 4-1 in Warren.

Warren took a 1-0 first-period lead as Johnny Lazo scored at 14:56 and then Wes Pawluk made it 2-0 just 23 seconds into the second.

cit in half 4:13 into the third but Warren responded with goals from MacDonald and Hansen.

Those two goals came 2:20 apart midway in the period.

Bryce Spittal made 27 saves for the win. He has played very well for the Mercs since starter Hayden Dola was injured in the semifinal series against Portage. Dola is out for the season with an injury.

"Bryce has stepped up and done a really nice job for us," Minaker said.

Game 4 of the series was played this past Tuesday in Morden but no score was available at press time. Game 5 will be played Thursday at 8 p.m. in Warren.

McTavish wins Masters Provincials in Stonewall

By Ty Dilello

The Stonewall Curling Club played host to the 2019 CurlManitoba Masters Men's and Women's Provincial Curling Championships this past week and what a wonderful curling event the host committee in Stonewall put on.

The ice was fantastic all event long, the volunteers and club were great with the curlers, and the ice-maker did a fantastic job despite the plant going down a couple of times. They were able to regroup and gather and make the ice conditions as good as possible, and that's really all you can ask for at a provincial championship.

When it was all said and done, the Gord McTavish rink from the Pembina Club in Winnipeg were the victors with a come-from-behind 6-2 win over Brandon's Jim Renwick in the final. It was an emotional win for the McTavish rink as it was the first provincial championship victory for any of the members on the team.

"It was all about keeping our heads," said an emotional McTavish after the final. "Not getting our emotions get the best of us was important and not letting anybody get out to a good jump start and that's what we did. We kept the score nice and close and we really forced them to look at a lot of trouble in the seventh end and fortunately we got the miss in the end."

The Renwick rink appeared to be the best team all week in Stonewall. They went undefeated in the round-robin at 7-0, then defeated Hamiota's Dale Brooks in the 1v2 game, before losing the final game to McTavish.

Renwick and McTavish met on the final round-robin draw and had a last-rock encounter that finished in a Renwick victory so there was some prior knowledge of each other's game coming into Monday afternoon's final.

The first two ends were very wide open and resulted in blanks. In the third end, the teams finally decided to mix it up and Renwick was forced to draw the button for a single.

McTavish had a quiet weight tap for two on his last in the fourth end but came up a little short and gave up a steal to give Renwick a 2-0 lead at the break.

In the fifth end, Renwick was in control all end and forced McTavish to draw the button for a single point. Renwick was in shape to get a deuce throughout the sixth end but missed a half-rock double on his last rock that resulted in a steal for McTavish to tie the game at 2-2.

The seventh end saw Renwick get into a whole lot of trouble and was facing a mittful on his last stone. Renwick's tap back was wide and heavy, giving McTavish a monumental steal of four and from there the gloves came off. 6-2 final for McTavish in seven ends.

"As a team, we improved every game. Our first five or six games we weren't playing that great so we had a little talk and then after that all of a sudden everything clicked and we kept getting better," said McTavish's lead Larry Lagace.

"It was excellent — the competition was stiff all week with curlers at this high-level of play all making shots. And it was really a gentlemen's game as we were playing a lot of great friends and getting to see old buddies that we hadn't seen in a long time, which was nice. I haven't curled at a provincial competition since I was 23 and I'm in Masters now so that was a very long time ago."

team went 4-3 on the week, while Selkirk's Garry Dola and East St. Paul's Neil Schmidt finished with a 2-5 record.

On the women's side, Sandra Cowling of Hamiota won the four-team Masters Ladies Provincials with a 5-3 victory over Morden's Gwen Wooley in the final, stealing the final end to ensure the win.

McTavish and Cowling have now won the right to represent Manitoba at the 2019 Canadian Masters Curling Championships being held April 1 to 7 in Saskatoon.

"There's going to be a lot of old friends there," said McTavish.

"It's an old man's brier with Al Hackner of Northern Ontario and Pat Ryan of B.C. in the mix there. It's going to be a real amazing experience and if we can play good curling and do our best then we'll represent Manitoba well. We'll be so proud to wear the Buffalo. It's a big honour."

What appears to be the will of God about the manner of keeping the Sabbath Day? There are two general rules laid down in Scripture for our guidance, and by them all questions must be decided. ## OBITUARY

William (Bill) Molter

With sorrow, and relief after many years of deteriorating health, the family of William (Bill) Molter announce his passing on March 15, 2019 at the Luther Care Home with family by his side, just one month short of his 87th birthday.

Mourning his loss is his wife of 48 years Marion (nee Ladd) and his children Craig, Bob (Colleen), Lynn (Carl), Darryl, and Karen (Luc), along with grandchildren Jody (Jim), Jamie (Kevin), Shane, Cole, Jesse (Cameo), Nicholas, Tyler, Katelyn and several great-grandchildren.

He was predeceased by his first wife Sophie (nee Magas) and her parents, step-father Steve (Kaschyshyn), his mother Maria (nee Molter), father-in-law Art, Mother-in-Law Marion, and grandson D.J.

Dad was born April 15th, 1932 at home on the family farm just outside of Stonewall. After finishing school in Grade 8 he went to work in the area, where he met and eventually married his first wife Sophie in 1956. They had four children together but Sophie succumbed to cancer in 1966 shortly after their 4th child was born. Later he met Marion (nee Ladd) and they were married in 1971 with their daughter Karen being born in 1974. Over the course of his working years he pursued many different avenues. Some of which were owning several different general stores, along with his own businesses of installing vacuums, house building and then with his sons a demolition business taking down the old grain elevators across the Western provinces. Eventually he went to work for Litz as a crane operator, which he did even into his 70's.

Dad enjoyed bowling, fishing, Sunday drives, and loved to play cribbage and was always up for a game against whomever was willing to lose, as he rarely lost! He especially enjoyed playing against his Uncle John Molter, who was like a father to him in his younger years. He loved to play jokes and over his lifetime had set up some elaborate schemes against many unsuspecting souls. He was always a favourite with the ladies with his wonderful mane of silver hair and bright blue eyes. Even his care aides couldn't help but fall in love with him. In his later years he was more apt to tell his family how proud he was of us and how much he loved us. He enjoyed telling his grandchildren stories of all his crazy shenanigans back in the "good ole days". He shall be missed by us all.

A memorial service will be held at MacKenzie Funeral Home, Stonewall, on Saturday, March 23rd, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. with a luncheon in the Legion following.

If friends so desire, in lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Luther Home in Winnipeg.

PET OBITUARY

Shaazel Spectazz

July 24, 1985 – February 28, 2019

It with great sadness and heavy hearts that we announce the passing of Shaazel Spectazz at 33 years old. Shaazel was a registered Part-Bred Arabian and has been my constant friend for over 25 years. I am truly heartbroken to be without her. Shaazel was a prize winning show horse and she went on to enjoy over 20 years of retirement, frolicking in fields with her horse friends. Shaazel was always crazy for a carrot and would demand them with her adorable nicker. She was a bright eyed, ears forward, and happy horse until her last day. Knowing our time was limited, last summer we had a birthday party to celebrate Shaazel's life and over 70 of her admirers attended. Shaazel was loved by so many and will be greatly missed.

I'd like to thank my Dad, Rae Pratt and husband, Jesse Peikoff for helping care for her all these years and for loving her too. Thank you to Betty Mae and Mark Peikoff for being there for us when the time came. Thank you to the Equi-Tech Veterinary Team for her constant care over the years and to Neil Versavel who made our very hard day easier.

I will miss you everyday Shaazel, and I will love you forever. -Julia Pratt

John MacLeod Hannah, Colonel (Ret), BA, CD
June 18, 1941 - March 14th, 2019

It is with profound sadness that we announce the unexpected passing of John "Johnny Boy" MacLeod Hannah on March 14th, 2019 due to complications during cardiac surgery at St. Boniface Hospital in Winnipeg.

John leaves behind his loving wife of 54 years, Patricia; his children Susan and Christopher; daughter-in-law Helena as well as his most beloved grandchildren Delta Emily, Francis Riel and Charles Alasdair. And of course, his beloved furry little cat pal Chico. He is survived by his mother-in-law Hope Haverstock; his brother-in-law and best friend Chuck Haverstock and his wife Diana; his brother David, his niece Anne-Marie Desjarlais, his nephew Stephen Haverstock, and the most awesome collection of in-laws imaginable: Scott, Kathy and Catherine Watson; Kelly, Valissa, Jesse, and Justice Desjarlais; Tammy and Tayden Haverstock. John was predeceased by parents William and Christina; father-in-law Hal Haverstock; Aunt Marjorie and Uncle Andrew Watson.

John was born to William and Christina on June 18th, 1941 at home 10 Chapel Lane, Coppel, Lancashire, England. William and his family immigrated to Canada in 1948 eventually settling in Willowdale, Ontario where father and sons built the family home. John resided there until he graduated from Earl Haig Collegiate. He joined the military and left for Royal Roads College in Victoria, BC in 1959, followed by RMC Kingston, graduating in 1963 with a degree in political science and the opportunity to enter pilot training. John received his wings in 1964 at RCAF Station Gimli and spent 32 years involved in aviation as an officer in the Air Force followed by a career at the TSB as an investigator for 23 years. He reluctantly retired at age 73.

John met the love of his life, Pat Haverstock, at Cold Lake, Alberta in October 1964 and were married in June 1965. For the next 54 years they embarked on a non-stop adventure full of love and laughs including stops in Germany, Australia, Cold Lake, Ottawa, Portage La Prairie and Winnipeg, finally retiring in Stonewall, Manitoba to be close to his daughter and first grandchild.

John received endless commendations and awards throughout his career, but much preferred to be recognized for his outstanding achievements in the field of being a grandpa. Every single thing John did was for his family and we are just so grateful to have had him in our lives for so long. He was gentle, doting, protective and selfless.

Like many grandpas, John also leaves behind seven metric tonnes of hand sanitizer and measuring tape.

A service to celebrate John's life will be held on Thursday, March 21st at 11a.m., Church of the Ascension, Stonewall, followed by a reception at the Heritage Arts Center Auditorium. Rev. James Bardsley officiating. Cremation has taken place.

In lieu of flowers, John would want people to make a donation to either the Humane Society or the St. Boniface Foundation/Cardiac Research.

We want to thank Dr. Michael Raabe and his team, as well as Dr. Russel Albak for his excellent care over the years.
