Fundraiser game set for breast cancer support group Oct. 21

By Jennifer McFee

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month, and an upcoming sporting event will honour breast cancer survivors while also raising money for a local support group.

On Friday, Oct. 21 at 8 p.m., the Stonewall Jets will face the Fort Garry/Fort Rouge Twins at Veterans Memorial Sports Complex. All proceeds from a 50/50 draw and a Chuck-a-Puck contest will be donated to the Liliane Baron South Interlake Breast Cancer Support Group. Pledge sheets are also available for anyone who would like to donate to the cause.

The Stonewall Jets team will tape their sticks pink for the game (which is sponsored by Quarry Ridge Pharmacy) to honour wives, mothers, grandmothers, aunts, friends and other heroes. The Jets are hoping to have a large contingent of breast cancer survivors in attendance. There will be a ceremonial puck drop at 8 p.m. Come out to show your support and wear pink.

The cause is close to home for many people whose lives have been touched by breast cancer, including Interlake residents who have battled the disease.

One of those people is Lorrie Kratzer of Stonewall, who acknowledges everyone's journey is different.

She said she'd always been pretty good about doing self-check breast exams, usually about once a month. Five years ago, she discovered an unusual lump in her left breast in mid-October. She made an appointment with her doctor for the next day and then was sent for a mammogram right away, followed by a second mammogram. Soon after, she got a call to schedule a biopsy, and she was diagnosed with breast cancer a few days later. On Dec. 8, 2017, Kratzer had a left breast mastectomy.

"The words 'I'm so sorry, you have breast cancer' became the day my world changed forever — bad and good. I had a pity party for a few days. Eventually, reality set in and I knew I couldn't change what was happening, only decide how to deal with it," she said.

"For me, it was essential to have some control, so I started gathering information to make the best decisions for my mental and physical health in order to survive — and I was determined to survive. I had decided even before I saw the oncologist that I was going to have chemotherapy, but I knew I needed to explore other holistic treatments to complement, not replace, modern medicine."

She said she's fortunate to have a great general practitioner, and she also found knowledgeable practitioners in naturopathic, chiropractic and massage therapies.

"Then the Liliane Baron Breast Cancer Support Group found me and everything was in place and complete," Kratzer said.

"For myself, combining modern medicine, holistic therapies, knowledge, treatments and support group meetings fulfilled my need for controlling and, most importantly, acceptance of my situation."

When support group founder Claudette Griffin first contacted her to attend a meeting, Kratzer wasn't sure about it.

"I was overwhelmed with sadness, helplessness, anger, confusion by the complexity of the information, appointments, the medical system, options and treatments. I didn't know how to fit another thing into an already messed-up life and, to be honest, if I wanted to share this mess with people I didn't know," she said.

"So, at first, I didn't attend. Instead, Claudette would call to see how I was doing, if I needed anything, reassured me with her quiet, gentle strength that everything was going to be OK. At the end of our conversation, she would extend an invite, reminding me that the 'Bosom Buddies' were there for me, that I didn't have to say a word, could just enjoy their company, listen to their experiences, obtain information, laugh with them during a time when laughter didn't seem possible."

After some difficult chemo sessions, Kratzer decided she needed to hear about other people's experiences.

"I needed support from people who are going through the same thing. I attended my first meeting and never looked back. They listened, provided information, emotional support, advice when they had similar experiences during their journey," she said.

"They cried and laughed with me. They understood my fear, my frustration, my inability in not having control over this disease."

She knew they would be there to help if she needed anything — meals, hair and clothing alternatives, prosthesis and lymphedema sleeves, house-cleaning services, home visits or even financial assistance for expensive drugs.

"We didn't just talk about cancer-related topics and our troubles," she said.

"We also talked about everyday things, things that had nothing to do with cancer, treatments, appointments — things that made me feel like life was normal, and that was so important to feel normal. They were and continue to be a necessary part of my life."

The journey has been tough with an onslaught of

"But through it all, the professionals, family and friends I surrounded myself with were incredible, supportive, made me laugh when I needed to laugh the most," Kratzer said.

"Bernie, my best friend and husband, was my strength, emotionally and physically, when I had none left. And, finally, the last day of chemo came, the day I 'rang the bell,' the day I knew I would survive."

For Kratzer, the biggest challenge was realizing and accepting that she had a life-threatening disease. It hurt her heart to share the news with her husband and son.

At the same time, she discovered reasons to be optimistic along the way. She is grateful for the breast cancer support group, as well as the medical experts who fought for her every step of the way.

"Knowing first-hand that people with breast cancer can, will and do survive is the brightest moment ever," she said. "I'm so thankful for every birthday, every day, my family and friends."

Breast cancer has also touched the life of Carla Buchanan of Gunton, whose journey began in September 2021 when she received her yearly letter from CancerCare Manitoba Breast Check. She called to set up an appointment in Gimli and found that it was full. She asked to be put on a waitlist and got a call to go for her mammogram on Oct. 14.

Efficiency Manitoba launches deep energy retrofit offers for homes and businesses

Submitted by Manitoba government

Efficiency Manitoba is now offering two new programs for Manitobans who carry out extensive renovation projects that significantly reduce their energy use. Through Home Energy Retrofits and the Commercial Deep Energy Retrofit Program, homeowners and businesses can receive rebates when they plan and complete multiple energy-saving upgrades that result in substantial electricity and/or natural gas savings — often called “deep energy retrofits.”

Efficiency Manitoba's Home Energy Retrofits offers homeowners a rebate of $75 to $150 per gigajoule (GJ) saved as a result of the renovation. Businesses that participate in the Commercial Deep Energy Retrofit Program may be eligible for a rebate of up to $12,000 for energy modelling as well as an incentive of up to $6 per square foot for achieved energy savings. While there will be significant variation in projects under these programs, a typical Home Energy Retrofit project could see an incentive between approximately $10,000 and $15,000, while a typical Commercial Deep Energy Retrofit project could see an incentive of approximately $240,000 to $600,000.

“We are pleased to see Efficiency Manitoba continually launch new programs to support the diverse needs of Manitobans as they relate to energy efficiency,” said Minister of Environment, Climate and Parks and Minister responsible for Efficiency Manitoba Jeff Wharton. “The rebates and assistance provided by their deep energy retrofit programs helps make large renovation projects more affordable and accessible to Manitoba homes and businesses, while also stimulating job growth in the energy efficiency industry to provide support services for these types of projects.”

Lace Up to End Diabetes making a difference close to home

By Autumn Fehr

September was Diabetes Canada's Lace up to End Diabetes virtual event.

As our world speeds up and families become busier, diabetes is not about to give in.

According to Diabetes Canada, one in three people across Canada is affected by diabetes or pre-diabetes. Additionally, one in two young adults is at risk of living with Type 2 diabetes in their lifetime.

Sept. 25 was National Lace Up Day which was a virtual event that happened on Diabetes Canada's social media platforms.

From Sept. 1 to 30, people from across Canada spent their September doing activities they enjoy, at their own pace, joining a movement to end diabetes, #LaceUpYourWay.

With COVID-19, the event had to quickly shift platforms a few years ago from their in-person event to still provide an event that would connect the community and keep people moving safely.

The purpose of the event was to bring awareness of diabetes by sharing stories, getting fundraising going and moving every day, at your own pace so everyone could participate, said Amy Peters, the co-ordinator for community fundraising and events with Saskatchewan and Manitoba at Diabetes Canada.

Tyler Persoage shared his story at the annual Best Banting gala, put on by Diabetes Canada in 2019.

The program was created in Manitoba. Since the event started in 2015, they are at 1,500 participants.

"Reaching out to those small towns and getting communities set up was a big focus this year because it's that awareness factor that was a driving force for this event," said Peters.

At their virtual event last year, they raised almost $500,000. They are still counting funds, but they estimate this year to have raised well over $400,000.

"What's raised in Manitoba stays in Manitoba to support our D-Camps program for children living with Type 1," said Kelly Lambkin, senior manager of community fundraising and events in the prairies.

Tyler Persoage lives just outside of Stonewall with Type 1 diabetes. He benefits from the fundraising initiatives when he attends Diabetes Canada's D-Camps program.

This was Persoage's fourth year participating in D-Camps.

"It's where a bunch of kids with diabetes go and have fun for a week.

The goal is for us to all feel the same and all feel included with each and that just because we have diabetes, it doesn't mean we are alone or different. It's a very tight-knit community of people," said Persoage.

Connections and friendships are made at these camps that last a lifetime.

"It's a very unique and special place for me," said Persoage.

Persoage didn't participate in Lace Up this year but has seen it make an impact in his life since he first started to participate.

"It's meant to connect people and

Seventeen more Manitobans die from COVID

By Patricia Barrett

The provincial government's weekly COVID surveillance report for the period Sept. 18-24 (reporting Week 38) shows another surge in deaths from the virus.

Seventeen more Manitobans lost their lives, bringing the province's death toll to 2,160. The previous week's report showed a total of 2,143 deaths.

Despite vaccination and omicron variants that are said to be mild, people continue to die from the virus. A few weeks ago, the surveillance report noted 19 deaths from COVID.

There were 73 new hospital admissions for COVID in Week 38, of which 11 people needed admission to the intensive care unit. The previous week's report showed 87 hospital admissions, including 11 ICU admissions.

The provincial government doesn't report data showing the total number of COVID patients in hospital on any given day or week.

There were also 283 new laboratory-confirmed COVID infections in Week 38, a decrease of 94 cases from the previous week's report of 377. The government's data for new infections are an undercount as access to PCR testing is restricted and rapid antigen test results aren't tracked.

Wastewater surveillance data continue to show an increase in COVID. Data for the city of Winnipeg as of Sept. 15 indicated "ongoing activity" and an "increase in activity level since early September has been observed."

The government used to provide a list of current and historical COVID outbreaks in facilities such as hospitals and personal care homes, but it stopped providing that in Week 37.

Other health news:

- The Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority's medical officer of health announced Sept. 26 that the COVID outbreak at Stonewall hospital is over.

"Visitation has resumed within existing infection prevention and control protocols," said an IERHA spokesperson.

- COVID outbreaks continue at the Ashern Personal Care Home, Tudor House PCH in Selkirk and the Teulon hospital (as of Oct 1).

- Health Canada issued a warning last month about certain hand sanitizers that could pose health risks.

The health agency is asking consumers to stop using the affected products, consult a health-care professional if they've used any of the products and have health concerns, and report adverse events to Health Canada.

Some sanitizers contain impurities such as benzene or methanol or acetaldehyde at elevated levels, have undeclared ingredients such as benzalkonium chloride, have insufficient quality oversight or lack risk statements.

The latest affected product (Sept. 12) is Zero Tolerance Plus Sanitizer, which contains benzene at elevated levels. The company that makes it, Beauty in Bulk, had its licence suspended by Health Canada, according to the agency's Recalls and Safety Alerts webpage.

Other sanitizers added to the list in July by Health Canada include Davy's Hand Sanitizer, Davey's Sanitizing Hand Wipes and Hand Sanitizing Wipes, all from Up On Me Imports, and Nomad Hand Sanitizer Jasmine, Nomad Hand Sanitizer Lemongrass, Nomad Hand Sanitizer Scent Free, Nomad Hand Sanitizer Summertime and Nomad Hand Sanitizer Winter Cheer, all from Rocky Mountain Soap Company.

For a full list of hand sanitizer recalls and licence suspensions, visit the Recalls and Safety Alerts webpage.

E-book launched celebrating 150 years of agricultural history in Manitoba

By Agriculture MB150

The governments of Canada and Manitoba have launched 150 Years of Farming in Manitoba, an e-book developed in partnership with Keystone Agricultural Producers (KAP) that shares the 150-year evolution of the agriculture and agri-food sector in Manitoba, federal Agriculture and Agri-Food Minister Marie-Claude Bibeau and Manitoba Agriculture Minister Derek Johnson announced.

"The 150 Years of Farming in Manitoba

e-book acknowledges the hard work and dedication of our farmers and is an outstanding tribute to all the farming communities in Manitoba," said Bibeau. "The agricultural sector is a pillar of our economy and our farmers are sustainably producing food of internationally recognized quality — a true success story over 150 years in the making."

The e-book's publication came on the last day of Manitoba Agriculture's Food and Farm Awareness Week, an annual occasion for celebrating the province's diverse, vibrant and sustainable agri-food system. The e-book highlights the economic, societal and environmental benefits of agriculture in Manitoba with a particular focus on the innovations of the last 50 years including those related to animal care, crop production, soil research and food safety.

"Our government is proud to support the province's dynamic and

Reasons to be Thankful

Dr. Henry A. Ozirney

I'm really looking forward to Thanksgiving. That's because we'll be in Courtney, B.C., where we'll celebrate it with our son Curtis and his family. Because of the distance involved, we don't get to see our grandchildren — Asher, age 9, and Allie, age 7 — very often, so spending time with those two precious little ones will make the weekend special. So that's one very big reason I'll be thankful this coming Thanksgiving.

What about you? What will you be thankful for? I like what someone has written: "This Thanksgiving I'm thankful ... that there aren't twice as many politicians and half as many doctors ... that grass doesn't grow through snow, necessitating winter mowing as well as shovelling ... that civil servants aren't less civil ... that teenagers ultimately will have children who will become teenagers ... and finally, I'm thankful that I'm not a turkey."

Well, there you have several reasons for which we all can be thankful this Thanksgiving.

But perhaps you're finding it difficult to be thankful because for you over this past while, life has been difficult, filled with problems. As you anticipate Thanksgiving, maybe you're thinking, "There's precious little for me to be thankful for ..." You're perhaps more in the mood for grumbling and complaining than you are for being grateful.

Let me suggest a way you can be thankful at Thanksgiving this year. The Scottish minister Alexander Whyte was the minister of a church and on one Sunday morning, the weather was absolutely dreadful. Everyone coming into the church was making very negative comments about it. Whyte began the service by praying, "We thank You, God, that it is not always like this."

Whyte had come to understand and to apply what the Bible says, "Give thanks in all circumstances, for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus" (1 Thessalonians 5:18). That is, even when everything is going badly in your life, you can still find something for which to be thankful.

Can you think of something in your life, that in spite of everything, you could still be thankful for? I hope so.

Farmers were out in full force over the weekend trying to complete their late harvest. According to Agriculture Manitoba, harvest progress sits at 47 per cent completed across the province, approximately 3.5 weeks behind the five-year average of 79 per cent complete by Week 39. Last Saturday, Tait Farms was harvesting 175 acres of wheat that they seeded June 19 just west of Marquette. Kelly Holtmann was operating the combine while Bob Procter drove the grain cart. Help the Tribune record the weather of the week and send in your photos of friends or family enjoying the outdoors. Email: weather@stonewallteulontribune.ca.

No students on bus during collision

By Jennifer McFee

A school bus driver sustained minor injuries after the bus was hit by another vehicle two weeks ago.

On Friday, Sept. 23 at about 3:05 p.m., the school bus was travelling northbound on Highway 236 when it was struck on the driver's side, just in front of the rear bus wheels, by a vehicle that was travelling eastbound on Highway 67.

Margaret Ward, superintendent and CEO of Interlake School Division, said there were no students on the bus at the time, since the driver was headed to Ecole RW Bobby Bend School to pick up the students for their afternoon trip home. One of Interlake School Division's bus mechanics completed the afternoon run with another bus.

"The bus driver suffered some strained muscles," she said, adding that the driver of the other vehicle was not injured.

"We are thankful that the bus driver's injuries were minor. The bus driver's quick reaction and driving skills definitely prevented the bus from rolling."

The bus was towed to the transportation facility, and a Manitoba Public Insurance claim has been made.

modern agriculture sector and to celebrate Manitoba's farmers who work tirelessly to sustainably meet the growing local, national and global demands for food in an environmentally conscious way," said Johnson. "Our province was founded on agriculture and this e-book provides an important opportunity for our agricultural producers to showcase their ongoing dedication to a safe and reliable food supply."

Support for the e-book initiative has been shared between the federal and Manitoba governments using funds through the Canadian Agricultural Partnership, developed in partnership with KAP.

"Agriculture in Manitoba has evolved through the hard work and innovation of those who have come before us and by those who continue to lead us today, and being able to reflect on the previous 150 years gives us an opportunity to bring forward the lessons of history," said Bill Campbell, president of KAP.

"Throughout the past 150 years, agriculture has defined Manitoba's people and has been the backbone of the province's economy. This story pays tribute to the voices and forces that have shaped Manitoba itself."

The Canadian Agricultural Partnership is a five-year, $3-billion commitment by Canada's federal, provincial and territorial governments that supports Canada's agri-food and agri-products sectors. This includes a $2-billion commitment that is cost-shared 60 per cent federally and 40 per cent provincially/territorially for programs that are designed and delivered by provinces and territories.

The e-book can be viewed online at www.AgricultureMB150.ca.

Scott Corbett is running for the position of reeve in the RM of Rosser. He has lived in the municipality all of his life and comes from five generations of mixed farming in the area.

"I have been very community oriented from a young age and have also volunteered a great deal of time in the community over the last 30 years of my life. I have flooded outdoor/indoor rinks, made curling ice, helped with hot lunch at the school, built ice churches, coached numerous teams, organized tournaments and sat on multiple community interest boards," said Corbett.

"Rosser has been very good to our family, and we have always had a strong desire to help with community events and try to provide opportunities for people to socialize. A strong sense of community and giving back to it has been instilled in our family for generations."

Corbett first started on council when he was 27 years old. He has completed three terms as a councillor with the intention of running for reeve when timing in his life allowed or the opportunity arose within the municipality to do so.

"I enjoyed my previous years on council, and I am proud of what we were able to achieve. I would appreciate the opportunity to come back to the municipality to help move it forward in efforts to improve the lives of our ratepayers for years to come."

If elected, some things that Corbett would like to see come to fruition include getting back to basic service provisions for ratepayers, the RM's basic infrastructure needs rebuilding (gravel and paved roads) and following through on the RM's drainage plans.

Corbett would also like to improve the RM's recreation and increase council support to its fantastic volunteer base in ways that they need.

Corbett notes that there is now an internet fibre backbone running through the municipality, so he would like to investigate ways to accelerate this service so that all ratepayers have an opportunity for excellent connectivity within this next council term.

Now finally running for reeve after a long run as councillor, Corbett loves where he lives and is proud of what the RM of Rosser has to offer.

"I take great pride in the fact that we live very close to the largest urban centre in Manitoba, yet within a 10-minute drive, you experience vast open acres of Class 2 and 3 lands where our farmers are able to produce commodities without many impediments. I also enjoy the people and what we have been able to achieve in the last 130 years within our small municipality through commitment, hard work and strong planning."

Ken Mulligan

By Ty Dilello

Ken Mulligan is very pleased to be running for reeve in the RM of Rosser in the upcoming fall election. At 63 years old, he has lived his whole life in Rosser.

"I am proud to be the fourth generation of Mulligans on our century-old farm in the RM," said Mulligan. "My son and I are currently farming on 5,000 acres. Agriculture has always been my main focus, but I've also been very interested in community and other related activities within the RM of Rosser."

In his younger years, Mulligan was involved in 4-H, played baseball, hockey and curled, as well as coached his son's hockey team and daughter's baseball team. He drove a school bus for many years for the Interlake School Division, as well as worked as an ice maker at the Rosser Community Centre during the winter months.

Mulligan also served on the Rosser Community Club board and acted as president for many years. In 1990, he acted as building director for a major expansion of the Rosser Community Centre, making it more usable for all members of the community as well as surrounding municipalities and Winnipeg. Mulligan is currently a councillor in Ward 1 and has enjoyed working with the constituents and other council members.

"I believe working as a councillor for the past four years has given me the opportunity to learn and grow, which will serve me well as reeve in this very busy and progressive RM. I have served on numerous council committees, as well as having been a member of provincial and federal associations. By serving on these committees and attending conferences, I have met many people who have provided me with the knowledge and expertise to help me do my job better and, therefore, serve the ratepayers better. I believe that all ratepayers have a right to be heard and to have their issues dealt with fairly and in a timely manner."

Mulligan looks forward to working with the other members of council and RM staff on various projects as the RM of Rosser continues to grow and prosper.

If elected as reeve, there are a number of things that Mulligan would like to see accomplished — things like the completion of the drainage plan that has already begun, improving gravel roads and bringing them up to standard for the heavy traffic use that is now there, as well as possibly building up some of the dirt roads to be all-season roads and working with the provincial government on the replacement of bridges.

"Other things of note include the commitment to provide support to all our recreation clubs so they can provide adequate facilities and activities for all residents in the area, the completion of the walking paths in Grosse Isle so residents have a safe place to walk, working closely with neighbouring RMs on mutual issues, and always keeping lines of communication open between council members and the ratepayers so their voices can be heard and issues addressed."

The RM of Rosser is located close to the north Perimeter and the City of Winnipeg, providing residents with close proximity to shopping, employment opportunities and entertainment venues while enjoying rural living. With that, Mulligan believes the RM is a very prosperous area for all residents to enjoy life.

"I am proud of our many century-old farms and the many farms and businesses that have been here for numerous years, as well as the growing list of new businesses within CentrePort and the surrounding areas. We are fortunate in having a large number of prosperous businesses located in the RM, which provides employment opportunities and helps to maintain a lower tax base for residents."

IERHA shares year's highlights at AGM

By Jennifer McFee

Interlake-Eastern Regional Health Authority representatives shared highlights of the past year at the RHA's recent annual general meeting, while also taking time to acknowledge the impacts of COVID in the Interlake and beyond.

The virtual meeting took place Monday, Oct. 3 with more than 96 participants from across the region joining online and by phone. Robert Maytwayashing, Interlake-Eastern RHA's Indigenous human resources development officer and an Anishinaabe Knowledge Keeper, opened the meeting with a prayer.

CEO Marion Ellis pointed out a number of unplanned influences on health care that needed to be considered for health-care delivery. These influences include increased staff vacancy rates and staff who needed to miss work after testing positive for COVID.

"Our staff have seen us all through a global pandemic and the conflicting demands it presented personally and professionally. Staff vacancies are additionally challenging for a workforce that is stretched thin," she said.

On the flipside, Ellis acknowledged the staff members whose commitment to their work and their communities have maintained delivery of health-care services through challenging times.

She also said the regional health authority has greatly benefited from community members who value the people in health care and the health services being delivered. Through the global pandemic — as well as other challenges such as flooding, grass fires and snow storms — elected leaders and community members have done all they can to protect the welfare of patients and residents and to ensure health-care providers can continue delivering care.

Glen West, chair of IERHA's board of directors, also shared gratitude for the community's support for staff and physicians, particularly at the start of the pandemic when there were so many unknowns.

"Care for the caregivers has always been a hallmark of life in rural Manitoba, and we thank you for continuing to lift the spirits of health-care workers," West said. "You were there cheering us on during a very difficult time in health care."

On behalf of the board, West extended condolences to the region's residents who lost loved ones during the pandemic. At the same time, he acknowledged the hard work of health-care workers who answered the call to support the pandemic response.

"So many of us were unable to memorialize people in traditional ways of mourning given the restrictions in place at the time. Over 2,000 Manitobans have lost their lives to COVID-19," he said. "Each and every individual in health care played a role in getting us through the pandemic. And, to the best of their ability, these health-care workers continued to deliver the health-care services we needed. Our staff have continued to make care for patients, residents and clients a priority, regardless of the challenges that COVID-19 presented. For that, we will be eternally grateful."

He noted that COVID testing sites wrapped up in Eriksdale and Powerview-Pine Falls in March 2022, followed by the Selkirk testing site in April.

"The vaccination sites in Selkirk and Gimli both opened and closed over the past year. Almost 150,000 immunizations were delivered at the Selkirk supersite," he said. "At peak, the site was delivering 1,400 immunizations daily. The Gimli supersite provided almost 13,000 immunizations with a capacity of up to 400 immunizations a day."

In addition, West noted that IERHA introduced a new strategic plan in 2021 through collaborative efforts with stakeholders and staff. The plan features six strategic goals — integrated and co-ordinated health care, primary and community care transformation, Indigenous and vulnerable populations, mental health and addictions, health human resources, and innovation and technology.

Each goal has its own strategic steering committee made up of board members, IERHA representatives and community members. Anyone interested in participating can fill out a strategic steering committee application form at www.ierha.ca under "Publications & Reports" and "Strategic Plan."

Other opportunities exist for community members to contribute through local health involvement groups, which provide assistance, advice and information to the board. To get involved, visit ierha.ca, click on "Community Involvement" and then "Local Health Involvement Groups."

AGM materials are posted on the IERHA website www.ierha.ca under "About Us" and "Annual General Meeting." These include the annual report with financial statements, a recording of the meeting and an evaluation form related to the meeting.

components of an existing home or building. These upgrades include adding insulation, undertaking detailed air sealing measures and installing high-performance windows and doors. Many projects also involve replacing or upgrading heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) systems or adding renewables like solar photovoltaic panels.

Home Energy Retrofits requires participants to have an EnerGuide evaluation performed on their home by a Registered Energy Advisor, who will identify and recommend upgrades to maximize energy savings, home comfort, indoor air quality and resilience. Completing the recommended upgrades can result in energy use reductions between 50 to 100 per cent. Efficiency Manitoba's rebates can also be stacked with the Canada Greener Homes Grant, Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation's Eco Plus program, and other sources of funding and financing to lower the upfront cost of the retrofit project.

With the support of a design professional of their choosing, businesses going through Efficiency Manitoba's Commercial Deep Energy Retrofit Program will have their entire building's energy use analyzed with energy modelling software. Energy efficiency enhancements would then be designed specifically for that building to reduce its overall annual energy use by a minimum of 20 per cent upon completing the whole-building renovation.

"Offering programs and rebates for deep energy retrofits is a great way to encourage Manitobans to take a holistic approach and major steps forward on energy efficiency," said Colleen Kuruluk, chief executive officer of Efficiency Manitoba.

"It's estimated that approximately 70 per cent of existing buildings will still be in active use by 2050, so it's vital that we take significant action on existing building stock to contribute to energy use reductions in Manitoba.

"If a homeowner or business owner is looking to significantly reduce their energy use, the technical support and financial incentives we provide ensure they're able to do so at a reduced cost in a single project. We're committed to making energy efficiency upgrades easier and more affordable for all Manitobans, and these two new programs will contribute to this commitment."

Vote 2022 - Get to know your candidates: Town of Teulon

By Ty Dilello

Anna Pazdzierski has announced that she will be running for a second term as mayor of Teulon in the upcoming election on Oct 26.

"This has been an interesting two-year, 10-month term as mayor of Teulon with the pandemic, four extreme water events and a tornado just outside of town," said Pazdzierski. "I am running for a second term as I feel it is so important to continue the momentum of the many projects underway."

Pazdzierski would like to continue to work with council to move Teulon forward while treating all taxpayers equally. She notes there are many long-term projects underway to improve the community that she has called home for 55 years.

At the top of her list going forward is to work quickly on a water drainage plan, as currently three major drainage routes go through Teulon.

"We need to keep the water out of town rather than having it flow through the community as it currently exists. Council and I have already met with the RM of Rockwood on this issue. We are working with all our neighbouring RMs and the province on a plan to deal with flooding and drainage in Teulon."

Council is also in the process of developing an overall plan for the park facilities and for the railroad property.

Over the last couple of years as mayor of Teulon, Pazdzierski has lots that she is proud of. The town has developed health and safety policies and personnel policies, which were not in place, and developed an emergency measures plan that applies to the needs within the community and has held an open house to discuss future emergency planning.

"We also applied and got a grant to update and improve the out-of-date bylaws and develop a secondary plan for the future — all this along with our normal day-to-day work as a town council."

As mayor of Teulon, Pazdzierski is officially on all of the local community boards, but she personally takes responsibility for the Seniors Resource Council, South Interlake Planning District, Stonewall and Area Juvenile Justice Committee, Teulon and Area Health Sustainability, RHA Mental Health and Addictions, Municipal Interlake Caucus.

She has also had input to the South Interlake Regional Library, Teulon Rockwood Garbage Facility, Teulon Rockwood Fire Department, and the Teulon Rockwood Recreation Program.

Pazdzierski strongly believes in treating all committees and taxpayers equally, building a solid community as we go along.

"As mayor, council and I have accomplished and learned so much in this short time. We have so much more good work to see through. I bring continuity to council moving forward to continue the good work we have accomplished to date."

Michael Ledarney

By Ty Dilello

Michael Ledarney is running to become mayor of Teulon at the upcoming fall municipal election.

Ledarney has lived in Teulon most of his life and considers Teulon to be his hometown.

He has previously served as a councillor from 2002 to 2019 and deputy mayor from 2017 to 2019. He hopes that his vast experience will allow him to serve the residents of Teulon in the years ahead and guide the council if elected from Day 1.

When looking at pressing issues that face Teulon and the surrounding area, Ledarney notes that there is not a single issue that is most important but several issues important to different people, and he would like to work on all of them.

"Among them are preparing a budget that will set taxes to a reasonable level, even as I see economic uncertainty in the years ahead," said Ledarney. "We need to position Teulon for growth by leveraging the land that Teulon does own to increase housing options."

Ledarney says there are several projects that need attention sooner than later in Teulon, such as developing a water management plan quickly.

"The recent flooding has shown us how vulnerable we are to the next flooding event. This flooding is a warning that if we don't work with everyone both upstream and downstream to mitigate for the next flooding, then it will be worse. There are also projects in the hall and at the arena that we need to do planning for so that when provincial funding is available, we can take advantage of it."

If elected as mayor, Ledarney has a four-year plan that he wants to bring on for the Town of Teulon. He would like to lead the process of developing a plan that does not just include his vision or the council's vision but one that incorporates the plans of the entire community.

"We all want a vibrant and growing town, and when Pumpkinfest, Teulon Hockey Club, Green Acres Art Centre or any of our other community groups succeed, all of Teulon benefits. Mayor and council do have a large role in this, and sometimes we need to lead those efforts and other times we need to support and let others take that lead."

When looking at the big picture and seeing Teulon become even more of a prosperous community over the next 20 years, Ledarney wants a vibrant town that grows and provides opportunities for its youth while keeping taxes affordable.

"The position of mayor is to lead council and the town towards that goal. I will develop a plan with the four councillors, and I will reach out to the community to build on our plans, as I discussed above. If after this next term I can stand in front of everyone and say to you, 'Here is our vision, here is the progress we have made and here is what needs to be done in the next term,' then that is a success."

By Ty Dilello

Todd Campbell is running for mayor of the Town of Teulon at the upcoming fall municipal election.

Campbell is a fourth-generation member of his family to live in Teulon. He has lived and schooled in the area for 55 years. Holding a university degree in management, he has held management positions in the electrical industry for 30 years and is currently employed as a project specialist.

Campbell has been involved with community groups within the Town of Teulon, RM of Rockwood and RM of Armstrong. He is also currently a town councillor for the Town of Teulon.

Seeing a lot through his time on the town council, Campbell thinks that he has solutions to help Teulon in the long run if elected mayor.

"We need to be transparent," said Campbell. "We need to ensure everyone gets information. This should not only include media such as Facebook or email blasts to people who have access but also through newspapers, flyers or memos. We need to work closely with the media to ensure council briefs are reported."

Campbell notes the need to continue developing a strong relationship with the RM of Rockwood as the two co-exist in the same region.

"By working closely, we can share best practices and work on solutions together."

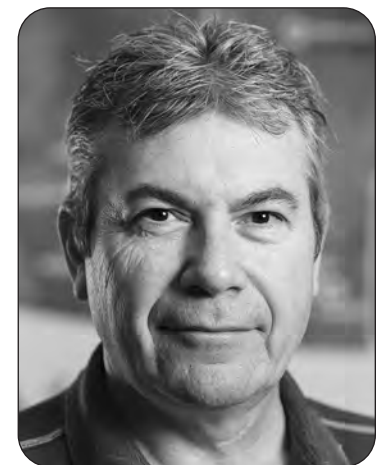

He also wants to engage with community organizations and help them flourish so that their programs are cost-effective and that community needs can be met.

Campbell also notes that flood mitigation needs to be addressed immediately, with temporary and then permanent solutions.

"With recent flooding in areas of town, cleaning ditches, creeks and culverts prior to snowfall is a priority. Lobbying Manitoba Highways to help by providing gates on culverts that come off the three highways that surround Teulon is important. Lastly, we need to engage the RM of Rockwood to help formulate a plan to the provincial government."

Campbell would like to develop a master plan for green spaces that includes all community groups, sports and

Rockwood council to review restricted animal permit request

By Jennifer McFee

A Stony Mountain family is seeking permission to keep a ball python as a pet.

Shannon and Jim Munson moved to Stony Mountain 16 years ago. Along with their four children, they have always loved snakes and make annual visits to Narcisse to view and hold the garter snakes near their dens.

Earlier this year, their children asked for a pet guinea pig, so the parents undertook some research about what it would mean to be an owner. Later, their son saw a ball python for sale in a pet store and said he wanted it. Another round of research began, this time about the snake.

"After extensive research on both animals, we decided that, for us, a ball python was safer, more hygienic and, overall, a much easier pet to care for than a guinea pig," Shannon Munson told Rockwood council during the Sept. 28 committee of the whole meeting, "and we were very excited to make this addition to our family."

In June, they attended the Reptile Expo on West St. Paul, where they met with snake breeders to help them learn more about buying and owning a ball python.

"It was there that we learned certain municipalities had restrictions on ball python ownership. That thought didn't even cross my mind, as I'm sure was the case with many people," she said.

"It was shortly after that expo that I reviewed our bylaws and started the process of contacting the RM to see how our family could obtain a restricted animal permit."

At the same time, she continued to research what it meant to be a ball python owner.

"I had a local woman reach out to me and let me know that she had a ball python that she was looking to rehome. She had recently moved and was looking to downsize her collection of eight snakes and was wondering if we might be interested in purchasing Buttercup," Munson said.

"Buttercup was perfect for us. She was three years old, healthy, an established eater, handled frequently by the original owner and extremely docile. I took the kids to visit Buttercup and we all fell in love with her. We ended up purchasing her."

Since the family is still in the midst of the process to obtain a restricted animal permit, Buttercup remains in the care of friends for now.

"We see her regularly and recently took her for a vet visit so that we could provide the RM council with a certificate of health. The vet advised Buttercup is healthy and even commented on how docile she was," she said.

"He also advised that he could tell Buttercup had been raised well, in a caring environment, and would be a great addition to our family."

Munson said that ball pythons are not dangerous to anyone or anything other than a small mouse or rat — and not even that in Buttercup's case.

"She's only ever been fed frozen or thawed food and has never in her life hunted for her meals. Ball pythons do not have fangs or venom. Ball pythons are constrictors, but they will not go after a person, cat or a dog," she said.

"Ball pythons only go for what they are physically capable of eating — and a person, a cat or a dog are much, much too large. Buttercup's current diets consists of small rats that weigh approximately 90 grams (about three inches long) because

Stony Mountain group participates in Peace Walk

By Ty Dilello

The Social Justice Group at Stony Mountain School was recently involved in the ninth annual Rotary Elementary School Peace Walk at the Canadian Museum for Human Rights. The group presented a poem and visual display about peace and its meaning to them, and participated in the walk with several other schools from around the province.

The Stony Mountain Social Justice Group is a group of students who volunteer to participate in initiatives that promote social justice in our local and global communities.

"Together, we build an understanding of local and global issues and participate in activities that bring awareness to our school community," said Dawn Bartholomew, a counsellor at Stony Mountain School. "Our goal is to develop projects that focus on equality and inclusion, such as the need for food, water, clothing, shelter and belonging."

On Sept. 16, the group was invited to participate in the Rotary Elementary School Peace Walk. This year's theme at the event was "Children's Voices for World Peace," which was about educating children about the power of using their voices for inclusivity, reconciliation and equity.

"Our students heard a blessing from Elder Amanda Wallin and greetings from MLA Ian Wishart. We presented a visual art project and an acrostic poem to the group and participated in the Peace Walk."

The Social Justice Group's poem was as follows:

P – Possibilities. The possibilities are endless when we work together.

E – Equality. All things on our Earth deserve equal consideration.

A – Acceptance. Respecting differences and acknowledging our mistakes can make our world stronger.

C – Compassion. Listening, understanding, empathizing, and supporting each other shows our human compassion.

E – Everyone and Everything. Living together respectfully.

"The Zoloto Ukrainian Dance Ensemble engaged us in a dance lesson and shared some of their amazing dance steps as a troupe. This was a poignant reminder of the current events that Ukraine continues to face today and a clear connection to the call for our voices to bring attention and awareness to this tragic event."

The group of Stony Mountain students had a wonderful day at the human rights museum, as it was truly an excellent experience for all that attended.

About two weeks later, she received a call from CancerCare about an area of concern, and they scheduled another mammogram. Two weeks after that, she had a biopsy at the Breast Health Centre.

“On Dec. 23, I met with my surgeon and was told I had breast cancer. We went through the options and decided on a lumpectomy,” Buchanan said.

“I was assigned a social worker from the Breast Health Centre to help guide and support me through the next steps.”

In early February 2022, Buchanan had surgery at Health Sciences Centre. Three weeks later, the results showed that everything looked good, so the next step was treatment.

“In early April, I met with a medical oncologist and a radiation oncologist. They decided I would receive the accelerated radiation, which is stronger but done in five doses instead of the usual 20 to 25 doses. I would also be put on a hormone therapy for the next seven years,” she said.

“Everything was completed by the end of April. I continue to have more appointments and have more tests scheduled for December. One of the side effects of having a lymph node removed can be lymphedema. I have a mild case for which I see a therapist. This will be ongoing for my lifetime as there is no cure.”

Over the past year, Buchanan has also faced both challenges and bright moments along the way.

“One of my biggest challenges is being patient, not getting stressed out and letting my mind wonder with the ‘what ifs.’ The staff of the Breast Health Centre and CancerCare are excellent in helping to alleviate this. They are all so helpful and willing to take the time for anything I have needed help with,” Buchanan said.

“On the bright side, I keep telling myself it could have been worse; I could have waited until next year. Instead, put towards. He also wants to see the Teulon’s Main Street undergo some sidewalk repair and beautification, such as overhaul sidewalks, wheelchair access points and greenery (trees).

He wants to engage and focus the Chamber of Commerce to help develop a strategic plan to encourage business development. Campbell would also like to allocate reserve funds for fire equipment and for water treatment and waste disposal regulation upgrades.

“As a municipality, we need to start allocating funds in our reserves for future water treatment projects. Waste disposal requirements are constantly changing, and studies are being conducted to ensure environmental regulations are being met. Improvements will be required in the future.”

In his mayoral race, Campbell is asking for the support of ratepayers.

“I believe in Teulon, and I stand with community groups. As mayor, I don’t stand alone. Through the teamwork of council, administration and our employees, we will achieve our goals.”

May you enjoy the warmth of family this season.

because I asked to be placed on a waiting list, I was tested sooner than later and now have an excellent prognosis.”

She is also thankful for the care she has experienced from fellow support group members.

“I am a member of the Liliane Baron breast cancer support group and found that the help and support from this group is beyond what I could have imagined,” she said.

“They call and check on me, help with expenses. At the meetings, we have open discussions on how everyone is feeling and handling their health and life after cancer.”

Sharing similar sentiments, Kratzer expressed gratitude for the group’s support — and for the generosity of donors that keep it going.

“From the bottom of my heart, thank you to everyone that donates to this amazing support group,” Kratzer said.

“During a very difficult time in my life, your donations provided me with a group of amazing women and supports. Your donations will continue to assist women in the south Interlake fighting and surviving breast cancer.”

She encourages everyone — both men and women — to check their breasts monthly. She also shares a few words of wisdom based on her own experience.

“Don’t put off mammograms; early detection is crucial. I truly hope you never have to experience breast cancer or cancer of any kind — but if you do, never give up, be your own advocate, ask questions, accept support, eat healthy, exercise, rest, create an environment of calm. Let go of the things you can’t control and take control of the things you can, cry when you need to, laugh more than you cry, never stop taking care of yourself,” Kratzer said.

“Remember that the people in your life are also on this journey with you. They have fears, feel helpless and lost in their emotions. I’ve come to know that my journey can change at any given moment. Every day and every person in my life is a gift.”

Bobby Bend PAC needs your help for playground fundraiser

By Jennifer McFee

A group of Stonewall parents is trying to raise enough money to create the area's first inclusive playground that would be accessible to children of all abilities.

The parent advisory council at Ecole RW Bobby Bend School has been fundraising for the past year to purchase an accessible playground and replace the current aging structure.

PAC president Amanda Clarke said they're aiming to raise about $130,000 for the initiative.

"With the existing structure, there are parts that have broken and fallen off, so we had to have someone come out and make sure it's safe to play on," she said.

"It's very expensive to purchase a new one, so we've kick-started our fundraiser. Our main goal is to get an inclusive design that will be for all of the community and school use."

To help raise funds, students are selling tickets, which cost $20 apiece, for the Power of Play raffle. First place is $10,000, second place is $5,000 and third place is $1,000.

The top-selling grade will get a pizza party to celebrate their success in September, October and November.

Ecole RW Bobby Bend School PAC members Debra Adamik, Amanda Clarke and Katie O'Connor.

The tickets are due back at the end of November prior to the draw date of Dec. 12.

Volunteers also sold tickets at Quarry Days and registration night. In addition, they've reached out to the community to see if any individuals or businesses would be interested in donating to the cause, and a few donors have already jumped on board.

"We will be putting up a plaque with all the business names that give over $1,000 in donations," Clarke added.

PAC secretary Katie O'Connor said this would be the first inclusive playground in Stonewall and surrounding communities.

"It's going to have a ramp and proper swings that anyone can use. You can add onto the swing set so it can keep growing," O'Connor said. "It helps everyone to be a part of play without excluding anybody."

Treasurer Debra Adamik noted that this project is all volunteer-driven, with no funding from the school division or the school.

"We sent home five raffle tickets per child," she said. "We're hoping they'll be sold and that kids might even ask for more."

Clarke noted that they've also applied for some grants. If enough money is raised through the raffle fundraiser, as well as grants and donations, they'd like to put a deposit down in December and hopefully break ground in the spring.

She also said Bobby Bend's PAC previously raised money for another play structure at the back of the school, which was put up in 2017.

"Our main focus is for the community and all the kids at the school," she added.

Anybody who would like to get involved or make a donation can email bobbybendpac@gmail.com.

bring awareness to diabetes. It's meant to fund D-Camps, but it's also a good way to get out and get active and learn about what I do every day living with Type 1," said Persoage.

In 2019, he ran a lemonade stand for donations for Diabetes Canada with his buddy for Lace Up month.

Lace Up and D-Camps have brought a lot of awareness to the community and tackled stereotypes, said Persoage.

"Before I was diagnosed, I would always hear the word diabetes and think, 'Oh that's because you ate too much sugar or because it's in your family.' After I was diagnosed, I realized that, well no, there's a lot more that has to do with it. So I think it's brought a lot of awareness to diabetes and Type 1 specially, and that there is a difference between types 1 and 2, and it's not just exercising and watch what you eat — it's a lot more hands-on than that," said Persoage.

Persoage said a lot of people in the community support Diabetes Canada and what they do.

It's time for your

10 things to check for safe driving all winter long

October is Car Safety Month. At this time of year, the Automotive Industries Association of Canada (AIA Canada) reminds you to get your car checked before winter. Now is the time to repair minor problems and the wear and tear incurred on those long summer drives.

Check your vehicle's systems to ensure your car is ready for those chilly months ahead. Better still, schedule a professional inspection. Take a cue from AIA Canada's Be Car Care Aware (BCCA) program and inspect these 10 areas:

1. Fluids, like motor oil, brake and transmission fluids, windshield washer fluid and antifreeze
2. Hoses and belts
3. Battery
4. Brakes
5. Exhaust system
6. Heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) system
7. Steering and suspension system, including shock absorbers, ball joints and related components
8. Tires, including pressure and tread wear
9. Windshield wiper blades
10. Lights, like headlights, tail-lights, turn signals and dashboard lights

Finally, remember that proper maintenance is the best way to ensure your vehicle remains dependable. When your vehicle is in peak condition, it consumes less fuel, generates less pollution, has a higher resale value and lasts longer. In addition, you'll pay a lot less in repairs if you act quickly before minor issues become much bigger problems.

Free road hockey event scores a big crowd

TRIBUNE PHOTOS BY MATTHIEU MEIER

More than 50 people registered to participate in Sticks in the Middle, a free road hockey game hosted by Outdoor Hockey Club. The event took place in the south parking lot at Veterans Memorial Sports Complex on Sunday, Sept. 25 and was open to anyone and everyone to participate.

By Jennifer McFee

Outdoor Hockey Club took a shot at hosting a new community event and ended up scoring a great success.

On Sunday, Sept. 25, crowds gathered in the south parking lot of Veterans Memorial Sports Complex for a free road hockey event called Sticks in the Middle, which was open to all ages and skill levels.

Organizer Randy Frykas estimates approximately 55 players were in-involved at peak attendance, with about a dozen parents watching from the sidelines.

"It was amazing. We had three games going on at once and a group shooting at targets on a net," said Frykas, who launched Outdoor Hockey Club in 2020.

"Once I got the groups organized, the games just ran themselves — and they kept throwing their sticks in the middle to start the next game. Most of the participants signed the pond hockey net to commemorate the day."

Looking ahead, Frykas plans to revisit the event next year, and he's currently working on plans for a winter Outdoor Hockey Club event.

What to do if a fire breaks out

It's impossible to predict when a fire will break out. Here are a few steps to take if you ever find yourself in a fire.

- Head for the exit. Get away from the fire immediately. If you're at home, follow your evacuation plan. If you're in a public place, go to the nearest emergency exit and move away from the building. If it's safe to do so, activate the alarm system.
- Don't stop. Fires spread very quickly and can burn through an entire room in less than three minutes. Don't attempt to retrieve your belongings, and don't linger.
- Correct your route. If the room is full of smoke, get low to the ground and crawl under it.

Inspect any doors before opening them. Start by checking if the door or door handle is hot. If it is, find another way out. If not, open the door slowly and ensure the space is clear before going inside. Never use the elevator.

- Think about your safety. If you can't reach an exit, cover your mouth and nose with a cloth where you are and close the doors. If possible, place a wet towel at the base of the door to block out smoke. Contact your fire department and announce your presence by waving a flashlight or brightly coloured object through a window.

Fire prevention tools like smoke alarms, portable fire extinguishers and evacuation plans can minimize the

How to choose a smoke alarm

Smoke alarms play a crucial role in fire prevention. Therefore, it's essential to make the right choice when purchasing one. Keep these tips in mind when shopping.

Type

The type of smoke alarm you choose must be authorized by your municipality and suitable for the location you'll place it in your house.

Here are your options:

- Ionization alarms are very sensitive and react to vapours and smoke in the air. This type of unit is best suited for bedrooms and hallways.
- Photoelectric devices are less sensitive to fumes and smoke than ionization types. These alarms are best for kitchens and bathrooms.

You can also purchase a strobe light smoke alarm. These units combine sound and light, making them ideal for people with hearing impairments.

Power supply

There are two power supply options available. It's advisable to verify your municipality's regulations before making a purchase.

- Battery-powered alarms are very common. However, you must remember to replace the battery regularly. Lithium batteries have a lifespan of about 10 years.
- Electric units are connected directly to your home's 120-volt current. However, you must invest in a backup battery to ensure the alarm operates as intended if there's a power outage.

It's a good idea to install more than one smoke alarm in your home and replace them every 10 years.

Rosser students spreading peaceful thoughts with pinwheels

By Jennifer McFee

Rosser School students created art from the heart by recently participating in the Pinwheels for Peace project.

Wednesday, Sept. 21 was the International Day of Peace, and to mark the moment, the entire school took part in an international art and literacy project. Learning support teacher Sheila Anderson led the students in creating colourful pinwheels and planting them outside the school for all to enjoy.

Florida-based art teachers Ann Ayers and Ellen McMillan launched the non-political project in 2005 as a way for students to express their feelings about what's happening in their lives and in the world. A decade later, about 500,000 peaceful pinwheels brightened up more than 3,500 locations around the globe.

In this project, "peace" doesn't necessarily refer to war or conflict. Instead, it can be as simple as peace of mind.

This year's theme is "Imagine ... Whirled Peace," with pinwheels spinning in the wind to spread peaceful thoughts and feelings throughout the world.

Woodlands school recognizes Truth and Reconciliation

By Jo-Anne Procter

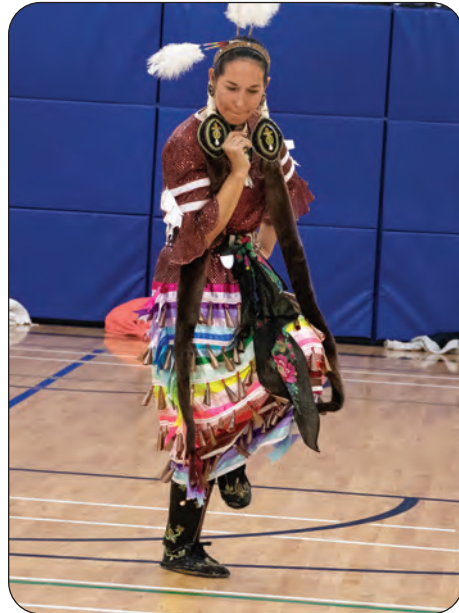

Students and school staff throughout the province acknowledged Truth and Reconciliation last Thursday through teachings and activities. Woodlands Elementary School welcomed Métis jingle dancer Micheline Berard to their school to share her art of dance and stories of her journey to learn her heritage.

Berard spoke of her childhood, growing up in her family home not allowed to acknowledge she was First Nations and feeling ashamed of her Métis heritage.

The first time Berard heard the drums 15 years ago, she felt deeply connected and began dancing, which opened up her soul.

Jingle dancing is performed at powwows across the country, with women and girls often dancing with feather fans, eagle feather plumes or eagle feathers in their hair. The jingle dance and dress represent healing and pride, a spiritual form of wellness and celebration that links the past and helps those move forward with strength and hope.

"It is super important to know where we come from, and it is also super important to look forward in life," Berard said. "It is part of the healing, every child/person matters. Don't dismiss the past, but move forward."

Berard encouraged students to strive to be better, to create opportunities, to find their passion and, most importantly, to love themselves.

Woodlands Fire Department continues with recruitment drive

By Autumn Fehr

Come on in and join the team!

The Woodlands Fire Department continues its recruitment drive with its open house series this month for those interested in joining the team, as they actively continue their recruitment efforts in the community.

On Oct. 6 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Warren Fire Hall, located at 152 MacDonald Ave., the fire department will host its second and last open house.

The Woodlands Fire Department operates as a paid on-call station, which means the members are volunteer firefighters paid based on their time spent either training or responding to incidents.

These open houses are essential in their recruitment process.

"The recruitment drive helps the community by supporting the fire department in having adequate human resources. We are using this recruitment to build up our roster," said Grant Palmer, captain of the Woodlands Fire Department.

Maintaining some stronger numbers of trained fire department members helps us ensure we are responding to emergencies with enough resources and can do the job properly and safely," he said.

The open house series is meant to educate anyone thinking they'd like to be a part of the Woodlands Fire Department.

It allows anyone interested to come down and see what they do, learn about the department meet the team.

Palmer said that the department is currently fully functional, capable and prepared for all responses but could be at a more comfortable level of human resources.

The open house will have some training activities to show people what a typical training event looks like. In addition, officers are on hand to answer questions that people may have, such as what people can expect if they want to join, what's the process of joining, what are the training plans, and what's life like with the fire department long term.

It allows people to see what it would be like to be a firefighter before they take the leap and apply.

"It's to share information, to give people an opportunity to gather some information, speak directly to members and officers, and it's an effort to be an open, casual, stop by and see what's going on," said Palmer.

Paid-on-call firefighters do not require any previous training or experience but are required to participate in the training session provided by the fire department.

All members are expected to attend training and incidents and complete the required training to become certified in Manitoba Level 1 Firefighter Training and certification.

As a volunteer firefighter, what's typical is regular weekly and monthly training run by Steve Jones, deputy chief of operations and training, responding to calls, including vehicle fires, structure fires, wildland fires and a variety of other types of events.

Palmer said the range of calls is about 75 a year, but it's quite unpredictable in terms of the call volume.

The Woodlands Fire Department is looking for commitment and for individuals who can give them certainty that the fire department will fit into their schedule for years to come.

Headingley and Stonewall RCMP respond to collision on Perimeter Highway

Staff

Headingley and Stonewall RCMP responded to a three-vehicle collision that occurred on the northbound lanes of the Perimeter Highway at Portage Avenue on Sept. 39 at 6:30 a.m.

The initial investigation has determined that a semi had jackknifed on the Perimeter Highway at Portage Avenue earlier in the morning. A towing company attended and placed one tow truck behind the semi to warn oncoming drivers of the lane closure. The driver of the tow truck was also advising motorists to change lanes with an illuminated wand. A second tow truck was at the front to assist with moving the semi.

A northbound semi then proceeded to drive into the rear tow truck. The collision resulted in both the northbound semi and the rear tow truck to strike the jackknifed semi.

The tow truck driver directing traffic saw the oncoming semi and managed to safely move away from the scene prior to the collision and did not sustain any physical injuries.

The drivers of both semis sustained injuries and were transported to hospital. They are in stable condition.

The investigation is ongoing.

> COUNCIL, FROM PG. 11

She added that ball pythons only produce a small amount of excrement every four to eight weeks, and the excrement is safe to dispose of. As well, ball pythons don't require vaccinations in Canada.

"If somehow Buttercup escaped her enclosure, which literally has a lock and key, she would be trapped in our secure house. If, somehow, she escaped our house — I cannot stress enough how extremely unlikely this scenario is — she would quickly die from exposure in our extreme climate as ball pythons require very specific temperatures to survive," Munson said.

"Ball pythons are native to western and central Africa and require a very narrow temperature and humidity range of 26°C to 31°C and 60 per cent to 90 per cent humidity."

Buttercup will never need to go outside except for a quick trip to the vet, she added.

"She does not require walks or a yard. No one will ever have to see her or be around her unless they are invited inside our home," she said.

"I'm well aware that many people don't like snakes, often based solely on an emotional response, but that shouldn't impact my family's ability to be responsible pet owners to a non-dangerous animal. It also shouldn't take up the valuable time of the RM of Rockwood council, that being the considerable amount of time needed to address applications for a restricted animal permit."

Ball python ownership is on the rise, she said, and the RM will likely see more applications for this animal. Through their restricted animal permit application, the Munsons not only hope to receive permission to bring Buttercup home as their family pet. They also hope to begin the process to amend the bylaw to remove the word "any constrictor" from the RM of Rockwood's restricted animal definition.

"Buttercup is a lovable household pet who will be well cared for by our family," she said. "We really want to have her home with us."

Council received the information but didn't make any decisions during the meeting.

In other council news:

- Representatives from Glacial discussed ideas for potential redevelopment of the north quarry area and a potential eco park for the south quarry in the future.

- The RM of Rockwood office was closed on Sept. 30 in honour of the National Day for Truth and Reconciliation. The Winfield Transfer Station and the Teulon-Rockwood Waste Disposal Grounds were also closed.

Cvar enters senior year at St. Cloud State

By Ty Dilello

Olivia Cvar, formerly of Gimli, is gearing up for her senior year of college hockey at St. Cloud State.

The 21-year-old phenom is coming off a season of scoring 14 points in 30 games for St. Cloud, a top NCAA Division 1 hockey program in Minnesota.

Cvar comes from a hockey family as both her sister and brother played. Her parents decided to put her into hockey when she was in Grade 2, and Cvar hasn't looked back since.

"My family and I started to realize I could make something out of the sport around Grade 6-7," said Cvar. "I was very competitive, and I loved to be challenged. I played with the boys until Grade 7 because I loved the physical toughness I gained from playing with them."

Cvar also credits her development to growing up in the Interlake region of the province, where she regularly went up against the top boys' players in her age categories.

"Growing up in the Interlake is something I am proud of, and I always like to remind people I'm from Gimli. Growing up in an area where it was hard to find female teams to play on made me mentally and physically tougher as a hockey player and as a person."

She played for the Interlake Ice in Grade 8 and then decided to try the Prep program at Shaftesbury High School in Winnipeg. Once Cvar understood that she could further her hockey career and schooling, she transferred schools to Balmoral Hall in Winnipeg. There she was able to develop her skills, work ethic and ability to overcome obstacles.

"I committed to play Division 1 college hockey in Grade 10. It was like a dream come true."

During her time at Balmoral Hall, Cvar was a member of Canada's U18 national program and Team Manitoba, which played at the National U18 Women's Hockey Championships in 2016 and 2017. She was also co-captain of Manitoba at the 2019 Canada Winter Games.

Cvar has greatly enjoyed her time so far at St. Cloud State, where she is majoring in elementary education.

"The atmosphere here is amazing. The professors are great and understanding of our busy schedules, my teammates are so much fun to be around, and the friends I have made here outside of hockey are great. I'm super excited to get my senior year started as I have worked hard my past three years here, and I am ready to compete at my best for my senior year."

Olivia Cvar is gearing up for her senior year of college hockey at St. Cloud State.

This past 2021-22 season, Cvar appeared in all 35 games for St. Cloud and was a key scoring threat every time she stepped onto the ice, spending time throughout the year as both a center and on the wing. She was a WCHA Scholar Athlete and named to the WCHA All-Academic Team.

After her senior year of college, Cvar has a couple of options that she's undecided on for the future.

"I was given a COVID year, so I would be able to come back and be eligible for a fifth year of hockey at St. Cloud. I'm also interested in playing in a women's league down in the United States or in Europe, where I could be employed as an elementary school teacher as well. I'm in no rush to decide, though, as I'm just enjoying this experience and taking it all in."

Thunder tame Neepawa Tigers

By Brian Bowman

The Interlake Thunder must really like playing at home.

Interlake won its third consecutive game — all played in Stonewall — after a dominating 48-14 win over the Neepawa Tigers in Rural Manitoba Football League action last Thursday.

“It was easily the most complete game that we’ve played on offence, defence, special teams and all four quarters,” said Thunder head coach Mitch Obach. “We’ve sort of had trouble putting the pieces together on the same day but we definitely did it last Thursday so it was a big win for us.”

The Thunder are definitely playing with confidence as the wins pile up.

“Those first three games on the road (was tough) but now being at home and getting on a bit of a roll guys are starting to feel it. It’s coming together at the right time of the year now that we’re in the second half.”

Thunder quarterback Ben Cook was, once again, effective as he finished 11-for-18 passing for 179 yards. He threw three touchdown passes and had no interceptions.

On the ground, Interlake gashed the Tigers all day.

“It’s a really good balanced attack and that’s what’s helping us,” Obach said. “It’s the big guys up front. We have three Grade 12s on our offensive line, starters in the middle of that offensive line. Two of them have tons of experience. When they can take care of a defensive line and our running backs are hitting the hole with some good speed it really develops a good running game for us.”

The Thunder’s Lucas Kmet had 12 carries for 161 yards and a touchdown while Dwight Bell added six carries for 103 yards and a pair of TDs. Bell also had two receptions for 70 yards.

Other Thunder players with strong offensive games included Matthew Huston (six carries for 74 yards and a touchdown/two receptions for 21 yards and a touchdown), Jessie Batenchuk (four receptions for 62 yards and a major) and Cayden Storzuk (21-yard touchdown reception).

The Interlake Thunder's Liam Boonstra has tight coverage on a Neepawa player during RMFL action last Thursday in Stonewall. Interlake won the game 48-14.

On defence, Interlake forced a lot of incomplete passes while Jackson Nichol blocked a punt.

The Thunder, 2-2 in league play, will host the Park West Outlaws (1-3) on Friday at Stonewall Collegiate. Kick-off is 4:30 p.m.

U18 AAA female Lightning lose pair of games

Staff

On Sunday afternoon, Interlake was defeated 3-1 by the Yellowhead Chiefs in Stonewall.

Tessa Stewart scored a third-period goal for the Lightning, assisted by Veronica Asquith and Kylee Emms-Finnsson.

Mia McGregor, with a pair, and Kennedy Wood tallied for the Chiefs.

Interlake netminder Jane Sugimoto stopped 27 Yellowhead shots.

The Lightning will host the Central Plains Capitals on Saturday (7:30 p.m.) and the Yellowhead Chiefs Sunday (2 p.m.). Both games will be played in Stonewall.

United earns spot in MMSL 5th Division final

By Brian Bowman

Stonewall United is headed to the Manitoba Major Soccer League's 5th Division final.

The United earned a berth into the championship game after an impressive 3-0 semifinal win over SCM Academy last Friday.

"They were short a player the entire game so I don't think that we played as great as we could have," said United goalkeeper Jason Ferris. "We played down to their level but it was still great to have the win. I'm surprised that they played short in a semifinal game."

Stonewall goals were scored by Gio Cuilla, Kevin Penner and Dante Lourenco.

Stonewall will now play Crescentwood Saturday SC in the division final this Wednesday at 9 p.m. at the Ralph Cantafio Soccer Complex.

The two teams met twice during the regular season with Stonewall winning 4-0 and 1-0.

Jets split pair of weekend games

Staff

The Stonewall Jets proved that the preseason means nothing at all.

After three preseason losses to Pembina Valley, Stonewall defeated the Twisters 5-3 in its regular-season home opener last Friday.

The Jets' Peyton Bateman and the Twisters' Jacob Carels traded power-play goals in the first period.

Cole Emberly closed out the scoring with an empty-net goal late in the game.

Zach Meadows made 37 saves for the victory.

On Sunday evening, Stonewall was doubled 4-2 by the River East Royal Knights.

Jeremy Klimchuk scored a pair of goals for the Jets.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
