Rapid Relief Team dispatched for Woodlands appreciation barbecue

Under the watchful eye of Woodlands firefighters, Justin Evans practises using a fire extinguisher.

By Natasha Tersigni

The Rapid Relief Team (RRT) deployed their volunteers to host an appreciation barbecue to show their support for Woodlands Fire Department volunteers at the new Public Works Shop in Woodlands last Saturday.

RRT volunteers cooked for firefighters and community members with proceeds being donated back to the fire department to help purchase portable radios.

RRT is a charitable organization that provides food and hospitality to those affected and who are assisting during an emergency situation. The organization — which has groups in Australia, the United Kingdom, New Zealand, the Caribbean and North and South America — is comprised of members of the Plymouth Brethren Christian Church. This newly formed branch of RRT is made up of Woodlands residents, and while the group has not yet been dispatched to provide emergency relief, they have been working hard and volunteering their services at community events.

"We are working mainly in the Interlake region and into Winnipeg. So far, all of our work has been proactive and for charity events. In August, we supported the MS Biking to the Viking where 90 of our volunteers prepared food for the participants. This firefighters' appreciation barbecue is the first one that we have done for emergency personnel," said RRT volunteer and organizer Russ Evans, who was in charge of the Woodlands Fire Department Appreciation BBQ.

"As time goes on we hope to do more reactive work. If there is an event that occurs we can either feed the people that are affected, if the community has to evacuate, or we can feed the fire department and the personnel that responds."

Community members enjoyed the hospitality and a meal prepared by RRT during the appreciation barbecue event. The fire department also gave fire extinguisher demonstrations and tours of the fire safety trailer. Sparky the Fire Dog was also on hand to meet his fans and spread the important message of fire safety.

Korner Kutz to host grand opening on Sept. 17

By Jennifer McFee

Recent renovations at a Stonewall salon make it a cut above the rest, especially for wee ones who need a haircut.

Korner Kutz, located at 364 Main St., invites everyone to drop by for a grand opening event on Sept. 17 from 1 to 4 p.m.

Clients will notice impressive improvements, including the addition of a kids' corner for youngsters.

Tannis Thomson, owner and senior stylist, is thrilled with the results of the renovation work, which began in April.

"We've redone the whole interior and we've done a facelift on the outside," she said. "It needed a lot of work."

Before the renovation, business had been bustling, so Thomson was considering bringing another hairdresser on board. She began to work with Dana Lischka, who will be specializing in children's and men's cuts at the salon.

"Dana and I designed the kids' area together with an outdoor theme. The whole inside of the shop has an old rustic antique theme, so I wanted the kids room to flow with it," Thomson said.

"We made it outdoorsy and fun.

We've got a little teepee in there for kids to crawl around in and we've got a chalkboard wall. Dana's husband built a boat that younger kids can sit in, and he and Dana did the horse that kids can sit on when they're getting a haircut. We found the saddle in the tack shop in Balmoral for miniature horses."

Kids can enjoy watching shows on a Smart TV or on tablets, and there's also a crafting table with crayons and activity books.

For Lischka, the opportunity is ideal. "I just love kids. I worked at a kids' salon in Calgary straight out of hair school and I wanted to open one for a while. I talked to Tannis about the idea. It was a great time because she was about to do the big renovation, so it worked out perfect," she said.

"So far, all the kids that come in absolutely love it. It's a fun environment and we try to make them as comfortable as possible."

As part of the renovations, the front area has been revamped to offer a full range of esthetic services such as manicures and pedicures (including gels and shellacs), facials, waxing and more. There's now a men's station too, and staff members will be taking a

Teulon's annual family walk honours late 'Bosom Buddy'

By Natasha Tersigni

When Jean-Bell Arsenault was first diagnosed with breast cancer 12 years ago, it was a trying time for both her and her family. From doctor appointments to treatments, the cancer journey was a maze to navigate through. To help provide her with support, Arsenault's daughter introduced her to the Liliane Baron South Interlake Breast Cancer Support Group.

Last Sunday, the group held their 16th walk in Teulon to raise money to help the group provide financial and emotional support to South Interlake women who are currently fighting breast cancer. The funds raised will help the group provide services for the women including transportation to doctor's appointments, alterations to clothing, hairpieces, help with yard work, cooking or childcare.

Community members of all ages came out to support the event, and this year's walk raised over $7,000. Unfortunately, one person was not here this year — Arsenault.

In August, the cancer had spread to her lungs and Arsenault passed away. Her legacy will continue and this year's walk was dedicated to her and all the work she has done for the

"Over the years, we have had members that have passed away, but we decided to honour Jean in this way as she was so important and vital to our group through numerous activities and support," said Claudette Griffin who is the organizer and founder of the group and last weekend's walk.

"She was diagnosed with breast cancer in 2005 and was battling that over the years. Even when the cancer had spread to her lungs, she kept fighting and encouraged others. Jean was a

Bobby Bend School unveils new community play structure

By Natasha Tersigni

Thanks to the hard work and dedication of the École R.W. Bobby Bend School Parent Advisory Council (PAC), matched with the generosity of community organizations and members, students now have a new play structure.

For the past three years, the PAC held a variety of fundraisers including selling chocolate bars and coupon books, raffles and movie nights, raising $70,000. With a growing student body and a lack of play equipment, a new play structure was necessary to keep the kindergarten to Grade 4 students active at recess.

After months of dedication to the project, PAC parents, students, staff and community members proudly unveiled the finished play structure on Sept. 6, just in time for the new school year.

“Even though today is the official opening, every day since it has been up and finished there have been lots and lots of children enjoying the fruits of the PAC’s labour. The PAC has led this project and made this possible for the school,” said Bobby Bend School principal Greg Ross during the ribbon-cutting ceremony.

“This will be used day in and day out

WIWCD nursery program applications open now

By Jeff Ward

The West Interlake Watershed Conservation District (WIWCD) is continuing their annual partnership with Sabados Greenhouse and is hoping to help residents plant thousands of new trees next spring.

The Community Tree Nursery Program is an annual initiative that sources tens of thousands of new saplings to be planted each year and they are covering the cost up to $80. There are 18 different species of trees to choose from all ranging from $2.40 to $5.25 each. The $80 covered limit from the WIWCD will go a long way in procuring new saplings for residents within the district. WIWCD manager Linda Miller said that since the program began there have been more than 50,000 trees planted from this initiative and nearly 13,000 were ordered last year, which is double the amount from 2015. This year there are two new trees available, the Golden Willow and the Sundancer Hybrid Poplar. Both of those are three to five feet tall as opposed to the others that are between 12-18 inches. Trees ordered by the cutoff date of Oct. 31 will be available for pickup at Sabados Greenhouse in Clarkleigh in May of next year.

"We're very happy with the success of this program over the years," said Miller.

"Every year it seems to get more and more popular and more people seem to hear about it. Working with Sabados Greenhouse has also been great because they do all the sourcing and organizing. We just give them the orders."

Miller said that last year there were over 400 applications for new trees and she expects a similar if not higher amount this year. The WIWCD wants to see new trees planted to help strengthen the ecosystem. Miller said that the feedback she's heard from last year is that many of the trees that are planted have survived and their roots took to the ground nicely.

Those interested in filling out an application to get their own saplings can visit www.wiwcd.com to get one.

For Thomson, the building is close to her heart since her grandfather Henry Jackson built the building along with his brother Dave in 1948. Since then, only one person outside the family has owned it.

After renting the space for a decade, Thomson bought the building 10 years ago, bringing it back into the family. The family ties remain strong since Thomson has worked alongside her daughter Randi, who is a full stylist, for about 15 years.

"It's easy to enjoy coming to work like this," Thomson said of the revamped space. "It's just so nice and wide and open."

The public is welcome to come check out the changes during the grand opening event, which will feature refreshments and prizes. Thousands of dollars to be won from Teulon's skies

By Natasha Tersigni

What would you do with $3,000 in cash? Well, thanks to a new fundraiser being launched in Teulon, you will have 900 chances to find out.

To fundraise for the much-needed repairs to the front entrance of the Teulon-Rockwood Centennial Centre, the Teulon-Rockwood Recreation Commission is hosting the first annual Golf Ball Drop. On Sept. 23 at 3:30 p.m., Prairie Helicopter Inc. will drop 900 golf balls onto the Teulon Elementary School field. The ticket holder with the corresponding number to the ball that lands closest to the marker will win $3,000 cash.

"We want to completely renovate the front of the Teulon-Rockwood Centennial Centre. We need to redo the front step, ramp and doorway to make it safe and accessible along with paint the interior and spruce up the hall a bit. In order to complete the renos, we need funding. The hall is a staple in the community and is heavily used so we want to ensure it is updated and well maintained," said Teulon-Rockwood Recreation director Beth Hutchinson.

"We heard about the Golf Ball Drop event from the Selkirk Biz, who has had success in organizing their own, so we thought we would give it a try here in Teulon."

Hutchinson added that another fundraiser event for the hall, a Harvest Ball complete with a Made in Manitoba menu, would be held on Oct. 21 in Teulon. The dinner is currently in the planning stages, and more information will be available in the coming weeks.

Golf Ball Drop tickets are being sold at local vendors including Rockwood Lumber, One Insurance, Red River Co-op, Teulon Tractor & Motor and the Teulon Civic Centre. For more information, call the Teulon-Rockwood Recreation Commission at 204-861-3041.

RED RIVER > CHALET BEACH > LAKE WINNIPEG

> ARNIE WEIDL A monster jackfish

Welcome, friends.

I like to write early in the morning when the house is quiet. Through the window by my desk, I felt an early fall calmness last Sunday while watching the trees in the front yard shedding their leaves. I was in that same fall mood days earlier on a grey, early morning when I had a chance encounter with Bob MacIntyre and his daughter Tracey aboard their sailboat "Stormy" off the Hnausa pier.

They hail from Stonewall and invited me aboard with the promise of a story for us.

I sat in the rear by the wheel pod inside an expansive blue canopy with huge plastic windows. Across from me, Bob a thin chap with long curly white hair and short-cropped beard, and Tracey, a young lady extraordinarily conditioned with brown hair under a tuque, began telling how a catfish can deflate your day.

Bob and a friend were fishing from his Zodiac on the Rice River and caught a catfish. As they were trying to land it for a picture, the cat's back fin bone punctured the rubber craft. They knew if they didn't repair the hole now, it would cause a bother later, so the next few days were lost to the fix. A few weeks later, Tracey with dad in the Zodiac, caught an even bigger cat.

As it came along side Bob cried out, "Sorry, Trace. That thing's not coming on board to stick us like the last one."

A neighbouring boater took pity and hauled it up for a trophy picture.

I was at a birthday party last week and met Kurt Malenchak from Gillam, who we see in this week's featured catch. That's a 45-inch pike we're looking at, gang.

On a bright, warm, early September day, Kurt and a buddy went swimming and fishing in Moose Camp Lake south of Gillam. It had been a couple of years since they had been there and they weren't sure if the lines on their rods would be OK after having lain around the shack for so long. They held, though, catching enough fish for supper. The guys were about to quit when Kurt felt a huge pull on his old neglected 10-pound test line. He knew instantly he had a big jack on but worried the old line would break so he loosened the drag on the reel. When the fish fought, he let it run and even following it by walking with it along the shore. When it became still, he would bring in some line but never enough to stress and snap the line.

At dusk, he half corralled, half angled the monster to shore and got into the water, lifting it up for a picture. Pausing after his story, I asked Kurt if he was going to change that line for the next time. He thought for a second and then said, "No, it should be all right."

Then there was Al Martens of Winnipeg who I met riverbank fishing on the Red River off one of the "monkey trails" downstream of Selkirk. He was an intense guy, in good shape, grey haired and full of fishing stories. It so happened that he and Tim, his friend, were boat fishing on the Big Whiteshell using five diamond lures and, yes, it was one of those situations where Al was catching everything

Manitoba first to introduce flu vaccine for personal care home residents

Submitted

Manitoba is the first province in Canada to introduce a high-dose flu vaccine to better protect vulnerable residents of personal care homes from influenza, Health, Seniors and Active Living Minister Kelvin Goertzen announced recently.

"Studies show that people over the age of 65 that live in personal care homes are most at risk of complications or death related to influenza," said Goertzen. "That's why we're the first in Canada to introduce this new type of vaccine to better protect these vulnerable people and keep them healthy when the flu starts to circulate this winter."

This year, the high-dose seasonal influenza vaccine is being offered to people 65 years of age or older who are living in a personal care home. The vaccine provides a higher level of protection against two types of influenza A and one type of influenza B predicted to be circulating in North America this fall and winter.

Lower respiratory tract infections, including pneumonia and bronchitis, are a leading cause of hospital admissions in adults aged 65 years or older, especially in frail older adults. The number of personal care home residents admitted to hospital varies considerably between facilities but is more frequent during the time of peak influenza activity.

The minister noted public health officials will review data about the use and effectiveness of the high-dose flu vaccine in personal care homes to support future vaccine decisions.

To protect people from getting influenza (flu), Manitoba Health, Seniors and Active Living encourages all Manitobans to get a free flu vaccine early every fall. The flu vaccine is typically available from health-care providers in early October.

For more information on seasonal flu and the flu vaccine, visit www.gov.mb.ca/health/flu/.

Broad Strokes paddles into ninth year

Local dragon boat team raises over $17,500 for cancer research

By Natasha Tersigni

The Broads were at it again.

For the ninth year in a row, the all-women's team Broad Strokes, made up of mainly Warren residents, took part in the annual Facility Marketing Group Manitoba Dragon Boat Festival held over the weekend at The Forks. All 23 team members worked together and not only raised over $17,500 for the CancerCare Manitoba Foundation and the Children's Hospital Foundation of Manitoba but also placed first in the Team Cheer Competition for the fifth year in a row.

For one of the team's newest members, Fran Lindell, joining Broad Strokes was her first experience dragon boating. Having been diagnosed in 2005 with breast cancer and having to undergo treatment, which included a mastectomy, chemotherapy and radiation, the Warren resident wanted to find a way to give back to the community that helped her through her own cancer journey.

"Dragon boating is a fun activity that promotes comradery. Not everybody on the team has had cancer but we have all been touched by it by someone in our lives. We all come together for a good time and to raise money for an important cause," said Lindell.

Paddling with the Broad Stokes was not only a way for her to give back, but it also provided her with the necessary training she will need in order to compete in the International Breast Cancer Paddler's Commission (IBCPC) Dragon Boat Festival held in July 2018 in Florence, Italy.

Lindell's sister, Wanda Bauer, was first to get involved in dragon boating. Bauer was diagnosed with breast cancer in 2012, and having a much more aggressive type, had to undergo a mastectomy as well as chemotherapy for a year. For support, Bauer, who lives in southern Ontario, joined a group that introduced her to dragon boating.

Bauer's team has been together for four years, and when they were looking at entering an international dragon boat festival, they needed a few extra members.

"Last year, her team started talking about this big international competition that was happening in Florence. Although they have their own team, for this festival, you have to be a breast cancer survivor so that eliminated a few of their members," said Lindell, who was asked to join the team for the international race.

"I thought I better get busy dragon boating. I have been exercising and doing boot camps but I did want to have actual experience paddling before going to Italy."

The trip will be extra special for the Lindell and Bauer as their third sister, who was diagnosed with breast cancer two months ago, will be joining them and cheering their team on from the stands.

Lindell added that her inaugural races this weekend were a great introduction to dragon boating and she will continue training for her upcoming international race less than a year away.

"It is just fun being out on the water and working towards a common goal together," added Lindell.

right beside luckless Tim. As I said, Al was an intense fellow, and every minute or so as he was telling his story, he would dash to his rod here on the Red to check his bait.

Anyway, back on the Big Whiteshell. In the hot afternoon sun, Tim got so mad he wasn't catching anything that he threw his rod into the water. By reflex, Al cast out and, quite by luck, snagged Tim's rig. He didn't say a word, just brought it in and quietly laid it down by Tim. After regaining his composure, Tim took up his rod and, standing beside Al, resumed fishing. It's easy to see fish in that lake, and at that moment, Al saw a few walleye maybe a boat length from them. Al said quietly to Tim, "Come on. We'll both cast out and get them."

One took Al's lure but the other fish turned and swam away, ignoring Tim's completely. Tim could take no more. He reeled his line in, they packed up and headed home. They had been using Tim's truck to get to the lake, and after dropping Al off. Time saw something wrapped in newspaper on the floor as he was getting out of the truck at home. Inside was that last fish. Al had left it as a peace offering to his friend.

Bye for now.

Fall boating takes a little bit more care

Submitted

Boating in the fall offers colourful vistas, quiet anchorages and excellent fishing. But it is not without its challenges that necessitate self-sufficiency and taking some additional precautions to keep from running into trouble.

"Fall boating can be a great time," said Lifesaving Society – Mb Branch operations manager Kevin Tordiffe. "But with colder weather and colder water, the risks increase. Boaters need to be far more prepared for fall boating which includes better trip planning, more survival skills and understanding we have reduced daylight."

The Canadian Safe Boating Council (CSBC) and the Lifesaving Society – Mb Branch want to remind boaters to check the weather forecast. The mixing of warm and cold air can quickly spawn high winds and waves making it treacherous for small boats. Fog, too, is an issue at this time of year, making visibility difficult. Should boaters find themselves in a fog bank, they should proceed slowly and sound their horn at regular intervals to alert other boaters of their presence.

Well into October, daytime temperatures can occasionally be balmy, but dressing for the water temperature will help slow the onset of hypothermia should the unexpected happen and the boater find himself in the water. Accidental cold water immersion can be shocking, but they shouldn't panic. It may take a minute or so to get their breathing under control, but they will have at least 10 to 15 minutes to affect self-rescue before they start to lose muscle control in their arms and legs. This is where an approved lifejacket, either inflatable or inherently buoyant, is an essential part of a boater's wardrobe to keep them afloat after they can no longer swim.

In the fall, there are fewer boats on the water to offer assistance. Boaters should leave a float plan with a person on shore who will know what to do if they're overdue. A marine radio or cell phone will allow them to call for assistance should the need arise. Having a few tools and spare parts aboard will also allow them to fix minor problems that might otherwise cause them to be stranded out on the water. It's important boaters ensure their boat and engine are in good shape and mechanically sound. Ethanol-based fuel can allow water contamination in the tank. The use of a fuel additive prevents water in the fuel line from freezing, which could cause the engine to stop.

Fuel sold at marinas is ethanol-free. If the boat has portable fuel tanks, it's a good idea to have a spare on board as a reserve. When boaters head out, they should be wary of reduced wa-

What is the true cost of air conditioning for Rosewood's Lodge Shura Lane

Rebuttal to Rosewood Lodge Shura Lane air conditioning in the Stonewall Teulon Tribune Sept. 7.

Reply to Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority Ron Van Denakker

We did not ask for a/c in all the rooms. We realize there are some areas with a/c. We were requesting a/c for the hallways and in turn that would help to cool off the residences rooms for whoever wanted to take advantage of it. Also it would make for more pleasant working conditions.

There are ways to solve a/c problems and they do not require expensive ducting. Yes, it may require some more power but that can be dealt with as well. It seems apparent that other solutions have not been explored or costed out. What has been done is like to putting a pump in one end of a tub and pumping the water to the other end thinking that this is going to change the level of the water. Well, putting fans up just moves the same hot air from one place to another with no apparent change in temperature. Those two small portable a/c's you installed are actually a joke. They are meant to cool a smaller space than that whole hallway you are expecting them too. People walk by them and laugh.

We have opted to request hallway cooling because we know some like different temperatures in their rooms. If, as you suggest, individuals can use their own a/c's providing they meet certain standards, we both know that is not going to happen because they will never be approved and one reason will be no power, windows, etc.

We know commercial a/c and residential a/c costs out differently. However, throwing out a number like $360,000 as did Tara-Lee Procter in an e-mail Sept. 08, 2016, and saying it was an initial estimate without actually investigating other alternatives felt like she was trying to get rid of me.

You say opportunity exists for securing additional funding for a project like cooling for Shura Lane. How can that come about when you do not have an actual solution or cost to propose to whoever you have to!

Government bodies continue to feed worthless information to those who inquire because they do not think we have the intelligence to know when we are being hoodwinked or stonewalled.

Argyle's Fall Supper tradition celebrating 135 years

By Natasha Tersigni

With crops to be harvested, school back in session and winter to prepare for, fall is always a busy time of year for the community of Argyle.

But in spite of the hectic season, every September for the past 134 years, one Sunday has been set aside for breaking bread with neighbours, friends and families at Argyle's annual fall supper. Heading into the 135th year, the annual tradition is still going strong thanks to a tightly knit community group of dedicated volunteers.

Putting on a feast for an entire community, enough to feed 800 guests, is not an easy feat and takes months of planning. The grocery lists alone, including 350 pounds of potatoes, 30 turkeys and 130 pumpkin pies, is not for the faint of heart. To ensure that the meal is ready to serve promptly at 3 p.m., the women of Argyle have taken charge to ensure the supper continued through the generations.

The supper began in 1882, the year after the Brant Argyle Presbyterian Church was built. The early event, hosted by the churchwomen's group the Ladies Aid, was called the fowl supper as different families would donate chickens for the meal. As years went by, the main course switched to turkeys and soon the community gathering was referred to as the fall supper.

The meal has changed locations throughout town. In 1914, the supper was held in the school basement, followed by the Memorial Hall. The meal was originally prepared in the downstairs kitchen before upgrades were completed to allow for increased seating and expanded kitchen capacity to help to ease the lines. But every year, the crowds came in droves. Last year, the decision was made to move the supper to the curling club to allow for additional room and to ensure no one left without a meal.

"It is very much, to this day, a community event. It is very community orientated and everyone comes out and helps," said Tracy Dunstan, who has been volunteering with the dinner for over 20 years.

Having grown up in Argyle, Dunstan knows the importance of the fall supper and the role it plays in bringing a community together once a year. Volunteering for the supper spans multi-generations of Dunstan's family and included both her Grandma Napper and Grandma Barbra Snell.

When Dunstan and her husband moved back to Argyle in 1995, she knew that the one event that she would be involved with is the fall supper.

"When we came back to town, I thought my mother, Marion Snell, could 'retire' from helping with the supper and that I would cook the turkey. While I did cook a turkey and volunteered at the supper, so did my mom. She turns 90 this December and is still very active in the community events, including the supper," added Dunstan.

Back in 1995, the church ladies were still organizing the supper, although the group was dwindling in numbers. When the Argyle Church closed in the early 2000s, the women began canvassing local community groups to see who wanted to take it over. That is when the Brant-Argyle School Parent Advisory Council decided to step up and take over in the summer of 2005.

While that year the funds from the supper were intended for the school, with an outpouring of support from across the community, it was decided that money raised from the supper would go back into community buildings and organizations.

"With the money from the first few suppers that we took over, we built the community park. We put the money back towards that so everyone can enjoy that and the trail. Now the money is divided among the various groups," explained Dunstan.

Tradition is an important part of the supper and many of the items still served are from the supper's early days.

"When they handed over the dinner, the women were very specific and they typed up an agreement because they did not want the dinner to fail. They wanted to make sure it transitioned nicely to a new group," said Dunstan.

"During one of the meetings, we decided we were just going to buy pickles, and one of the church women, Lenore Matthews, said that you can't do that. People just come for the homemade pickles. She led a pickle-making workshop, and for the past few years on the Monday of the September long weekend, volunteers come together at the hall and we make pickles for the supper. To this day, the pickles are still homemade."

The tradition of the Argyle Fall Supper will continue this year on Sept. 24 at the Argyle Curling Club. The event runs from 3 to 6 p.m. and tickets are $15 for adults, $5 for children aged six to 10, and free for children five and under. No reservations are required. Sign up now for Abas Auto Stony Mountain Run

Participants wanted for the 3rd annual run on Sept. 23

Staff

Participants in the third annual Abas Auto Stony Mountain Run will hit the trails on Saturday, Sept. 23 for the fundraising event.

Organized by the Stony Mountain Community Association, the event aims to raise funds to help develop Stony Mountain's trails for walking, cycling and jogging in partnership with the RM of Rockwood.

About 150 people participated during both of the previous events. So far, about 80 people have signed up for the 2017 race, and organizers are hoping to reach their goal of 200 participants this year.

Registration is available in advance at the Pic N Pay store in Stony Mountain or online through the Running Room website at <https://www.events.runningroom.com/site/?raceId=14280>. As well, registration will be available before 9:30 a.m. on the race day, with the race starting at 10 a.m.

To date, the annual run has raised a combined total of about $10,000, and the goal this year is to raise $6,000.

With support from the provincial government's Small Community Transportation fund, the RM is developing the paths and sidewalks, along with some community streets. Meanwhile, the Stony Mountain Community Association is developing gravel pathways through green spaces, forest and the old quarry around the town site.

This fall, the community association will lead the development of a 1.5-kilometre stretch of trail starting at the Pikes Peak toboggan hill and winding around the north side of the quarry to Sellars Hill Road. This work will be funded from the proceeds of last year's run, as well as the proceeds raised through the Cash 4 Trails Fundraiser and a $15,000 grant from Richardson Pioneer Association.

Several race options are available, so there will be something for everyone.

This year, participants can opt for The McKillop Team - Mountain Mile Relay (a relay race with teams of four people who each run one mile), the Deprez & Associates PWM - What the

Stonewall's Terry Fox Run set for Sept. 17

By Jennifer McFee

The legacy of Terry Fox lives on, and the community has the chance to contribute to his crusade to find a cure cancer through the upcoming annual run.

For the 37th year, the Terry Fox Run will take place in Stonewall to raise funds for the Terry Fox Foundation. This year's event is set for Sunday, Sept. 17 at Quarry Park. The five-kilometre event is pet-friendly and is accessible for wheelchairs, bicycles and rollerblades.

Ray Steen, who co-chairs the event with his wife Judy, said that the local event usually raises between $4,000 and $7,000.

"We average around 75 participants and eight or nine volunteers," Steen said.

Registration begins at noon at the Heritage Arts Centre, and the event kicks off at 1 p.m.

For Steen, the annual event also provides an opportunity to reflect on the vision of Terry Fox, who embarked on the Marathon of Hope in 1980.

"I think that he was a very selfless individual. Even though he wanted to raise money for cancer research, he knew that because of the seriousness of his condition that he might not be able to reap any benefits from it," Steen said. "But he wanted to do what he could to help other people to reduce the suffering that they would have to go through."

Each year, more than 9,000 Canadian communities host Terry Fox Runs in an effort to raise funds for the cause. To date, more than $700 million has been raised in Terry Fox's name for cancer research.

Anyone who would like more information or to get involved as a volunteer can contact Steen at 204-461-0804.

For those who are unable to attend the event, they can make donations through the Terry Fox Foundation website at www.terryfox.org.

Council denies a request to construct an oversized garage

By Jennifer McFee

Stonewall council denied a request from a resident who wanted to build a 1,280-square-foot garage on his property.

Howard Howardson was seeking a variation to allow for a maximum site coverage of 22 per cent for an accessory building, up from the permitted 10 per cent maximum. The property size is 6,042 square feet.

Eric Shaw, general manager of the South Interlake Planning District, pointed out that the proposed garage is larger than the home.

"Site coverage is a tool that's used in the zoning bylaw for Stonewall to ensure that accessory buildings are kept to a very modest size to ensure that they fit with the residential character and esthetic of the neighbourhood," Shaw said.

"They're also typically smaller than the principal dwelling. That's not the case here. What's being proposed here is substantially larger — more than two times larger than the one you're allowed to build. If the 10 per cent limit were applied to this size property, the accessory building would only be allowed to be a maximum of 604 square feet."

As a result, council voted in favour of rejecting the proposal.

"It's just not suitable for the character of the neighbourhood," Mayor Lockie McLean said. "It's way too big."

In other council news:

- Doug and Joanne McIntyre requested a variation to the minimum rear yard setback for their 18-foot-round above-ground pool. The allowable setback is five feet, and they requested a setback of two feet, 10 inches. A neighbour expressed concerns, especially since the pool has already been installed. Council decided to have the public works department look into the matter.

- Council authorized a quote to buy two solar crosswalks from ATS Traffic for $6,608.50 plus taxes. A three-month trial period will start during the first week of October, and the lights will be intersecting 5th Street W. and 2nd Avenue N.

- Council approved a leave of absence for Coun. Sandra Smith from the meetings on Sept. 20 and Oct. 4.

- The Town of Stonewall will advertise for a citizen representative for the Board of Revision.

St. Laurent council awards tenders to local contractors

By Jeff Ward

At the Sept. 6 regular meeting of council, two new tenders were awarded for municipal projects while a third tender was withheld and will be awarded at a later date.

Council awarded the tenders for the renovations to the St. Laurent Welcome Centre to accommodate the new Canada Post Office that will be moving in next month. Reeve Cheryl Smith said that the project will cost approximately $19,000 and will be completed by Lakeside Decorating.

The second project is $50,000 and has been awarded to Norton Construction. The St. Laurent Fire Hall will be renovated to accommodate the RM's new water tanker. The space will also have a heated floor put in to help keep the water from freezing during the winter months.

Smith said that the third project was the clean up of a pile of debris at the Waste Transfer Site (WTS) that is being mandated by a provincial environment officer. The RM was told that they have to remove a pile of debris from the WTS and transfer it to the Winnipeg landfill or they will face a fine. Smith said that the workers at the WTS were supposed to do some of the clearing during work hours to reduce the amount the municipality would need to pay to haul it away. However, because WTS employees simply didn't have the time to reduce the pile, the quote came in for the tender much higher than expected.

"This was already an expense that wasn't budgeted for so we were looking to keep it as low as possible," said Smith.

"There's a lot of brush mixed in with the debris so we wanted that removed by our guys so there would be less to move to the landfill. When the contractor went there, he based his tender on the whole pile, and we know we can make that smaller."

Smith said that council is going to withhold awarding the tender until the WTS workers can clear the area better so that a more accurate quote can be put together. The tough part for the RM is that they have no choice to move this debris unless they want to risk facing a fine. Smith explained that while this job is an expense that wasn't budgeted for, it's one that needs to be made.

"And that's why we're going to give them more time to clean at the site. It will save the RM money and we can't afford to send the whole pile when we can take care of some of it ourselves," said Smith.

The reeve said she and council plan to revisit this tender soon so that this job can be put behind them.

ter levels that can result after a long, hot and dry summer season. Some of a boater's favourite shallow water fishing holes may be inaccessible at this time of year. Also, while underway, they should keep a sharp lookout for debris and chunks of ice that could penetrate the boat's hull at speed.

"Enjoy boating this fall with family and friends," said Tor-diffe. "Just remember to wear your lifejacket and stay safe."

Now that fall is here, boaters should make the most of what's left of the boating season before the cold weather hits. By exercising a little caution and an ability to be self-sufficient when out on the water, they can more fully enjoy nature's splendour and quiet waterways.

For the All Star Band of the Year – Bass category, Evan Taplin of Past the Perimeter is a nominee.

And in the All Star Band of the Year – Specialty (Banjo, Fiddle, Mandolin, Keys, Steel) category, nominations went to Brenton Thorvaldson of Selkirk and Lyle Baldwin of Warren.

William Prince Peguis is nominated in the category of Roots Artist, Duo or Group of the Year.

Stonewall Quarry Days even made the list with a nomination for Festival or Event of the Year, and South Beach Casino is nominated as the Venue of the Year.

On behalf of Past the Perimeter, Derek Peters expressed excitement about the multiple nominations.

"We are so honoured to be nominated again at the MCMA's. We told ourselves last year this was only the first step for us, and I think we've accomplished something special here," he said via email.

"And mainly that's because of our fans and people that support us. We work so hard for this and hope to bring home some hardware this year."

For Rhianna Rae Saj, she said it's exciting to receive a nomination for the Emerging Artist Award, which is her first nomination as a solo artist. When she was performing under Rhia Rae and the Rubies, she received a nomination for Female Artist of the Year.

"I spent the last three years playing in a trio group and when we parted

Members of the public can cast a ballot for the Fans' Choice Award with online voting available until Oct. 16 at www.manitobacma.com. For the other awards categories, MCMA industry members will vote for the winners.

Will the federal government be able to fix Churchill?

By Harry Siemens

Federal Natural Resources Minister Jim Carr recently told Omnitrax, the U.S. company that owns the only rail line serving the isolated northern Manitoba town of Churchill: fix it or sell it to someone who will.

If they sell, Ottawa is prepared to help with interim funding to repair the rail line.

Omnitrax's Canadian CEO said the company already has an agreement in place to sell the rail line to a consortium of First Nations and the deal has only been awaiting federal support.

But Churchill residents aren't feeling very optimistic as the days without service stretch into weeks and months.

Churchill Mayor Mike Spence said it appears everybody's aware of the fact the rail line's been down since the third week of May, but little headway has been made to resolve the matter.

"There haven't been any repairs done. The federal government has indicated that Omnitrax lived up to the agreement, which we know that's not going to happen," said a frustrated Spence. "We continue to speak with the prime minister's office regarding getting the line up and running. The necessary repairs that need doing, according to an Omnitrax consulting group, are $43.5 million. I see a lot of inflated numbers.

"So that's where things are at right now ... the community is frustrated by this all," said Spence. "Omnitrax has done an excellent job of keeping the community hostage, which is entirely unacceptable."

He said supplies are coming in—including propane and petroleum products—through the province's

Emergency Measures Organization. Some resupply things have also come in from some of the businesses, but it's expensive.

"Our food products are still being flown in from Thompson, Winnipeg. Even with the Nutrition North Canada program and Affordable Food in Remote Manitoba subsidy, prices are still quite high. The North West Company doesn't seem to understand that their pricing is relatively high, and that's disappointing," said the mayor.

Several groups are looking at ways to work together. One North is a group from Opaskwayak Cree Nation, right up to Churchill and including the communities just north of Churchill. This group is interested in ownership of the port and the rail line and includes a technical team putting the key business elements together.

"A new model is what we're working towards for the best interest of the region," said Spence. "Far too long, 20 years we've had Omnitrax taking everything out of Canada, including the profits. They haven't reinvested, and this is the current situation.

"It's alarming, it's disappointing that we as Canadians gave up a national asset to an American company that doesn't care," he said.

One North wants to control the port and the rail line and is putting together a model that will work, Spence said. It will be an authority type model where money, the reinvestment continues to go back in, he said, similar to the big city airport models that are out there.

"These are the types of models that we're looking at," said Spence. "It makes more sense reinvesting in your infrastructure if they're long term economic growth investments, so that's where we're going with this."

Getting this off the ground, though, will require the federal government to step up and take a leadership role.

"Now it is in the hands of the federal government to relieve Omnitrax of its responsibility of ownership of the port and rail," Spence said. "So, all hands are focused towards the government of Canada. We are in continuous dialogue with them, and we hope this can be rectified a lot sooner than later.

"We need the rail line repaired. We're running out of time here, but I'm still cautiously optimistic someone can repair line before winter sets in."

"NOW IT IS IN THE HANDS OF THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT TO RELIEVE OMNITRAX OF ITS RESPONSIBILITY OF OWNERSHIP OF THE PORT AND RAIL ... WE'RE RUNNING OUT OF TIME HERE."

The battle continues as the Manitoba pork industry faced a rash of PED cases since Aug. 25, bringing the total to 73 in this outbreak.

Recently infected premises (IPs) include one sow site, three nursery sites, and three finisher sites.

"Unfortunately, IP 68, a sow farm, and IP 73, a nursery site, are both new infections and pose an increased risk to neighbouring farms," said the most recent update from the Manitoba Pork Council. "The other five sites appear to be a recurrence of shedding from pigs that came from previously infected sites."

On a more positive note, Manitoba Pork said 26 already infected premises have achieved PED Transitional status, meaning that all the animals on the site are no longer clinically sick and, as well, certain groups of animals on the site are no longer shedding the virus. On sow farms, it also means that the site can wean PED negative piglets.

"We can expect to have a trickle of new cases, mostly from direct pig movements and a few new ones from the regional spread, which highlights the need for swine farms in southeast Manitoba to keep their guard up," said the agency.

Bob Kleinsasser, hog boss at the Suncrest Colony near Steinbach, talked candidly about what the PED virus outbreak, though they're still free of the virus on their premises, has meant to them.

"At first, it really, really was hard for us. We just couldn't wrap it around if it would happen what would we do and we took it too personally," he said. "But now after months of this, we did a lot of different things."

"We had to refocus on our biosecurity, operate smarter ... there's only so much you can do. You can't let it affect your personal life and stuff like that so we just try to do our best to keep it up, hold it out of the environment so if it's not around the barn it can't go in the barn. It's tough. I can almost say it's no fun anymore."

When the first outbreak occurred some years back, Claude Vielfaure of HyLife said it was almost like he hated to open that barn door in the morning. Kleinsasser can emphasize with that.

"It's the first thing you do when you walk in there you go look for any signs," he said. "But we're pretty confident with the dear Lord around and with prayer and with a lot of input from everybody on the whole farm and the industry, it will turn out okay."

As far as a contingency plan for their farm, there is only one: infect the whole lot to create immunity and then clean out the barn.

"You gotta do what you gotta do," said Kleinsasser. "It wouldn't be fun. We've talked to a lot of people who had it and have it and some of them stated that they never want to see another pig in their life, it's affected them that hard."

Janice Goldsborough, human resources and training coordinator with Manitoba Pork, said swine barn managers should watch for signs of fatigue among workers dealing with PED virus.

"Having to deal with sick animals, especially the baby piglets, is resulting in a lot of stress on farm workers," she said. "It could be similar to PTSD, Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder, when people are on a daily basis having to deal with the poor little pigs that either pass away or they have to be put down. After a while, that can get very trying on somebody."

"The symptoms can vary from person to person," Goldsborough said. "Some of it could be that they're not sleeping or they're feeling drained. They might be having nightmares if they are sleeping, poor concentration, there could be memory problems, difficulty thinking, headaches, just an overall feeling of not being able to cope. It can add up for people if they don't stop and focus on themselves and looking after themselves."

Goldsborough said employees need to make sure they're getting enough rest, eating properly and getting breaks from the stresses of their work, and the employer needs to be watching for signs of mental and physical fatigue and be prepared to take action by providing time off, moving workers to less stressful positions and by providing counseling.

BACK TO SCHOOL 2017-2018

Province reminds drivers to watch for children, drive with care in school zones

Submitted
Manitoba government reminds motorists to drive with extra care in school zones as annual restrictions take effect on Sept. 1 and students soon return to their classrooms, Infrastructure Minister Ron Schuler and Education and Training Minister Ian Wishart announced today.
"The month of September means thousands of Manitoba students are soon returning to school," said Schuler. "With school-zone restrictions in Manitoba taking effect tomorrow, we ask that all drivers take extra precaution by reducing their speed and remaining alert when approaching school zones. Drivers affected by these areas may need to consider providing more time for their commute or altering their travel route. There is never an excuse to be in a hurry when traveling through school zones in our province."

Pedestrian, school bus and private vehicle traffic will greatly increase in school areas as classes begin in September. Motorists are advised to drive with extra caution and be alert to the increased presence of children in school areas.
"The return to school season is an exciting time for students, parents and educators," said Wishart. "In order to keep everyone safe during the school year, it is important to obey the limits in school zones and always watch for young children in all areas where students are present."

Municipalities have authority to establish reduced-speeds zones and determine the hours speed reduction is in effect. Speed reductions and effective dates and times may vary by municipality. Motorists are advised to pay particular attention to the posted speed.
Motorists are advised to pay particular attention to the posted speed as some schools have speed reductions in effect.

How to balance school and work

Many students hold a part-time job while they're in school. But is this a good thing, or is it too much to handle? It seems the former is true. In fact, teens that work during their studies generally benefit from several advantages that their unemployed peers don't share, such as financial independence, job experience and heightened responsibility. Nonetheless, maintaining a healthy work-school balance requires a hefty dose of discipline and lots of organization.
The best option for students is to find a job with flexible hours that will allow them to adjust their work schedule according to their course load, and not the other way around. Students must always prioritize their studies and focus on their primary goal of getting a diploma. That being said, a prospective part-timer should always advise employers of their availabilities during the initial interview and turn down any request to compromise. In other words, sacrificing a class or postponing schoolwork in favour of an employer's needs should be out of the question. If your employer fails to understand or respect your responsibilities as a student, it's in your best interest to apply elsewhere.

So, how many hours should a student work per week? A good rule of thumb is no more than 15 if enrolled in full-time studies; otherwise students risk falling behind in school, or worse, abandoning their program altogether.
All students that wish to achieve optimal work-school balance must also keep their psychological well-being in mind. For example, a healthy diet, plenty of sleep, regular exercise, an active social life and some well-deserved downtime are all essential for striking the right balance between school and work.

Walking to school, safe and sound!

Walking to and from school is an excellent way for your child to get their daily dose of exercise. But to ensure they arrive at their final destination safe and sound, it's important they abide by certain safety rules at all times!
Start by identifying the safest route and locate danger zones — like railroads or busy streets — along the way. Make sure the route follows school-approved walkways and intersections with a crossing guard on duty. Once established, travel the planned route with your child a few times before school starts, emphasizing the following safety guidelines along the way:
• Always walk on the sidewalk (or, in the absence of one, stick to the outside of the left lane, facing traffic).
• Cross the street at supervised intersections. If you arrive at a pedestrian crossing that doesn't have a crossing guard on duty, always look to your left, then to your right, and then to your left again before moving forward.
• Always adhere to the traffic signals and pedestrian lights.
• Don't stray from the approved route or daily along the way.

RW Bobby Bend school patrols help ensure students cross the street safely to school.
• Never get into a stranger's vehicle.
If possible, encourage your child to always walk with a friend — provided, of course, that this friend also keeps safety in mind! Finally, prompt your child to leave early to avoid having to run (and risk getting hurt!) to make it to school on time. Does the thought of your child travelling alone make you nervous beyond belief? Don't hesitate to accompany them or meet them after school until you both feel more comfortable with the situation.

The excitement, joy, and anticipation you'll feel on the big day will make you radiant with beauty. After all, there's nothing like a good dose of happiness to put a blush on the cheeks, a sparkle in the eyes, and a beautiful smile on every bride's face. But to truly glow from head to toe, perhaps you should think about consulting some beauty professionals.

1. THE HAIR STYLIST

A stunning bride needs a fabulous hairstyle. Whichever style appeals to you, you'll want to entrust your hair to the expert hands of a real hair salon professional. Remember to make two appointments: one to try different hairstyles and another for the big day.

2. THE ESTHETICIAN

Manicure, pedicure, hair removal, facial, eyelash extensions and massage: a wedding is the perfect excuse to pamper your body. Not to mention that stray body hairs, dry skin and damaged nails are not on the guest list! Don't forget to make two separate appointments for your makeup as well.

Future brides should make their appointments early; the best beauty professionals are always in demand.

3. THE DENTIST

Because laughter is the right of every newly married couple, treat yourself to a teeth whitening treatment for a sparkling smile.

A BEAUTIFUL AND ORGANIZED BRIDE

- Make your appointments as soon as possible.
- Carry a photo of your dress and accessories to all your appointments, along with inspiring images from magazines.

- Find out the best time to pamper yourself with the various treatments. This way you won't have any regrets, such as hair colouring done too early (hello, roots!) or a microdermabrasion done too close to your big day.

Decorating suggestions for your reception

Whether your wedding reception is set to take place in a reception hall or at home, the decorations are a key element that should never be overlooked. Here are a few ideas.

COLOUR

Pink, blue, red or gold: get out your colour charts to determine a colour scheme that will plunge your guests into your wedding theme.

A WHOLE BUNCH OF IDEAS

Garlands, topiary, bouquets or delicately scattered flowers occupy a prominent place at any wedding. Some couples prefer top-quality silk flowers for their longevity, but most opt for natural flowers because of their fragrance and freshness. Some of the most popular flowers are red and white roses, tulips, lilies, azaleas and bluebells. Discuss your preferences with different florists before you choose which one to hire for your big day.

OTHER ELEMENTS FOR A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING

- Monograms. The initials of the newlyweds can elegantly personalize the reception venue and the guest favours.

- Fabrics. Dress the room from top to bottom in theme-inspired fabrics. Ceiling and wall hangings give an imposing touch to your wedding. Use wrinkle-free cotton or satin fabric to dress up the tables.

- Wedding lanterns. Hang these cozy lights high above your guests; rice paper lamps diffuse harsh hall lighting and create magical surroundings.

- Wall hangings. Garlands, pennants, beads, pompoms, and streamers add a whimsical touch to walls.

- Table settings. Use fabric bows and slipcovers to transform plain chairs. Disperse bouquets, candle holders and other centerpiece features along the tables to bring coherence to the whole room.

All for the love of chocolate

By Jennifer McFee

A former Stonewall resident savoured a sweet homecoming — all for the love of chocolate.

Rachel (Sawatzky) McKinley returned to Manitoba from Vancouver to help open the first Purdys Chocolatier store in the province. Chocolate enthusiasts can quench their cravings at the new shop, which opened on Aug. 26 in St. Vital Centre in Winnipeg.

For McKinley, chocolate is much more than a sweet treat — it's the ideal alchemy of both art and science.

After graduating from Stonewall Collegiate Institute, McKinley earned an undergraduate degree in science from the University of Manitoba. She applied for medical school and started making chocolate for fun while she waited to hear if she was accepted.

After three years of applications and waitlists, McKinley decided to change directions and focus entirely on chocolate. She took online courses and did internships with chocolatiers across North America.

"I took as many classes as I could," she said. "I practised and practised and practised."

She rented a small bakery while it was closed on the weekend to make products for her own small business called Prairie Girl Chocolates. Then she spent her time delivering the tasty treats to customers who had ordered by email.

After that, she moved to Vancouver to seek more opportunities to learn about the delectable dessert. She

Prairie Zen

The quest for youthful vitality is something everyone should strive for. Just as we maintain our vehicles to increase longevity, we need to take the same care with our bodies and our health.

As a massage therapist with a successful practice, Breanna Figur had a vision to expand holistic and wellness services in Stonewall. Looking for a prime location to house Prairie Zen, 336 Main Street became home to her ideas. Eighteen months later, she opened and in a short period of time, she has grown her business to include four RMT's, two family therapists, AM Teeth Whitening and recently added a reflexology practitioner to the mix. In October, a naturopathic doctor is expected to join the team further enhancing the services to the community.

The staff at Prairie Zen are passionate about the wellness of their clients. Massage and reflexology take care of the entire person inside and out. Family therapists help create harmony out of life in times of what may seem like chaos.

Each RMT specializes in their own field. Prairie Zen offers aromatherapy, therapeutic, sport, cupping, laser, hot stone, pre and post natal, joint mobilization, deep tissue and relaxation massage. These treatments encourage the body to heal itself by reducing stress, muscle tension, strains, fatigue and injury.

Reflexology helps the body heal naturally from the inside out. All the organs and glands in the body correlate to areas on the feet. Just like an internal massage for your organs, pressure points stimulate the organs and they begin to function normally. Headaches, backache, hip, shoulder and knee pain, indigestion, fatigue, depression are just a few of the symptoms that can be improved with regular treatments.

Sometimes life gets a little muddled or we feel bogged down by anxiety, stress or the future. We all need gentle guidance in order to move forward. Our family therapists offers help in a caring, compassionate way that helps their clients see their way to a brighter tomorrow, encouraging self-discovery and growth.

It is possible to have a pain-free, healthy body and create a happy environment for yourself and those around you. Let the staff at Prairie Zen show the way.

Appointments are available by calling the office at 467-5905 or through our Facebook page.

Community members run to support Kick Cancer

By Natasha Tersigni

The streets of Warren were taken over Saturday morning by eager runners and walkers for the third annual Kicking Cancer event.

Organized by Backcountry Fitness and Conditioning owner Christina Hooper, Backcountry Kicking Cancer is an annual event that raises money for the CancerCare Manitoba Foundation. For the last two years, the event has been held as a boot camp, but this year Hooper wanted to change up the event to welcome more participants. With both a five-kilometre route and a two-kilometre route, there were options for runners and walkers of all ages and abilities.

"This race and event is dedicated to my Oma, who is battling cancer. It means so much to everyone who showed their support today and participated," said Hooper, who added that there were 67 racers registered.

Following the run, there were a number of activities hosted at the West Interlake Trading Company Market including a silent auction, vendor and craft sale, a visit from the Woodlands Fire Department and even an appearance by Princess Cinderella.

This year's event raised $5,325 for CancerCare bringing the three-year total to $9,825.

"It was a great turnout today and we will be sticking with the run for next year," added Hooper.

Sixty-seven runners and walkers came out to this year's Kicking Cancer Run and raised $5,325 for the CancerCare Manitoba Foundation.

Christina Hooper, Kicking Cancer Run organizer and owner of Backcountry Fitness and Conditioning, led the pre-race group warm-up.

St. Laurent to lose Caisse Financial Group ATM

By Jeff Ward

St. Laurent's Caisse Populaire will be closing down its ATM on Oct. 2, leaving council members scratching their heads.

St. Laurent reeve Cheryl Smith said that she was confused to learn that a few weeks ago a paper notice appeared on the branch window explaining that the ATM will end service at the beginning of next month. Smith is concerned that there was no public consultation nor was council informed that this would be happening.

Branch manager Brigitte Rivard said she isn't able to discuss the decision but did confirm that Oct. 2 is when ATM service would cease. The branch itself will still be open for customers, but there will no longer be an ATM in town. Diane Bilodeau, vice-president of marketing and strategy for Caisse Financial Group, explained that all of the ATMs were set to be upgraded this year. After an audit of the transaction volume of the machine in St. Laurent, the decision was made to close that machine instead of installing a new one.

"There just wasn't enough volume to warrant a new machine," said Bilodeau.

She added that Caisse Financial Group just launched a new e-transfer capability for their customers, that will allow peer-to-peer transactions through text or email. She also said that the organization is committed to providing all of their customers with new services.

"It's a huge loss for the community," said Smith.

"We do have other ATMs in the area, but those machines charge a fee to withdraw money. They should have at least consulted with the community to try and make it work. We're not sure what the big problem is to have it stay there. This is a vital community service."

Smith said that council has requested a meeting with the board of directors for Caisse Financial Group to discuss the issue and to get a better understanding of why this decision has been made.

Smith said that the RM is one of their bigger customers and that it would've been nice to know this was going to happen with better communication than a piece of paper on a window.

"There is a petition going around that, last I heard, had around 400 signatures on it of people wanting to save the ATM. Hopefully the board will listen," said Smith.

Bilodeau said that she couldn't comment directly on the nature of the petition but said that they will definitely listen to the comments of the community.

'We won't rest until changes are made'

By Justin Luschinski

Earl and Phyllis Mccaskill lost their daughter, Corinne, to a drunk driving accident 35 years ago. Corinne was 14 years old and her parents are still struggling with her loss to this day.

"It's difficult," Phyllis said. "Thirty-five years doesn't make it easier."

"It's still tough to deal with."

"She was a good student," Earl said, his voice choking up. "She was sensitive, caring, a gentle soul."

They hope to honour their daughter's memory by adding her name to the Manitoba Memorial Monument. The project was created to memorialize those killed by an impaired driving accident.

Patricia Hynes Coates is the national president of Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) Canada. She said that even though the amount of impaired driving deaths has decreased, she doesn't want any more names added to the memorial.

"Every time we hear about another loved one injured or killed, we become frustrated," Patricia said. "But it makes us more determined, so we won't rest until changes are made."

Patricia said that if someone wanted to add a name to the memorial, they would have to apply through a MADD victim service representative.

The applicant has to make sure that all the court documents were recorded, as they must prove that their loved one's death was caused by alcohol, drugs or a combination of the two. Once the process is done, and an affidavit is signed, their name will be added to the memorial.

MADD will add names to the monument once a year. Sometimes it might take longer than that, depending on how quickly the organization receives the necessary documents.

For Earl and Phyllis, their daughter's name on the memorial serves as a tribute to her and a warning about the dangers of impaired driving.

"We felt like we needed to do it," Phyllis said.

"She deserved some sort of recognition. She was cut off from everything at 14 years old," Earl said. "That's what this was about. That's why we're here, and that's why we chose to have her name on that wall, as a way of honouring her."

According to Manitoba Public Insurance, 107 people were killed on Manitoba roadways in 2016. Thirty-six per cent of those crashes involved impaired driving.

The monument can be viewed in West St. Paul at Glen Eden Cemetery, located at 4477 Main St.

eventually opened another business called Cocoa Nymph, which she ran for seven years while also teaching at a chocolate school.

Now for the past two years, she's been working for Purdys Chocolatier.

"My main role is product development, so I create all the new products that go to our shelves. I have a test kitchen and I test recipes three or four days a week. Then the other day, I work on education across our company and with customers on understanding chocolate and how it's made and how to talk about it," she said.

"For me, it's the perfect blend of science and art. I love science a lot, but I'm also really creative. So for me chocolate is the ultimate combination of those two things: I get to make things that taste and look beautiful and I get to make people happy."

So far, the response to the Manitoba store has been amazing, she added.

"A lot of people are familiar with us because this is our 76th shop in Canada," she said, "so people know us from travelling or from buying online."

In addition to the art and science of her work, the ethical side of the company also appeals to the McKinley.

"We're really proud that we use 100 per cent sustainable cocoa in all of our products. Our sustainability program is actually more than fair trade because we guarantee that the farmers get a premium for their cocoa so no workers are ever taken advantage of," she said.

"We have independent audits to make sure that all of our farmers are complying with the appropriate regulations and we also provide the farmers with agricultural education to help sustain their farms ecologically and financially."

In addition, the company invests in social initiatives such as medical trucks, clean water filters, vaccinations, school kits, mosquito nets and more.

"Purdys has all types of entrepreneurial, educational and agricultural programs for people in our cocoa-growing communities," McKinley said.

"So buying Purdy's impacts the world by supporting people who have traditionally been quite taken advantage of by their industry."

Back in Canada, Purdys is famous for several sought-after products. The milk chocolate Hedgehogs feature an unforgettable hazelnut and milk chocolate centre called gianduja, which is an Italian word for a super smooth nut and chocolate blend.

"After that, we're also really renowned for our Sweet Georgia Browns, which are our house-roasted and salted pecans draped in our liquid caramel and topped with a dollop of chocolate," McKinley said.

"We're also known for our Himalayan Pink Salt Caramels. They're a classic caramel recipe from 1907, which is the year that Purdys was founded. We've been using the same recipe for 110 years because it's so good, but a few years ago we added salt to it and it's a runaway hit."

Part of McKinley's job is to develop a section of the company called From the Chocolate Kitchen, which is feature flavours for every season that rotate throughout the year.

"Our newest From the Chocolate Kitchen flavour is called Peanut Butter and Jelly. It's a crunch peanut butter gianduja with a raspberry jelly, so it's a two-layered piece that's really pretty and cute," she said.

"In Manitoba only, we have a special feature called White Spruce and it was inspired by the forests of Manitoba. We made it specifically for the Manitoba opening. It's still available in the St. Vital shop as long as supplies last and then it will be launched company-wide for Christmas."

For anyone who would like to order Purdys chocolate from the comfort of their home, they can visit the online store at www.purdys.com. Fundraising opportunities are also available for schools and other groups.

Riders rally in Teulon to support Project New Hope

Teulon's Main Street was taken over by motorcycles this past Saturday for the 2nd annual Teulon Ride In Rally. The event attracted close to 100 riders from across the province to help raise funds for Project New Hope Canada; a non-profit organization that offers support to help veterans and their families.

The rally kicked off with a pancake breakfast followed by a Poker Derby ride with five stops throughout the Interlake. Riders took part in various motorcycle and family games on Main Street.

Wayne Boonstra's 1972 Chaig Jung's Chinese Military motorcycle and sidecar was a crowd favourite.

Prepared with prayer

When I was a kid, I used to have the same nightmare annually at the beginning of the school year. It's a nightmare that others have as well. It's when you are getting ready for your first day of school. You have made sure your hair is perfect, your clothes are perfect, your back pack is loaded with all your school supplies, and your lunch has the best trading items in the lunch room. You get to school, open your locker, place your back pack in and all you can hear is laughing. As you turn around, people are laughing and pointing. To your horror, you have discovered why everyone is laughing. You look down and you realize you forgot to wear your pants. Now, I have never heard of people actually forgetting their pants, but I think that spiritually we forget to put our pants on each day. In Psalms 5:1-3 we read "Listen to my words, Lord, consider my lament Hear my cry for help, my King and my God, for to you I pray. In the morning, Lord, you hear my voice; in the morning I lay my requests before you and wait expectantly."

In the morning I lay my requests before you. How many of us live in this way? We spend so much time perfecting our look and perfecting our lives that we neglect one of the most important part of our lives: Prayer. As I said earlier, it is like we forget to put our spiritual pants on. Prayer is so powerful and has the ability to impact our entire day. Unfortunately prayer has become optional and nearly irrelevant in our lives. May you be challenged this next year to put a focus on prayer. Don't just go a day without praying, but don't go a morning without prayer. Start your day in the most powerful way. Seek the Lord, and don't forget your spiritual pants.

Blue Jays in a Giant WSBL final championship battle

By Brian Bowman

The Winnipeg Senior Baseball League championship series looked like it was going to be a quick one.

Instead, it has turned out to be a great battle between the Stonewall Blue Jays and Elmwood Giants.

Stonewall grabbed a 3-0 series lead but Elmwood clawed back into the best-of-seven series with wins of 7-4 and 8-3.

"We're still in the driver's seat here so hopefully we can come back at home here tonight," said the Blue Jays' Adam Kirk Tuesday morning.

The Blue Jays' bats were on fire early in the series but have cooled off a tad in the last two games.

"We have to start hitting the ball again, really," Kirk said. "We put up so much offence in those first three games and then, I think, we had 10 hits in (the last) two games."

A problem for the Blue Jays in the two losses is that they are not getting that key hit or two with guys on base. In the first three games of the series, that wasn't an issue at all as Stonewall scored a whopping 38 runs.

"We're still getting guys on," Kirk noted. "We're just not getting that big hit or that hard-hit ball that is causing an error. We had plenty of opportunities in Game 4 and 5 to be right there and score a bunch of runs."

Game 6 of the series was scheduled for Tuesday evening in Stonewall but no score was available due to Tuesday afternoon's press deadline.

Eric Swanson was expected to get the start on the mound for the Blue Jays.

"Hopefully, we can get it done tonight," Kirk said. "But that's the good thing about being up 3-0, you get four chances. And if you can't get it done in four chances, hats off to them - they battled well."

If necessary, a series-deciding Game 7 was played Wednesday evening (7:30 p.m.) at Koskie Field in Winnipeg.

The Jays' Adam Luellman delivers a pitch during Stonewall's 8-3 loss against the Elmwood Giants this past Monday.

Female Midget Lightning hoping to improve this season

By Brian Bowman

The Interlake Lightning Midget female hockey team is looking to forget about last season and focus on the present.

After a very tough year record-wise a year ago, the Lightning have welcomed a young group of players to their program this season.

The team has already been selected and the focus on player development will play an integral role in this year's team.

"It's going to be a challenge but I'm excited," said new head coach Paul Miller. "We have a good group of girls and we have the right attitude but it's going to take us 60 to 90 days to get there."

The Lightning had 31 girls come out for tryouts, which is a real good number. That number dwindled down to 27 after a few different reasons but Miller was very pleased with the interest in their program.

"The numbers were up significantly from past years by probably 10 more girls," Miller noted.

Of those players, just six have returned from last year's team.

"We have eight 15-year-olds, so we are going to be very young and we have 10 first-year players that have never played at this level before," Miller noted. "We're going to be very young and there's lots of work to do. But we have already had three team practices and we're progressing in the right direction."

Miller would like to change the atmosphere surrounding the Lightning Midget team. Players have to start thinking about winning rather than losing.

"We need to change to a winning culture and kind of forget about the past," he said. "The team has been around for two years ... and their record last year was probably similar to the first year."

"The five girls that have been there from Day 1 probably haven't won too many games, if any, in two years."

A positive attitude on the bench — and in the dressing room — will be a must this season.

"We need to start building on the little successes to get the culture we need to (have)," Miller stressed.

The Lightning does not have a lot of offensive firepower up front, so they will have to play low-scoring games to be competitive.

"Offence is going to be a challenge for us," Miller admitted. "I'm a huge defence-first coach so we do need to look after our own end. We have two young goalies that I believe are going to help us be competitive and keep the puck out of our own net to grind out those 2-1 wins."

As for the Manitoba Midget Female Hockey League, seven teams will be vying for a league title this season. The league is expected to have more parity amongst teams this season compared to previous years.

Interlake, meanwhile, will see its first exhibition action on Sept. 22 in Portage la Prairie. The Lightning has four games scheduled that weekend and then will begin their regular season Sept. 30 when they hit the road to play Yellowhead.

Thunder dominates Nationals in Bantam play

By Brian Bowman

The Interlake Thunder made it look real easy against the Transcona Nationals in their Bantam "AA" league game last Sunday in Stonewall.

Interlake defeated the visiting Nationals by an official score of 30-0. The Thunder was very dominant on both sides of the ball."

"Our offensive line played amazing and our defence had the best game that they have had all year," said Thunder head coach Ed deLaroque. "(Our defence) did everything well — they couldn't move the ball on us."

Interlake's 3-4 defence stifled Transcona's offence the entire game.

"Our outside linebackers were doing a really good job of keeping their offence contained," deLaroque noted.

On offence, the Thunder did a good job with both the run and the pass. Still, there is a lot of work to be done to move the ball even better.

"I'm going to say that our offence needs to be a little better," deLaroque admitted. "It's not as crisp as it needs to be yet."

Thunder quarterback Josh Charison of Teulon made several really good passes that were not caught by his receiving core, deLaroque noted.

With the lopsided victory, Interlake improved to 2-2 and they are currently tied for third place with the Fort Garry Lions (2-2).

"I'm very pleased with (where we are in the standings)," deLaroque said. "There is a lot of progress happening and I would say that we are past the hardest part of our schedule. We have played the top two teams already and we won't see them in the second half."

The Falcons Football Club and St. Vital Mustangs lead the six-team division with 4-0 records.

The Eastman Raiders and Transcona, each with 0-4 records, will now be realigned to the Bantam "A" division.

Two teams from the Bantam "A" division will now take their place for the second half of the season.

The Bantam "AA" schedule for the second half of the season was not known at press time.

PeeWee Thunder improving on the gridiron

By Brian Bowman

Player development is the main goal at the PeeWee football level.

The Interlake Thunder may not be winning games on the field, but they are certainly winning in getting their players better and better on a weekly basis this season.

"It's certainly not the way we would like it to be going," said Thunder head coach Chad Thoresby. "There are some new players, new coaches, and we haven't found the end zone yet but we're getting better each week."

Record-wise, the Thunder are 0-4 in the PeeWee "A" division and have been outscored by an official 120-0 count. Teams at this level can only lose by a maximum 30-0 score per game.

Interlake's latest 30-0 loss came against Eastman last Sunday. The game was scoreless until about "four or five minutes left in the first quarter" which was nice to see, said Thoresby.

"It was 16-0 at halftime and we were moving the ball up the field a little bit," noted the Thunder head coach. "We have a trio of backs...and we were getting the ball upfield."

The Thunder has seen their roster number increase the last few weeks and they are now up to 28.

"At least now, we can field a full team," Thoresby said. "And kids don't have to play both ways, which is nice."

The attitude of the players has been very good. This is a group that is eager to learn the game of football.

"The players are showing up early for practice and they might be getting their butts kicked in a few games but everybody is still smiling and happy to play football," Thoresby observed.

The Thunder are currently at the midway point of their season but, in an odd twist, were still awaiting their second-half schedule at the beginning of this week.

"We're looking forward to the next few weeks and, hopefully, we can get some more gas in our offence," Thoresby said. "Our defence should be holding (the opposition) to 10 or 20 points per game and we should be able to score that."

PeeWee teams in the Manitoba Minor Football Association have been split up into two divisions – a "AA" and "A" one – this season.

Thoresby expects the Thunder to play four more regular-season games before advancing to the playoffs.

"We're still waiting to see if we have a bye this week or what the plan is," Thoresby said Monday evening. "We'll practice like we have a game but we don't know when and where it is."

Midget Thunder bucked by Mustangs

By Brian Bowman

For the second game in a row, the Interlake Thunder had a slow start to a Midget Football League of Manitoba game.

But for the second time in a row, the Thunder closed out the game with a real strong second half.

After spotting the St. Vital Mustangs a 24-0 halftime lead, the Thunder kept with the league's best team in a 31-6 home loss Sunday in Stonewall.

"I always see the Mustangs as the top team and the toughest team to take on," said Thunder head coach Mitch Obach Monday afternoon. "It was a heck of a windy day and that definitely factored in the game."

St. Vital took advantage of the strong wind to score 17 second-quarter points. Interlake had that wind at their backs in the third which allowed them to sustain a couple of solid drives.

One of those drives was converted into a touchdown as Thunder receiver Evan Krahn hauled in a pass from Carlin Doak.

The Thunder was successful on offence by using a short passing game. St. Vital chose to bring a lot of pressure most of the game, which opened up the passing game.

"Both teams that we have seen this year have brought a lot of pressure from inside the box," Obach noted. "Our offence is always a work in progress so we will be looking at some adjustments that we can maybe make to be better prepared for the next time that we see the Mustangs and the Falcons."

And, because of the stiff wind, the Thunder were often forced to gamble on third down instead of electing to punt, which cost them field position.

St. Vital's top running back, Breydon Stubbs, closed out the game's scoring with a fourth quarter

TD. Despite that touchdown, Obach was very impressed with the play of the Thunder's defence, especially in the second half.

Still, Obach feels the Thunder must have better starts to their games and play four quarters of solid football.

If they do that, Interlake should be successful in their next two games against the last-place Sunrise Coyotes.

The Thunder (1-1) will host the Coyotes (0-2) on Sunday (4:30 p.m.) at Stonewall Collegiate. The two teams will then hook up again Sept. 24.

"We're going to take it one game at a time but if we want to be a top-tiered team in the league, we can't afford to be losing to the Coyotes," Obach said. "We have to go hard at them at home on Sunday and then travel there and do the same thing the next week."

Jets finish 2-1 at preseason tournament

By Brian Bowman

There were a lot of questions surrounding the Stonewall Jets heading into training camp this season.

But many of those questions were answered last weekend.

Stonewall played well in all three preseason games last weekend, finishing with a 2-1 record.

"All in all, the quality of play was really (good)," said Jets' co-coach Matt Figur. "But the tournament is 100 per cent evaluation...and every player had two or three games to show us what they had."

The Jets wrapped up the busy weekend with a 4-3 overtime win over the Ft. Garry/Ft. Rouge Twins as Sam Mandryk scored the OT winner.

Mandryk and Bryce Stovin scored to give the Jets a 2-0 first-period lead and then Brendan Labossiere made it 3-0 at 12:02 of the second.

But the Twins fought back to tie the score at 3-3 with goals from Cole Doherty, David MacDonald and Eric Lecuyer.

Taking down the Twisters

On Saturday afternoon, the Jets took down the Pembina Valley Twisters 3-1. After a slow start, Stonewall closed out the game with a strong final 20 minutes.

Keane Boucher scored a second-period power-play goal to give Pembina Valley a 1-0 lead after 40 minutes.

But the Jets came out flying to start the third, getting goals from Taylor Radley and Carson Ouellette.

Brendon Burnett then iced the win with an empty-net goal with a minute remaining in the game.

a 3-2 loss to the Raiders Junior Hockey Club last Friday.

"We matched up (well) against the Raiders in Game 1 and had the lead for most of the game," Figur noted.

The Raiders' Darian Genaille and Brayden Clark scored just 1:03 apart late in the third for the comeback win.

Lars Anderson gave the winners a 1-0 first-period lead but the Jets' Reid Boyer came back with a shorthanded goal midway in the opening frame.

After a scoreless second period, Stonewall took a 2-1 lead on a Burnett power-play goal.

The Jets expected to make some cuts this week before they hosted the St. Boniface Riels last night (no score was available). Stonewall also welcomed a couple of players to their organization after they were released from Junior "A" teams.

The Jets will hit the road to take on the Transcona Railer Express on Friday (8 p.m.) to close out the preseason.

Those same two teams will meet Sunday to begin their MMJHL regular seasons. Puck drop for the regular-season opener is 2 p.m. at East End Arena.

OBITUARY

Trude Linden
May 24, 1934 - August 17, 2017

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the passing of Trude Linden at Goodwin Lodge, in Teulon on Thursday, August 17, 2017 at the age of 83 years.

Trude is survived by her husband David Coupland of Teulon; her daughter Michele (Patrick) in Arizona; son Mark (Jan) in Winnipeg; four grandchildren; two step-grandchildren; and one step great-grandson. She is also survived by two sisters and one sister-in-law in The Netherlands.

Trude emigrated to Canada from Holland in 1956 and spent time living in various places in Quebec and Alberta before moving to Winnipeg. In 1973 she met David, the love of her life and the two were never apart after that, best friends forever and partners in marriage. Trude enjoyed ballroom dancing with David, spinning, weaving and a short stint of parachuting. She managed to crack a vertebra on her third jump, which ended her sky diving activities. She graduated from the University of Winnipeg with a Bachelor of Arts Degree and went on to earn her Registered Nurse Diploma from Red River Community College. After working as an R.N. for several years, she retired to her home near Teulon and spent her retirement reading and listening to classical music. In 2013 Trude was diagnosed with dementia which eventually caused her to be placed in Goodwin Lodge as her husband was no longer able to care for her at their home.

She contributed to many charities but her favorite was the Winnipeg Humane Society. It was her request that no funeral service or memorial service be held. A private burial will take place at a later date.

OBITUARY

Pauline (Polly) Anne Strauss (Wyshyhora)

Sadly at the age of 77, Mom passed away at the Stonewall Hospital on September 5, 2017.

Mom was born June 26, 1940 to Anne and Michael Wyshyhora. She along with her family lived on a farm in the Arborg area. In her late teens, Mom left school and moved into the city with her older sister Mary. While in the city Mom met and married Edward Strauss. Together, they had five children. For a short time, they lived in the Stony Mountain area before moving into Stonewall where she lived until falling ill. Mom held several jobs and always worked hard all her life. She loved to cook and bake for her family. She would spend entire days making perogies, cabbage rolls and borscht just so we could enjoy them. She always felt that she needed to work on her recipes - tweaking the recipe just a bit because she wanted to make them perfect, they were. Mom loved family get-togethers especially at Christmas time. She always had a small gift for everyone no matter what. In Mom's earlier years, she loved to go dancing with her friends, Gordie and Audrey. Her love for the accordion was apparent as she would play (by ear) some of her favorite polka songs on any given Saturday night. Mom learned to drive in her later years. Some of her favorite past time things to do was to put the pedal to the metal and drive to the Polo Park area where she would spend hours shopping and checking out sales in the mall.

The family would like to thank Dr. Venter and staff at the Stonewall Hospital for Mom's care during her short stay.

Prayers were held on Monday, September 11, at 7:00 p.m. at MacKenzie Funeral Chapel, 433 Main St. Stonewall. Funeral service was held on Tuesday, September 12 at 1:00 p.m. at Christ the King Church, 315 2nd St. E, Stonewall; private interment followed.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to The Heart & Stroke Foundation or a charity of your choice.

A NOTE TO OUR CUSTOMERS
Due to the nature of this sale, we felt a brief explanation is essential.
At closing, 6 p.m. Sat., Sept. 30th we will tally the 20 days of paid sales and divide by 20 to get the average daily sale. The day which is closest to the daily average, without going over it, will be the day which ALL purchasers will receive their purchase amount back, taxes excluded.
In the case of credit card (Smitty's, Visa, Mastercard) purchases, we will issue a credit immediately.
As we are tremendously overstocked right now, every item in stock will be included in this sale. No exceptions—clearance, damaged, discontinued, even new arrivals; furniture and appliances.
We must reduce our inventory and to ensure we do, we will even give it away for one day!
